Going Down—Our Dollar.
Going Up—Our Prices.
Hitler's Birthday.
The Dictator Crop.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

ANOTHER "bull market" in Wall Street. Stocks that climbed high on Wednesday when Uncle Sam and his family slid off the gold basis, climbed still higher yesterday.

And again, as stock prices went up, the price of our dollar went down in foreign countries.

That need not worry us. What our dollar can buy here, not what foreigners think of it, is important to Americans.

If our money gets nearer to the value of other nations' money, that will help us to sell goods abroad. Our dollar, in the language of the day, has been too "high hat" for good business.

SOME GENIUS calculated, after the stock exchange closed yesterday, that the dollar is now worth 84 cents. That would be hard to prove. In any case, the dollar has been worth a great deal more than one hundred cents for a long time.

MANY FOREIGNERS say our departure from the gold standard will hold back "world recovery."

It has not held back recovery of stock prices, or farm and other products. Wheat, cotton, hay, silver, everything is going up. Americans can stand the dollar dropping in value if everything goes up in price. A majority of us haven't many dollars anyhow.

ON WEDNESDAY brokers sold 5,000,000 shares of stock. Yesterday they sold 7,130,000 shares, old times come back again. The wise will say what the Frenchman said, as he passed the sixth floor, having fallen from the tenth story:

"C'est tres bien, pourvu que cela dure." "It is fine, if it only lasts."

ADOLPH HITLER, Germany's new chancellor, celebrated his forty-fourth birthday yesterday, and practically all Germany celebrated with him. The national celebration, that went beyond any honor ever paid to Bismarck, Hindenburg or the Kaiser, was close to adoration.

The Prussian minister of justice, Hans Kerri, told the Prussian Diet:

"Hitler is the Holy Ghost."

And all over Germany, Hitler's political organizations erected shrines with his pictures in public halls, held services before them, thanking God for his gift to Germany of the great Hitler. Thus Russians, in old days, before Lenin and Stalin, worshipped their ikons.

WITH GREAT interest, future history will study the early twentieth century crop of dictators, the millions of human beings suddenly abandoning their effort at self-government and followng the servile obedience of a political messiah.

How many survivals will there be among the organizations thus built on one man's personality? Will Mussolini, Hitler, Kemal Pasha or Stalin remain in history as the man whose plan worked out?

THE ENGLISH King's embargo, shutting 80 per cent of all Russian imports out of England, dumfounds Russia, which needs to sell and get money for its various "plans." Russia calls back her commercial diplomats from London, to talk things over.

Conditions have changed since Ivan the Terrible. Angry because Queen Elizabeth wouldn't marry him, he drove out English merchants, to whom he had given all sorts of concessions and monopolies. Now England drives out Russian trade.

RUSSIA CANNOT understand that England should make such a fuss about two ordinary Englishmen sentenced to jail. To take small individuals so seriously is not the Russian custom.

When Peter the Great, traveling in Western Europe, saw strange instruments of torture he asked the King, entertaining him, to put some live men in the machinery and work it. When the King said that could be done only to criminals, Peter replied:

"Well, then, take anybody on my staff. I want to see those machines work."

WHILE SOME have gone back to Wall Street, forgetting all about 1929, you will be interested to hear that many others have gone to farms, safer places in times of depression. The Bureau of Agricultural Economics shows that since 1930 more than 2,000,000 Americans have left the cities for the farm. At least you can raise food there, and rent isn't high

Even so, only 32,076,960 people are on the farms. More than two-thirds still in cities and towns.

FIFTY MILLION Americans, young and old, that have learned by heart, "the boy stood on the burning deck," now learn with a shock from Prof. Overstreet, who teaches philosophy in the College of the City of New York, that the Casabianca hero was a moron type, lacking "the intelligence to adapt himself to a changing situation."

In defense of that unfortunate boy, who obeyed his father's orders, defying the flames, Prof. Overstreet might be reminded that all heroes that have stuck to their posts, in defiance of danger and death, failed to adapt themselves to changing situations.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

An enthusiastic crowd of approximately 15,000 fans gave the 1933 model Pirates a noisy welcome as they made their home debut against the Cincinnati Reds at Forbes Field this afternoon.

Lured by the warm sunshine of an ideal spring day, hundreds of fans were on hand when the gates were thrown open at 1 o'clock. The attendance had grown to about 12,000 while the teams were going through their batting drills, and the stands were comfortably filled when Pitcher Bill Swift went to the mound for the Pirates.

Swift was opposed by Si Johnson, Cincinnati ace, whom he outpitched in the lid-lifter at Cincinnati last week.

A concert by Danny Nirella's Band entertained early comers. Manager Donie Bush and Coach Jewel Ens, both former managers of the Pittsburgh club, were accorded cheers when the Reds first appeared upon the field.

MEMORIAL FOR GRUBER

A touching scene took place in the press box just before the game started in respect to the late John H. Gruber, official scorer for the Pirates for almost 40 years. Members of the Pittsburgh Chapter, Baseball Writers dedicated a memorial tablet. Members of the departed ones family were on hand at the ceremonies.

The tablet was received officially by Miss Esther Gruber, one of the daughters of the late writer.

The Reds and Pirates paraded in military formation to the clubhouse, five minutes before the game began. Old Glory was unfurled to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner.

HONUS GETS OVATION

The Pirates with their new uniforms received a tremendous ovation as they went to the playing field. Virginia Wagner, an 11-year-old daughter of Honus Wagner, threw out the first ball. When her daddy went to the coaching line he was given a wild ovation.

Paul Mellon to Work In New York Bank

Continuing his financial training, Paul Mellon will start to work May 1 in the Bankers Trust Company of New York, according to an Associated Press dispatch to the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. The son of the former Secretary of the Treasury will work in the statistical department, ascertaining the values of securities to aid him in managing the fortune he will some day inherit.

Ligonier Banker Gets Three Years

George Clifford Frank, 57 former president of the Ligonier National Bank at Ligonier, today was sentenced to three years in a Federal penitentiary by Judge Nelson McVicar. He was also ordered to pay the costs of prosecution.

Clifford was convicted of embezzlement of approximately $65,000 of bank funds.

MACON SAILS ON MAIDEN FLIGHT

Soars Over Cleveland After Slight Mishap At Akron Dock

AKRON, O., April 21.—(AP.)—The U. S. S. Macon, successor to the lost Akron, soared through the air today on her maiden "shakedown" flight preliminary to winning the navy's "o. k."

The giant airship—the world's largest—carried 105 persons, including 11 officers, with Capt. Alger H. Dresel in command; eight members of the Naval Board of Inspection, under Rear Admiral George C. Day, and 31 engineers and inspectors of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company, the builders.

After the Macon had been aloft an hour and a half, Capt. Dresel sent radio orders to dismiss the ground crew until 5 p. m., eastern standard time, indicating the ship would remain up well over 11 hours. She took off at 5:59 a. m.

For more than an hour Capt. Dresel kept the Macon in this vicinity, then flew over Cleveland. There was no announcement as to what course the flight would take after that.

A minor accident was the only untoward incident as the Macon nosed off into a six-mile-an-hour northeast breeze shortly after daybreak. J. E. Wilson, a member of the ground crew, slipped from a platform of the giant mobile mooring mast and suffered possible fractures of the legs. He was taken to a hospital for an X-ray.

Several hundred persons braved the crisp early morning air to see Uncle Sam's new goliath of the air begin a series of test flights preliminary to her acceptance by the Navy.

The Macon's stern was freed and water ballast was dropped to level her off to the proper buoyancy just before Capt. Dresel gave the command to send her aloft.

The silvery ship, almost a duplicate of the Akron, which crashed at sea with a loss of 73 lives early this month, headed into the northeast breeze 35 minutes after Capt. Dresel gave the signal to walk the 785-foot long vessel out of her dock.

Among those on board were officials of the Naval Board of Inspection, and Dr. Karl Arnstein, designer of both the Akron and Macon.

POLICE TO GET AX TODAY

Mayor Herron's police shakeup was tensely awaited this afternoon on the heels of his announcement that two department heads were to be replaced.

Public Safety Director James M. Clark will follow former Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh into the discard. Herron officially made known. He will be superseded by Harmar D. Denny, Jr.

City Treasurer Richard W. Thompson will be demoted to chief clerk in the treasurer's office, a post he had long held.

Son Free, Factor Vows Revenge on Kidnapers

Denies Paying Cash To Win Release Of Youth

CHICAGO, April 21.—(INS.)—With his kidnaped son, Jerome, returned home safe, John (Jake the Barber) Factor, millionaire stock promoter, demanded vengeance today with the promise that he will "see this thing through to the finish."

Although vowing that he had not paid a cent of the $100,000 demanded by the kidnaping gang, Factor vehemently stated:

"I will bring my son's abductors to justice."

The 19-year-old Northwestern University student returned to the home of his mother, Mrs. Leonard Marcus, early today, visibly nervous from the nine-day ordeal of captivity, but apparently unharmed.

Surrender of the boy and the collapse of their plot to wrest a huge fortune in ransom, from Factor was looked upon as a victory for the strange alliance of police and the underworld who had been in charge of the search. Factor had enlisted the aid of leading members of the Capone syndicate in the hunt.

Factor greeted his son early today and heard Jerome's story of being abducted in front of his mother's apartment house by four men. Although he was guarded closely, the youth said, he was treated with consideration.

Young Factor rode to his mother's home in a taxicab. Reluctantly he divulged that his abductors had driven him to a location near the apartment house and put him out of their automobile with a warning not to remove the tape from his eyes until they had departed.

PROFIT TAKING HITS WALL ST.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The financial markets hesitated and churned about uncertainly today, after the spactacular advances of the past two sessions.

Heavy profit taking appeared in stocks and in raw staples, but it was in a large measure offset by fresh buying.

The drop in the American dollar slowed up in foreign exchange dealings.

The flight of funds from highest grade bonds into equities and staples seemed to have been checked, and strong support appeared for the United States gov-

BRITISH HEAD RUSHES TO CAPITAL

Plans No Retaliation On U. S. Gold Move, He Asserts

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Pledging his nation to refrain from retaliation against the United States as a consequence of America's abandonment of the gold standard, Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Britain, arrived today for his series of conferences on economic problems with President Roosevelt.

He said:

"Policies of retaliation are folly. A policy of reason and co-operation is wisdom.

"It is our task to sit down as good neighbors and reason the situation out together."

ISHBEL IN PARTY

Arriving aboard the liner Berengaria accompanied by a battery of financial experts and his daughter, Ishbel, the Brit- the British Premier was taken off at Quarantine and rushed aboard the municipal tug Macom to Jersey City, from where he left by train for Washington.

In a radio broadcast from the deck of the liner he characterized the forthcoming conferences as "a war against unmerited poverty."

In a prepared statement distributed to the press he said that behind the talks lies a desire "to clear the obstacles that block the highways of trade."

And in a brief interview with reporters, he insisted that abandonment of the gold standard by the United States would not affect the plans for world recovery that he made when he left England.

MacDonald was asked specifically whether he was disappointed in President Roosevelt's action in taking America off gold. He replied:

"Gracious, no. It only brings out in a higher light the stress of the whole world and what your President and I are trying to face.

"This will not have the effect of changing my plans in the slightest.

"Your President has invited me, and to use his own words,

Ishbel Tells 'Heartache' Of British Women

By DOROTHY DUCAS
International News Service.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Ishbel Maconald brought with her to America today the heartache of millions of British women who, she said, "were aching for international understanding."

A subdued Ishbel, paler, even more serious than before, yet with the same spark of vitality and cheerfulness, she echoed her father's hopes for a happy outcome to this trip of economic planning. She said:

"Women will hold up their end. They are not being crybabies about all this trouble. They are doing their bit.

"I am anxious to meet Mrs. Roosevelt for I understand we both are interested in the same kind of things. We agree that the world can't get through this crisis without all of us working together."

Democrats Will Balk Filibuster; Reed In Clash

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Conflict stirring in the Senate, President Roosevelt directed today that his "controlled inflation" legislation be sped to enactment with the mammoth farm bill—and debate will be shut off, if necessary, to kill a filibuster.

Even as he conferred with the Democratic leader—Senator Robinson, of Arkansas—the Senate had flung itself into dispute without waiting for the banking committee formally to report the approval it had voted for the credit and currency expansion bill earlier.

CLASH WITH REED

Senator Pittman (Dem.,) of Nevada, who helped frame the plan, rose to its defense in a heated debate, which Senator Reed (Rep.,) of Pennsylvania, began by asserting:

"Inflation is the process by which governments throw off responsibility and go on a jamboree."

Replying to Reed's complaint that the proposal would raise prices only temporarily and then too high for persons to stand it, Pittman declared Reed could not get out of his mind the "person who has." The Nevadan asserted:

"It's the same old issue. We are thinking of the man who hasn't.

"This has been an issue now for four years and, thank God, the people woke up at the last election."

Senator Robinson hastened back to the Capitol from the White House to direct progress on the emergency measure.

Republicans were insisting upon consideration of the legislation separately. Robinson said:

"It is not proposed to prevent fair and reasonable debate on

Judge Snee's Brother Drowns

Harry Snee, 68-year-old farmer and brother of Judge Sylvester J. Snee, of Common Pleas Court, was found drowned today in a well a mile from his farmhouse on Route 51, Jefferson Township, according to a coroner's report.

Coroner W. J. McGregor said he had been informed Mr. Snee had been ill and had worried about the water supply on his farm. Snee had told his wife that he was going to the well to examine the water.

The coroner's office said it had been told Snee might have been drowned while attempting to move the cover of the well.

Metal on Tracks Perils 3 Trains

The wrecking of three Pennsylvania passenger trains probably was averted today when an engineer saw a three-foot piece of metal obstructing the east main track.

Engineer W. A. Stoops, on a shifter, saw a man on the Bloomfield Bridge throw a piece of an old automobile onto the hillside.

It rolled on the tracks. Three passenger trains were delayed five minutes.

FRENCH CABINET CALLED TO COMBAT U. S. GOLD STATUS

MOVE TO BLOCK 'DUMPING' OF GOODS SEEN

London Eager to Learn Plans of Paris on Tariff Policy

International News Service.

PARIS, April 21.—A special meeting of the French Cabinet will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow to consider measures to combat America's abandonment of the gold standard, it was understood today.

"Measures of defense" will be studied, it was understood, to prevent "dumping" of American goods in France. The possibility of a surtax on American products is also expected to be considered.

BRITAIN WATCHES FRANCE

LONDON, April 21.—(INS.)—Abandonment of the gold standard by the United States and introduction of inflationary legislation into the American Congress caused a frantic exchange of communications between British and French Governmental officials today.

The wires between London and Paris were kept hot as London sought to learn the next French move in the world's financial poker game.

British authorities were particularly anxious to learn the official French tendency in regard to tariffs and the forthcoming London monetary and economic conference.

TARIFF BOOST FEARED

Fears were expressed that France, now isolated as virtually the only major world power clinging to the gold standard, may clamp down with higher tariff duties to counteract depreciated foreign currencies, particularly the British pound sterling and the American dollar.

Whitehall officials anticipated a growing movement to persuade the British government to raise its own tariff walls, but government quarters were confident President Roosevelt and Prime Minister MacDonald can reach a common economic understanding, possibly persuading former Premier Herriot to join in.

Financial circles, as yesterday, remained bewildered at the sudden turn of the United States financial policy.

DENNY AT PARLEY

Denny held a 45-minute conference with the new police superintendent, Franklin T. McQuaide in the latter's office. McQuaide said they had gone over the police list and that announcement as to changes would be forthcoming late today.

Two former city detectives, William O'Bryan and Robert Patton, retired on pension several months ago, are to be reinstated, according to report. Traffic Patrolman Dennis Dwyer, stationed at Bigelow boulevard and Grant street, will be promoted to detective, it was learned.

Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd attended the meeting in McQuaide's office, along with William Stewart, secretary to Mayor Herron. After the meeting, Stewart went to the Mayor's office and later returned to McQuaide's office.

SURPRISE TO CLARK

News of his dismissal doubtless will come as a great shock to Director Clark, although everybody else in the political arena has been expecting it. Far from convinced, Clark has been circulating a petition among his friends urging his retention—a petition which emphasized that the director was not an important cog in the late Kline machine. There has been talk that Clark may run for Council.

The Mayor is expected to name Michael F. Donnelly, of the Fifth Ward, to the Civil Service Commission, to succeed J. Howard Devlin, who resigned when appointed manager of the State Workmen's Insurance Fund.

F. R. SETS CRUISE

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Recovered ffrom the slight cold which has kept him at the White House for a couple of days, President Roosevelt today had completed plans for a cruise down the Potomac Sunday to talk over mutual problems with Ramsay MacDonald, British Premier, who arrives in Washington late this afternoon.

The trip will be made on the Navy boat Sequoia, which has been placed at the disposal of the White House.

The American position on some of the outstanding subjects to be taken up was outlined in well-informed circles today as follows:

War Debts—The administration is definitely committed against cancellation by Democratic platform but not thus committed against postponement or reduction, although such action would require congressional approval.

The administration has drawn a distinction between nations which have met payments, such as Britain, and those which have not, notably France. It regards debts as only one factor in world economic condition.

Currency—Stabilization internationally so regarded as fundamental to a revival of world trade. His nation is ready to join in efforts to establish a revised international standard to which national currencies would be attached at new parities.

Tariffs—The administration is willing to reduce tariffs on condition other nations do likewise. It favors a policy of tariff bargaining by mutually advantageous reciprocal agreements.

Plunge on First Job in Months Kills Youth

Working on his first job in months, Chester Sherlock, 21, of Pittsburgh, fell 50 feet to his death in Philadelphia today, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

The youth was working on the roof of the Midvale Steel Company plant. Sherlock was standing wtihin a few feet of his uncle, Joseph Gawronski, also of this city, when he fell.

He was employed by the General Roofing Paint Company, McKees Rocks.

Injunction Blocks Ban On Beer in Grove City

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 21.—Beer continued to flow in Grove City today—the day the borough council had decreed traffic in the 3.2 beverage must cease.

Three restaurants and a bootblack shop, which have been dispensing the brew, obtained an injunction from Judge J. A. McLaughrey at Mercer last night, suspending operation of the ban.

Dr. E. J. Fithian, dry leader and Prohibition party nominee for United States Senator in the last election, had headed the move to halt the sale.

The dealers told Judge McLaughrey in asking an injunction:

"Dr. Fithian thinks he and Grove City should secede from the Union, but we don't."

Sale of beer is permitted under the temporary injunction pending a hearing on a petition to make it permanent.

Andy Scores Perfect Hit on Amos in Debate Over Grapefruit Here

If only Amos could convince Andy that the non-squirting baked apple is a less difficult breakfast fruit than a grapefruit those two partners of the "Fresh Air Taxi Company" would have fewer interruptions than occurred at their morning meal today at the William Penn Hotel.

As Amos, otherwise Freeman F. Godsen, said, wiping his right eye:

"The eyes have it, but not the ayes."

The pair stopped over here for a broadcast tonight from Station KDKA. Their early morning disposition was happy despite Andy, otherwise Charles Correll, proclaiming "I'm bad in the morning" when he had to hunt for sugar for his squirting grapefruit. When Amos donned a robe for the breakfast scene picture, shirt-sleeved Andy quickly headed for his grips and as quickly reappeared, asserting:

"I've got one, too."

Planning to catch a midnight train for Indianapolis, where they will make appearances tomorrow and Sunday, Andy had visions of being thrown off the train. He recalled Mrs. Correll was boarding the train in New York and he did not know her car number. As he awaited a long distance telephone chat with her in New York, he opined:

"Imagine me running up and down the length of that train at 1 o'clock in the morning peering into everybody's berth hunting my wife."

Andy's call completed and seated for breakfast, the operator thoughtfully called back to inform him the conversation cost $2.40. To which he remarked:

"Isn't that a nice way to spoil your day?"

Amos said business and pleasure would occupy the day. The first task was to write tonight's sketch. The boys were prepared to have the court scene with the opening of the alienation suit properly handled. Amos said they consulted legal talent in New York yesterday.

Amos and Andy had been in New York to make short films. The films will be sketched with the pair recording sound. As they go through their lines, Amos explained, motion pictures are taken of their lips and the figures are made with the same lip movements.

It was hinted, nothing definite, that they may be making a personal appearance in Pittsburgh in the near future. If business permits, they may sneak into an inconspicuous seat for the Pirate opening game.

Weather Conditions.

There is considerable cloudiness over the Atlantic Coast states, and over the plains states and it is raining or snowing over the West-Central plains and over the Rocky Mountain states, due to the low-pressure centers off the Atlantic coast and in the Southwest. The rainfall was heavy in some localities, Little Rock, 3.28 inches; North Platte, 2.88 and Concordia, 1.74 inches. At Lander, Wyom., 17 inches of snow covers the ground this morning, most of which fell in the last 48 hours. Temperature changes were small, generally, but nearly everywhere towards cooler. There was no freezing weather reported except in North Dakota and over the Rocky Mountain states, and over the Canadian Northwest. The cold weather is resulting from the high pressure centered over Manitoba, and which covers most of the West and Northwest sections.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. Stage at Franklin is 5.2 feet, Lock No. 7 (Mon.), 17.1; Pittsburgh, 17.4, Dam No. 4, 15.8; No. 6, 18.2; No. 10, 18.4, and No. 12, 18.9. The rivers will continue to fall. At Pittsburgh the stage will be about 16.5 feet Saturday morninfg.

RALLY TO HEAR ATTACK ON MELLONS

Gov. Pinchot Repeats Charge of Tax Favoritism

Charges that Mellon interests are blocking legislation designed to provide $3,000,000 for state relief through foreign corporation taxes were repeated by Gov. Pinchot in a communication to a "Town Meeting" to be held tonight at North Side Carnegie Hall.

The meeting, called by the League for Social Justice in cooperation with other civic and labor groups, will demand immediate legislation for "adequate" unemployment relief.

The communication from Pinchot, which will be read by Sidney A. Teller, chairman of the meeting, charges:

"One of the basic plans in my program for providing for the unemployed is the equalization of the tax on foreign corporations. That item alone would provide $3,000,000 for relief and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would match it.

"But Gen. Martin blocks that because it would be costly to certain corporation such as the Koppers Company and the Gulf Refining Company, in which the Mellons are interested."

Groups joined in the meeting include the Allied Boards of Trade, Central Labor Union, Consumers' League, Methodist Social Service Commission, Unemployed Citizens' League and the Women's Legislative Council.

F. R. 'PLAYING WITH FIRE,' REED SAYS

Pittsburgher Charges Inflation Endangers U. S. Position

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—President Roosevelt, in proposing inflation of the currency, is acting like a "child playing with dynamite," Senator David A. Reed (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, charged today in a public statement.

Reed said the program of inflation would increase the cost of living, reduce the value of savings accounts, slash the value of insurance policies and endanger America's "dominant position in world trade and finance." His statement said:

"President Roosevelt is trying to make prices go up. He may succeed. The trouble is that in doing so he may destroy the country and himself as well.

"To tamper with the currency is like lighting the fuse of a high explosive and standing by to see what happens."

After declaring the cost of living would increase, Reed warned against the effect of inflation on bank savings, life insurance policies and payrolls. He even warned:

"If young people can't be married now, how could they marry with prices skyrocketing and their earnings lagging behind as is always the case in inflation."

ARMS PARLEY TO BE REVIVED

PARIS, April 21.—(AP.)—Norman H. Davis, special United States ambassador in Europe, and Premier Edouard Daladier agreed today to reopen the Geneva disarmament discussions on the basis of the British plan for disarmament.

Mr. Davis said the talk was "very satisfactory."

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of England, presented a detailed plan, setting forth definite limits for armies and navies of European countries, when the disarmament conference recently adjourned until late this month.

HOUSE TO VOTE RELIEF TODAY

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—The House today debated the Wagner-Lewis bill to grant $500,000,000 to the states for relief, with a view to passage after two hours' discussion.

Already approved by the Senate, House action will make $250,000,000 available until October 1, on the basis of one federal dollar to three spent in the states and possessions for relief. After that day any balance from this half, and the remaining $250,000,000 may be advanced as outright gifts.

Republicans were prepared to offer an amendment to make the advances in the form of loans instead of as gifts.

ernment issues, which recovered substantially.

Bulls gave the rails a whirl in the early dealings, sending several up $1 to more than $5, but many of these gains were lost, and a number of the industrials and utilities declined $1 to $3 under yesterday's final prices. Trading was again active, although failing to reach yesterday's frenzied pace.

In commodities, wheat declined 1½ cents a bushel. Cotton pushed 75 to 90 cents a bale, only to lose part of its gain.

The pound sterling, after advancing to $3.90, fell back to $3.85¾, where it was up less than 3 cents from yesterday's closing quotation.

The French franc advanced about .06 of a cent to 4.38 cents, then virtually lost its gain.

400 IDLE STAGE RELIEF MARCH

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Four hundred unemployed from various sections of the county marshaled forces at the fair grounds preparatory to a march on the County Commissioners for increased relief.

In heavy trucks they arrived from the Monongahela Valley and the Avella section and were addressed by leaders before their parade started. They called themselves the "United Front Committee" and said they would ask for allowances of $4 a day for married men, $2 for single men and 50 cents for each dependent.

Sheriff J. A. Seaman had recruited a force of deputies to cope with the situation.

Meets His Old Commander in Forest Forces

WILLIAM COHEN

Ex-Soldier Almost Believes He Is Still In Army

By JOHN B. HERRON
Special Correspondent.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., April 21.—William Cohen, of Pittsburgh, a recruit in the Civilian Conservation Corps, was still having a hard time today convincing himself he wasn't back in the army.

It's because of Lieut. Young.

Cohen was discharged from the regular army in Panama about eight months ago. He had served there as company clerk in Lieut. Young's office.

He found he couldn't get work at home, and tried to rejoin the army but found they weren't taking on men. So he signed up with the Civilian Conservation Corps.

And at Fortress Monroe found himself again—under command of Lieut. Young.

Meanwhile at the fortress, officers are being chosen from the C. C. C. ranks. They will be given complete charge under enlisted officers guidance.

Plenty of food is still in evidence. A typical menu: Breakfast—Rolled oats, one orange, ground meat, bread, butter, coffee; dinner—peas, beans, baked potatoes, sauer kraut, spare ribs, bread, butter, coffee; supper—steak and gravy, beets, rice pudding, bread, butter, coffee.

PARLEY FUTILE, FRENCH VIEW

S. S. ILE DE FRANCE, EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The conviction that America's abandonment of the gold basis spoils prospects for the world economic and monetary conference prevailed today among members of former Premier Eduard Herriot's Washington-bound commission.

The former Premier and the experts with him, who are to talk over economic questions with President Roosevelt, awaited more complete information regarding developments in Washington and Paris, but the French view appeared to be that it is useless to meet together to arrange commercial and financial questions when a common standard of measurements no longer exists.

M. Herriot and his advisers are still frankly bewildered by the situation.

this amendment, or on amendments that may be offered. If it should develop that a filibuster is in progress we believe we have the votes to make short work of it."

To invoke the cloture rule takes a two-thirds vote.

Robinson continued:

"Undoubtedly there will be some delay in final disposition of the farm bill, due to the amendment referred to, but it is essential that prompt action be taken on the amendment in view of the discussions in prospect with foreign governments on economic subjects."

F. R. WANTS SPEED

It is obvious that President Roosevelt wants quick approval of the currency bill to strengthen his hand in conversations beginning tonight with foreign emmissaries on economics.

The legislation gives him authority to lower the gold content of the dollar as much as 50 per cent.

One of the objectives in his economic negotiations is the reestablishment of a world gold standard on a revised basis. By this step Mr. Roosevelt expects to attain a stabilization of currency and exchanges.

The administration credit-currency expansion program had been given quick approval by the Senate Banking Committee a short time before, although Democrats had split on the provision to authorize revaluation of the gold dollar.

The Banking Committee approved the inflation program without a record vote, after a motion to strike out the provision authorizing the President to lower the gold content of the dollar by as much as 50 per cent had lost by a tie vote of 10 to 10.

The committee action followed a more than two-hour executive session.

The Secretary of the Treasury, William H. Woodin, and the budget director, Lewis W. Douglas, had indorsed the Thomas bill and explained administration plans for proceeding under it to boost commodity prices, thereby spreading work.

AROUSED BY MILLS

Meanwhile, the House Republican steering committee—meeting with Ogden Mills, Hoover Secretary of the Treasury, who has been busy knitting Republican opposition to the bill—decided it would be futile to oppose the legislation in the House if it passes the Senate.

Aroused by Mills' activities, Representative Dies (Dem.), of Texas, introduced a resolution of congressional investigation of the same, which he termed "lobbying" against the Roosevelt program.

Meanwhile the Thomas amendment embodying President Roosevelt's currency expansion program was introduced in the House today as a separate bill by Representative Rankin (Dem.), of Mississippi.

Representative Myrns, the Democratic leader there, predicted to newspapermen that the currency expansion proposition would be accepted by a substantial House m[illegible] enactment of the farm [illegible]cessary because "inflation [illegible]uld be too slow to remove the need for immediate help for the farmer," Byrns said:

"We've reached the point where we have ogt to have some currency expansion, or else—"

Byrns does not expect the expansion plan to bring drastic inflation, however.

RESERVE AGREEMENT

Meanwhile, a high Federal Reserve official in an interview revealed agreement had ben reached for the Federal Reserve system wholeheartedly to support the administration inflation program—to enlarge the open market operations of the system and purchase up to three billions of government securities.

The purpose would be to release the funds now tied up in those securities for other investment, meaning what the White House calls "credit inflation."

Although not wanting his name to be used, this official expected the legislation to be approved by Congress and to be put in operation successfully. He termed it "the safest kind of inflation," one that could be watched constantly and handled by experts who would have control of it at all times.

The situation, he said, left it virtually mandatory for the system to do its utmost to carry out the President's ideas and throw its hearty support back of the plan.

Hoover's Rest Restores Glow of Health

PALO ALTO, Cal., April 21.—(INS.)—The glow of health has come back to former President Herbert Hoover, now a man of leisure, making his plans from day to day.

Sunshine, exercise and freedom from care have brought back a ruddy glow to his cheeks and a sparkle to his eyes.

The former President is taking the leisure and the rest which have been like a mirage to him during the score of years since he left Stanford University as a young engineer.

He refuses to think of the day when he will take up active work again—if he ever does. A member of his household said:

"Mr. Hoover is enjoying himself very much. He makes no plans, except from day to day."

The opinion among his friends, however, is that he will devote himself to writing—probably an account of his life, particularly his political experiences—when he gets around to "settling down."

FEAR PURSUES LINDBERGHS, FLYING WESTWARD FROM HERE

WIDOW FACES NEW MURDER CHARGE

Mother-in-Law of Slain Husband Now Denies Shooting

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 21.—The mystery of who killed John A. Brooks on New Years eve deepened today.

As attorneys for Mrs. Minnie Wroe, 60, his mother-in-law, sought to withdraw a plea of guilty to the fatal shooting, District Attorney Wade K. Newell ordered a murder charge placed against Brooks' wife, Emma Wroe Brooks.

MOTHER INDICTED

Brooks was slain in the Wroe home. At that time Mrs. Brooks admitted she shot her husband in a scuffle for possession of a revolver. She was arrested.

Mrs. Wroe then assumed responsibility for the shooting and at a Coroner's inquest, Mrs. Wroe was held responsible for the killing, indicted and pleaded guilty.

Brooks and his wife had been estranged, and he is said to have gone to the house to effect a reconciliation.

BATTLE OVER GUN

He attempted to force his wife to go upstairs. Two shots were fired. Then, according to several witnesses, Brooks exclaimed, "Emma, you shot me." He continued to fight for the gun and the wife tossed it to the middle of the floor. The couple and Mrs. Wroe all tried to reach it. It was then that Mrs. Wroe said she got the gun and fired. Physicians testified that if Brooks had been shot by either of the two bullets fired by his wife, he would not have lived long enough to have battled for the revolver.

Following the arrest of Mrs. Brooks she told of her relations with Paul Means in an effort to save her mother. She said they planned to get married.

MOVERS SAVE GASSED MAN

A timely knock on the door by a moving van operator today probably saved the life of William Kelsall, 60, overcome by gas in his home, 1034 Macon street.

His sister, Miss Mary Kelsall, 50, a graduate nurse, in a daze from the effects of the fumes, opened the door and pointed upstairs. The moving men, employed by the O'Connor's Transfer and Storage Company, ran upstairs and found her brother unconscious in bed. They notified police.

The safety crew of the Equitable Gas Company rushed to the scene with inhalators and succeeded in reviving Kelsall. His condition was serious, however, physicians said, and the scheduled moving of the Kelsalls had to be postponed.

Police said they believed the fumes came from a water heater in the basement that had been turned high all night.

VERA CRUZ DAY; GUARD DANIELS

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—(AP.)—Extraordinary precautions were taken to guard Ambassador Daniels on the nineteenth anniversary of the occupation of Vera Cruz. Guards were increased to prevent any student demonstrations.

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, April 21.—(AP.)—All business was ordered halted for a period of mourning today as Mexicans honored 12 countrymen killed 19 years ago when the United States Navy occupied Vera Cruz.

The 12 bodies, after lying in state overnight in the Municipal Palace, were to be re-interred with ceremony in the crypts of a new memorial.

POSTMASTER'S SON HELD

Theodore M. Ammon, 23, son of Postmaster John H. Ammon, of Beaver, today was held for Federal Court charged with the theft of a letter last night.

Young Ammon, a clerk in the Beaver postoffice, was arrested by Postoffice Inspectors E. A. Barnhart and J. A. Torrens as he completed his work. The letter, it is said, contained a small amount of money.

'Fourth Lady' of England, 7 Today, Gets Bull Pup

PRINCESS ELIZABETH

Princess Elizabeth Also Has Gift From Queen

By MARY HACKER
Universal Service.

LONDON, April 21. — The "fourth lady" of England is 7 years old today.

She is Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke of York, elder granddaughter of King George.

Three weeks ago her mother asked her what she would like as a present. The princess didn't know. She declined all her parents' suggestions without being able to make any better ones.

Then, with a small friend, she was taken to Scurrey Kennels to see the family of Simba, a champion bull mastiff belonging to Lord Londonderry. The princess was delighted with the puppies.

Immediately she returned home, Elizabeth rushed to her mother and demanded a puppy for her birthday, a bull mastiff puppy, and please, she would like it in advance, that very day.

The princess had to wait, but today she will be allowed to cuddle her puppy.

Among books as gifts will be story books from Queen Mary, her granadmother; for Elizabeth can read now, all but the very longest words.

The Prince of Wales has kept his gift a secret, but it will be something acceptable. "Uncle David" understands small nieces.

LEVEE BREAKS, LANDS FLOODED

KENNETT, Mo., April 21.—(AP.—The St. Francis River levee gave way about three miles west of here today, flooding an area of 2,500 acres.

Another levee prevented the water from inundating a large area reaching as far south as Senath, Mo.

PRINCE KEEPS TROTH SECRET FIVE YEARS

Hohenzollern Heir to Defy Kin to Wed Commoner

International News Service.

BONN, Germany, April 21.—Prince Wilhelm of Prussia and his fiancee, Dorothea von Salviati, for whom he is blasting the traditions of his royal Hohenzollern ancestors, have been secretly engaged for five years, she admitted today.

Anxiously awaiting word concerning the attitude the Prince's parents will take toward their engagement, the slim, blonde beauty told International News Service the story of her romance with her own "Prince Charming."

She made it plain, however, that the verdict of the Hohenzollerns would not prevent the marriage, and the only question in her mind was whether the ceremony would take place with his family's consent. She said:

"I first met Prince Wilhelm on a tennis court in 1926, when he was a student at Bonn. We became secretly engaged in 1928."

FREQUENT VISITOR

The prince, she announced had been a frequent visitor at the home of her parents, where Fraulein Dorothea lives, and they took an instant liking to each other. She declared:

"We are happy together and we expect to marry soon as possible. Afterward, we will live in the country in Silesia."

She revealed that she loves children, makes her own clothes and is a capable cook. Her husband-to-be, she said, hopes to obtain permanent employment in the Steel Helmet organization, since he has little money of his own and is dependent on his father, the former crown prince, who may cut off his allowance if he goes through with the marriage to a commoner.

DECISION AWAITED

BERLIN, April 21. — (INS.) — The House of Hohenzollern, former German ruling dynasty, has not yet reached a decision whether to oppose the marriage of Prince Wilhelm, of Prussia, grandson of the former Kaiser, and Dorothea von Salviati, International News Service learned today.

Prince Wilhelm's father, the former crown prince, is now at Naples, Italy, and the crown princess is at St. Moritz, Switzerland. The former Kaiser, at Doorn, Holland, has remained officially silent on the engagement, although there were reports it had aroused his ire.

SEARCH WOODS FOR LOST BOY

More than 50 citizens in addition to state troopers, police and firemen from Irwin and Greensburg feverishly continued their search today for Harry Waite, Jr., 5, missing from his Irwin home since yesterday.

They are scouring the underbrush around streams near Larimer. Parents of the child believe he has been drowned and his body swept away by the swift current, or he has been kidnaped.

Harry was dressed in blue overalls, blue shirt, gray sweater and wore a white sailor cap when he left his home to play. He has brown hair and eyes.

Raided Club Owner Links Police Head

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—Jack Lynch, owner of a raided night club, charged with possession of liquor, testified yesterday that Philadelphia's ousted Public Safety Director, Kern Dodge, put his stamp of approval on the club.

Co-defendants with Lynch on the liquor charge are Evan Burrows Fontaine, former New York stage dancer, and four other persons arrested in the raid.

RUTH JUDD CASE NEARING END

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 21.—(INS.)—Winnie Ruth Judd, saved from hanging at dawn today by a timely reprieve, may know by tomorrow night whether the reprieve was in vain.

The sanity trial on which her fate depends was speeding to a close today before a jury of 12 men. The "trunk" slayer is now under sentence to die next Friday.

Four state alienists have pronounced her sane, and asserted that she is shamming the symptoms on which defense witnesses based their opinion that she is insane.

FATE OF NEFF WITH JURY

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 21.—(INS.)—A jury of six men and six women today began deliberations in the first degree murder case against Cyrus H. Neff, Canfield (O.) lumber dealer, who is charged with slaying his wife, last October.

Neff was accused of killing his wife with a shotgun charge as she lay sleeping on a couch at her home.

The defense contended that the shooting was accidental and occurred when Neff attempted to awaken his wife while holding the weapon.

16-to-1 Silver Visioned by Rainey

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Speaker Rainey today said at his press conference that the administration's proposal to accept $100,000,000 in silver on the war debts from foreign nations would result in the "placing of silver on the 16-to-1 basis."

AMELIA PILOTS MRS. ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—The first lady of the land and the first woman to fly the ocean went sky-larking together last night in a big Condor plane.

It was 11 months to the night after Amelia Earhart started off across the Atlantic alone that she flew Mrs. Roosevelt almost all the way from Washington to Baltimore without even removing her white evening gloves. Mrs. Roosevelt said:

"It's amusing to think of a girl in white evening dress and high-heeled shoes flying a plane."

As for the President's wife, she got her first taste of high life from a control cabin by sitting up there with Pilot E. H. Parker almost all the way from Baltimore to Washington. She exclaimed:

"It was like being on top of the world."

Kidnaped American, Chinese Band Found

DAIREN, Manchuria, April 21. — (AP.) — The government of Fengtien province announced today that Dr. Niels Nielsen, kidnaped American missionary, was located about 13 miles from Hsiuyen in the hands of bandits.

Dr. Nielsen was kidnaped last week at Hsiuyen, about 100 miles south of Mukden. The kidnapers were reported demanding $100,000 ransom. Japanese patrols said they were in communication with the abductors.

ANNE, COLONEL SHUN CROWD, PUBLICITY

Terrified at Thoughts Of Separation; Plead With Reporters

Fear pursued the Lindberghs—Anne and the Colonel—today on their westward flight across the United States.

Fear of publicity! Fear of crowds! Fear of separation! And fear of things that have happened!

Those fears pursued them into Pittsburgh yesterday, caught up with them at the County Airport, and hovered over them for four hours while they literally clung together in mental terror.

The Colonel shielded his timid little wife with a broad smile, but several times his guard was down.

He pleaded with reporters not to quote him. He was ill at ease even in the small crowd of county officials who gathered to welcome him. He became panic-stricken when Commissioner Charles C. McGovern suggested he leave Mrs. Lindbergh with Rose Danahey, the Commissioner's secretary.

AT WIFE'S SIDE

The suggestion had barely been uttered before the colonel sprang to his wife's side. His arm half-encircled her slight form as he declined excitedly:

"No, No, please."

Mrs. Lindbergh raised her voice timidly:

"Thank you—no, I will stay—"

The Colonel looked hurriedly around, spying a uniformed TWA attendant:

"Couldn't Mrs. Lindbergh stay in one of your private offices until I return?"

DEPARTURE TWICE DELAYED

The flying pair encountered minor difficulties getting under way from Pittsburgh. They took off first at 5:40 p. m., only to return a few minutes later when the motor of their ship went dead in the air. Mechanics found water in the gasoline supply.

If the ship had left the field before the trouble developed, the Lindberghs might have had a forced landing on one of Pittsburgh's hillsides. There might have been a crash.

They were delayed over two hours while their fuel was drained and a fresh supply pumped into their tanks. The second takeoff was delayed another half-hour when it was discovered the ship was not equipped with parachute flares for emergency landing. They finally got under way a few minutes before 10 o'clock.

County Airport Manager Halsey R. Bazley, bidding the flying couple their third "bon voyage," called to the colonel as he stepped into the ship:

"Goodbye—come back again." again."

As the colonel waved acknowledgment, Bazley added:

"But not tonight."

The colonel's grin dispelled the fears of the day as he climbed into the cockpit and soared off into the night—alone with Anne.

The Lindberghs continued their transcontinental flight today, leaving Indianapolis at 11:55 a. m. for St. Louis.

Anne More Cheerful, Says Mrs. Thaden

BALTIMORE, April 21.—(Universal.) — Anne Lindbergh has turned again to aviation, for solace from the tragedy of the kidnaping and murder of her first-born.

As Mrs. Lindbergh and her husband hopped off yesterday afternoon from Logan Field in their red monoplane, Mrs. Louise Thaden, famous aviatrix and coholder of the world's endurance record for women, at whose home the Lindbergh's stayed, said:

"Since the tragedy of last year, Mrs. Lindbergh allowed her pilot's license to lapse. Now, however, she seems more cheerful, and says she will take up flying seriously again and renew her license."

LEGISLATURE CLEARS WAY TO QUIT

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Optimism for adjournment of the Legislature soon, perhaps next week, was in evidence today as the resumption of the sessions Monday night was awaited.

The House's voluminous calendar was cleared of all except major legislation.

This was the status of major bills today:

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF—The Senate yesterday sent to the house two Scott (Center) bills, appropriating $20,000,000 out of a $25,000,000 proposed bond issue to aid those out of work and permitting the State Emergency Relief Board to receive and distribute relief funds from any federal agency. The House advanced to final passage Monday night the Scott (Senate) bill, appropriating $13,000,000 for jobless aid after June 1.

SUNDAY BLUE LAWS—Representative Louis Schwartz, Philadelphia, announced Gov. Pinchot had asked him to send back the bill permitting voters to decide whether municipalities may license Sunday baseball and football. The measure was sent to the Governor last week and recalled Wednesday when Schwartz reported Pinchot suggested including a tax for unemployment relief, but the bill was not changed.

BANKING—Final Senate action on the banking code was delayed by reprinting of the huge document. The Banking Department code advanced to final passage Monday in the House. The two bills extensively revise present banking laws to give additional safeguards to depositors and stockholders.

SCHOOLS—The Wilson bill, permitting teacher salary cuts, was returned to the Senate-House Conference Committee, with plans to have the measure reconsidered Monday. The bill, defeated by the House yesterday, allows districts to slash salaries 10 per cent and, with approval of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, make deeper cuts to balance their budgets.

PUBLIC UTILITIES—The House Utilities Committee retained the McClure (Senate) bill, giving the Public Service Commission increased authority over utility rate changes, securities, holding companies and sales of appliances. The Senate Judiciary General Committee continued to study the Pinchot bill, giving broader powers to the Commission.

APPROPRIATIONS — Revision of the $116,000,000 general appropriation bill continued in Senate committee with decisions still pending. The last of the hospital and homes bills went to the Governor yesterday.

Eleven other nominees, eliminated in earlier balloting, will comprise the campus queen's royal court.

PINCHOT VETOES ROAD COST BILL

HARRISBURG, April 21.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot has turned down a proposal that the state be required to pay damages on changes and relocations of state highways in boroughs, towns and townships.

In a message accompanying his veto of the Walker (Allegheny) bill, he said it is inconsistent with one he signed recently which places upon the commonwealth the damages in cases where the County Commissioners have not agreed to the change.

He signed the Staudenmeier (Schuylkill) bill appropriating $300,000 to buy more land for a state military reservation. The measure is so worded as to apply to the new Indiantown Gap site.

The Governor also signed the Parkinson (Greene) bill providing for additional payments to firemen's relief fund associations of communities which give fire protection to neighboring communities.

One-Day Dictator Seeking Sanctuary

ATHENS, April 21.—(AP.)—Gen. Nicholas Plastiras, who was a virtual dictator for 14 hours after a coup March 6, arrived at Rhodes yesterday, seeking sanctuary from arrest.

HOUSING BILL SIDETRACKED

The Pennsylvania Legislature is indifferent to the housing bills which would open the way to get Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds for projects in this state, John Ihlder, executive director of the Pittsburgh Housing Association declared today.

Pointing out that other states are already receiving R. F. C. aid, Ihlder said:

> "If good politics now consists in getting things done, then apparently Pennsylvania does not have good politics. The Legislature has had its housing bill for weeks."

Ihlder said the bills have been referred to a special sub-committee, a member of which has said his mind is closed on the subject. A mass meeting of businessmen here approved the bills several weeks ago.

Dravosburg Cuts Tax Rate One Mill

A reduction of one mill in the Dravosburg tax rate, making the present rate 11 mills, was announced today. The reduction was effected through a wage reduction and virtual elimination of new borough work.

Brother of Lauder, Scotch Actor, Dies

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(Universal.)—Matt C. Lauder, 61, brother of Sir Harry Lauder, famous Scotch comedian and singer, died yesterday at the County Hospital after a brief illness. Death followed an operation for intestinal trouble. Lauder, a noted landscape architect, had resided here 10 years.

COYNE ELECTION BILL FOUGHT

Opposition to the bill introduced in the State Senate by Senator James J. Coyne, providing that candidates for judge must pick individual opponents, has been announced by Pittsburgh Post No. 59, American Legion.

The bill, which has gone to the House after passing the Senate, April 18, with little opposition, would have an important bearing on the judicial elections in Allegheny County next fall.

Judge Ralph H. Smith comes up for election next fall, and Judges James R. Macfarlane and Harry H. Rowand for re-election. If the bill is passed each candidate would be compelled to state which one of these three men he would oppose.

SUCCOP PAROLE FACES DELAY

Col. B. L. Succop's chances of departing from the County Jail in the immediate future are poor.

The former city purchasing agent who was convicted with ex-Mayor Kline will be wasting his time if he asks for a parole before six months of his one-year sentence has been served, Judge Thomas D. Finletter has indicated.

This means that Succop will not be paroled until July.

Kline was exempted from a six-month sentence on his plea of ill health and his promise to resign.

NEW BEER BILL PUSHED IN SENATE

HARRISBURG, April 21.—(AP.)—The Senate today swung wide open the door to a complete compromise with Gov. Pinchot on beer control legislation.

The new McClure bill, allowing county treasurers to license wholesalers and retailers, was advanced a step and sent back to the Law and Order Committee while further conferences with the dry Governor were planned.

The action postpones from Monday to Tuesday the Senate's final vote on the compromise bill.

With seven members in their seats, the Senate passed the bill on second reading and returned it to the Law and Order Committee. Senator John J. McClure, Delaware, organization Republican, said the move would permit the full committee to discuss a bill most of them have not seen and would eliminate any reaction against "railroading" legislation.

Both McClure and Senator Joseph C. Trainer, Philadelphia, chairman of the committee, said no serious obstacles to Senate approval have developed. Trainer indicated proposed amendments contemplate further concessions to the Governor in return for further concessions by him.

The committee meets at 7 o'clock Monday night and at that time expects to report a revised bill on which the Governor and legislative majorities can meet on common ground.

McClure added that no great objections have been raised in the Senate against the county treasurer provision. Should the revised bill be passed by the Senate Tuesday, it goes to the House, where what remains of uncompromising wet opposition is strongest.

Thief Takes Diner's Coat in Restaurant

While H. F. Meartens, a guest at the William Penn Hotel, ate at a William Penn way restaurant early today, some one walked away with his tan overcoat valued at $60, he reported to police.

GAS COMPANY DENIES RATE TOO HIGH

HARRISBURG, April 20.—(AP.)—The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, Pittsburgh, in an answer filed with the Public Service Commission to the complaint of Western Pennsylvania boroughs, yesterday denied its rates are too high.

The company also answered the petition of the boroughs, asking the commission to subpena books and papers of the utility corporation for examination, and requested the rate body to deny it.

In answer to the complaint, the company said it was not in proper form and asked proof of the consumers' allegations.

The commission is expected to consider the answers next week and decide if a date for oral argument on the petition should be fixed.

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 21.—A fight to the finish is planned by the city of Washington against the Manufacturers' Light and Heat Company gas rates, Attorney David I. McAllister, representing the city, said today following a study of the company's answer filed with the Public Service Commission. New Castle and Ellwood City have joined Washington in the fight.

Milk Price Fixing Studied in Senate

HARRISBURG, April 21.—(AP.)—Further study is being made of a proposal to fix milk prices for producers before the Senate acts on the matter.

The Senate yesterday sent back to the Agricultural Committee the Parkinson (Greene) bill which would set up a commission to guarantee the producer at least 45 per cent of the retail price of milk.

Unemployed Youth Swallows Poison

PAIR ACCUSED IN PAY REBATE

Joseph Bendik, general contractor, and Z. Alms, plastering sub-contractor of the new McKeesport Postoffice, today faced hearing on charges of conspiring to defraud before Alderman A. C. Markus, of McKeesport.

Miss Emmilinne Pitt, commissioner of labor, whose investigation led to the arrests, said the two men were accused of being implicated in a system of "rebating."

Miss Pitt and Joseph McIlveen, vice president of the Plasterers' Union, said plasterers on the McKeesport Postoffice returned to a take-off man $5 of their $12 daily wage. Money marked in the presence of Alderman Markus was said to have been found in the possession of a pay-off man.

Admits Lottery Guilt As Writing Is Compared

John Matthews, of 2931 Smallman street, on the witness stand in Criminal Court, charged with operating a lottery, declared he did not know how books of lottery tickets, found by raiding officers, got into his house.

Judge Harry H. Rowand handed Matthews some of the blank slips and called off numbers from some of the slips which had been numbered, telling the defendant to write them.

When the writing was compared Matthews withdrew his plea of not guilty, substituting one of guilt.

HUNGER STRIKE KILLS PET DOG

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 21.—(AP.)—Buddy, 9-year-old pedigreed airedale, who has been the "ears" of his deaf mistress, Mrs. N. T. Johnson, is dead.

Mrs. Johnson died a month ago. Only twice since then had the dog eaten willingly. Forced feedings were in vain.

Buddy was trained as a puppy to act as a bodyguard for Mrs. Johnson.

SCHIFF ESTATE $28,718,213

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The estate of Mortimer L. Schiff, financier, was valued at $28,718,213 net at the time of his death, June 4, 1931, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed yesterday. The gross estate was $30,179,113.

Relatives receive the bulk of the estate. The appraisal lists $1,001,000 in charitable and public bequests, the largest of which were $500,000 to the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies in New York and $100,000 to the Boy Scouts of America, of which Schiff was national president.

Two Policemen Given Reward By Jewelers

For the capture and conviction of two jewelry thieves, Plainclothesmen H. J. Collegians Elect Underweight Campus Queen

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., April 21.—Stanford gentlemen prefer lightweights, men students indicated in electing 115-pound Rose Cubbison queen of the annual masque ball despite a ruling that feminine royalty for the event must weigh 150 pounds or more.

Miss Cubbison was permitted to accept the honor on her promise to make up the deficit at some future date.

RULE LIFTS BAR TO JOB RELIEF

The way toward revival of emergency work relief apparently has been found in an opinion of the Attorney General's office that men employed on relief jobs may exempt their employers from paying compensation insurance premiums by signing waivers.

These waivers must be forwarded to the Workmen's Compensation Insurance Fund at Harrisburg.

Necessity of paying insurance premiums had reduced work relief in Pennsylvania to a negligible amount.

'SHANGHAI' QUIZ BEING PUSHED

The state's investigation into "shanghaiing" of 42 Negroes from Ambridge to Waynesburg has not been dropped, as reported, it was learned today.

Deputy Attorney General John D. Meyer, assigned to the investigation by Attorney General William Schnader, said:

"I have not yet completed my report on the matter."

The 39 men and three women were arrested in an Ambridge boarding house January 20. The following day they were taken in three Beaver County trucks and left in Waynesburg.

The unexplained action of persons whose identity has not been revealed brought complaints to Gov. Pinchot from Attorney Homer S. Brown, president of the Pittsburgh branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Waynesburg authorities.

$16.75

Because the jacketed frock is "better" than ever, because the swagger idea is going to carry right on, because the cry is "Plaids, plaids, plaids"! from the Young Crowd, the Misses' Dress Shop makes this gesture by way of varying three popular fashions.

It uses a brush-plaid print in a heavy sheer, for a cape-sleeve swagger coat over a sleeveless frock; and another brush-plaid pattern in a delicate sheer, for a short-jacket costume with a rather formal manner. And offers them as a treat, tomorrow, in gray-and-white, brown-and-white, navy-and-white and navy-and-gray.

HUMAN BRAIN ELECTRIFIED, CRILE SAYS

NEW YORK, April 21.—(Universal.)—Dr. George W. Crile, nationally-known director of the Crile Clinic in Cleveland, last night pictured the human brain as being governed solely by electricity and composed of a complex generation and distribution of power systems far greater than the world's lines of communication.

He told listeners at the fourth annual conference of interpretations of physical education, assembled at New York University, that the human brain consists of no less than four quadrillion of individual dynamos, with the adrenal gland, located near the kidneys, acting as the power house.

This "power house," he said, works in collaboration with a hormomne situated in the throid gland of the neck, with the hormone ruling the human intellect.

He declared if there is a lessening of the hormone, the brain power diminishes accordingly, and that from experiments, he has found that a few hormones from the thyroid gland of a sheep will restore the brain to normal.

In its application to modern teaching, Dr. Crile said this intricate electrical system in the mind becomes a matter of importance. He said:

> "A teacher must be regarded as an electro-chemical engineer whose assignment is in the construction of an infinitely delicate and complicated mechanism that will govern the action and the behavior of the pupil according to the requirements of civilized man.
>
> "The teacher does not need to establish the emotions of fear, love, anger and hate in the pupil, but must establish the action patterns of civilization while the child is still a 'wild animal.'"

Ex-Law Partner Of Gov. Ritchie Dies

BALTIMORE, April 21.—(AP.)—Albert R. Stuart, 55, former law partner of Gov. Albert T. Ritchie, died yesterday at his home here.

MANY REFUSING KLINE CASE PAY

Efforts to keep under $1,000 the costs which former Mayor Charles H. Kline must pay for his trial in Butler are being made by city employes who served as witnesses, it was learned yesterday.

Many witnesses have agreed to sign waivers of their claims which range from $3.80 to $42.50, it was said. The total costs have not been estimated by the Controller's office as all the waivers have not been returned.

Some of the costs will have to be reassessed as a few of the witnesses have filed exorbitant claims while others were witnesses for B. L. Succop and not Kline, according to Attorney Edward G. Coll, counsel for Kline.

Man With Jimmy, Pal Held by Police

Arrested in the rear of the Mascot Restaurant, 300 Sandusky street, police reported, Joseph Fisher, 26, of 846 Saw Mill way, and William Clifford, 25, of 229 Madison avenue, were lodged in North Side Police Station today on a suspicious person charge. One of the men carried a jimmy.

Man Beaten Blames Foe of Week Before

Three youths beat Frank Dolaro, 64, of 86 South Twenty-fourth street, as he neared his home early today. At South Side Hospital, where he was treated for lacerations to his head, he blamed a youth with whom he had an argument last week. The youth, Dolaro said, threatened "to get even."

WIDOW WILLED LIFE ESTATE

Mrs. Mary Stewart Jenks, of Morewood Heights, receives the $45,000 estate of her husband, J. S. Jenks, as long as she remains unmarried, by his will filed today. At her remarriage or death, the realty goes to their children, Mary, Isobel and Audrey. The widow is named executor.

The will of John Halpin, of Duffield street, disposes of $50,000. His widow receives one-third; a daughter, Mrs. May Melican, $3,000, and the residue goes to two sons, John F. and Thomas J. Halpin. The latter are executors.

WIFE GRANTED DIVORCE FROM 'CAVE MAN'

She refused to live as a cave mans wife, declared Mrs. Velma Lavery, South Millvale avenue, and Judge Thomas M. Marshall granted her a divorce from Joseph A. Lavery, South Graham street.

Mrs. Lavery said her husband told her on her wedding day that he was going to be a cave man and the next day struck her and used profanity.

Mrs. Lavery left, she testified, when he told her he did not love her and she might as well know it. They were married in Uniontown, May 20, and lived at 5526 Ellsworth avenue.

Divorce suits were filed by Emma B. Lennon against Edward J. Lennon, Lavelle G. Smith against Regina H. Smith, Lenora Duncan against James L. Duncan.

Divorces were granted to James Rowland Caldwell from Mildred M. Caldwell, Elizabeth Rodgers from Joseph Rodgers.

ERE'S GENUINE PUZZLER FOR CIPHER FANS

By KENNETH A. NAGEL,
Cipher Editor.

Now for a tough one. It's orig-nal Cipher No. 87 submitted by ouis W. Copits, of Ellwood City. You should get quite a bit of enjoyment from this cipher. It's the best cipher this column has had for some time. Try it. You should succeed.

Attention, fans of Grove City. See what you can do toward solving this one.

Well, fans you only have a few days to decode ciphers. So try your best on this one. It shouldn't be too hard for you.

You might think it written in Greek, but it isn't. If you get stumped, be sure to get the tip in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph. Be sure to save the cipher code. It sure will help.

Did you have trouble in solving Cipher No. 86? It was hard, wasn't it? The tip yesterday should have enabled you to complete it. The chart printed today should be enough of an explanation for you smart cipher fans. See if you had any mistakes.

Out of the mail sacks come original cipher from: Richard B. Frankel, of 5727 Hobart street; Gertrude H. Lieblich, of 124 South Graham street; Betty Eyler, of 1142 Bilmore avenue, Dormont; Daniel A. Rodgers, of 1521 Brighton road; Ernest Columbus, of Cecil, Pa.; Michael E. Markovich, of Uniontown, Pa., and Joseph Aaron, of 320 Gross street.

Nicholas Marconi, of 928 Chianti street, writes for help on the ciphers.

A recent decoder is Edward C. Faas, of 192 Knox avenue. He has had a great time solving the last few ciphers.

COAL MEN MEET TO ORGANIZE IN SELLING

Executives of 11 coal companies of the Pittsburgh district met today at the Duquesne Club to organize a co-operative sales agency and seek to protect their remaining markets.

The meeting was addressed by C. B. Huntress, executive secretary of the National Coal Association.

The organization proposed is one similar to Appalachian Coals, Inc., formed by the mining interests of West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee. The latter organization has been given the approval of the Supreme Court of the United States by a vote of eight to one.

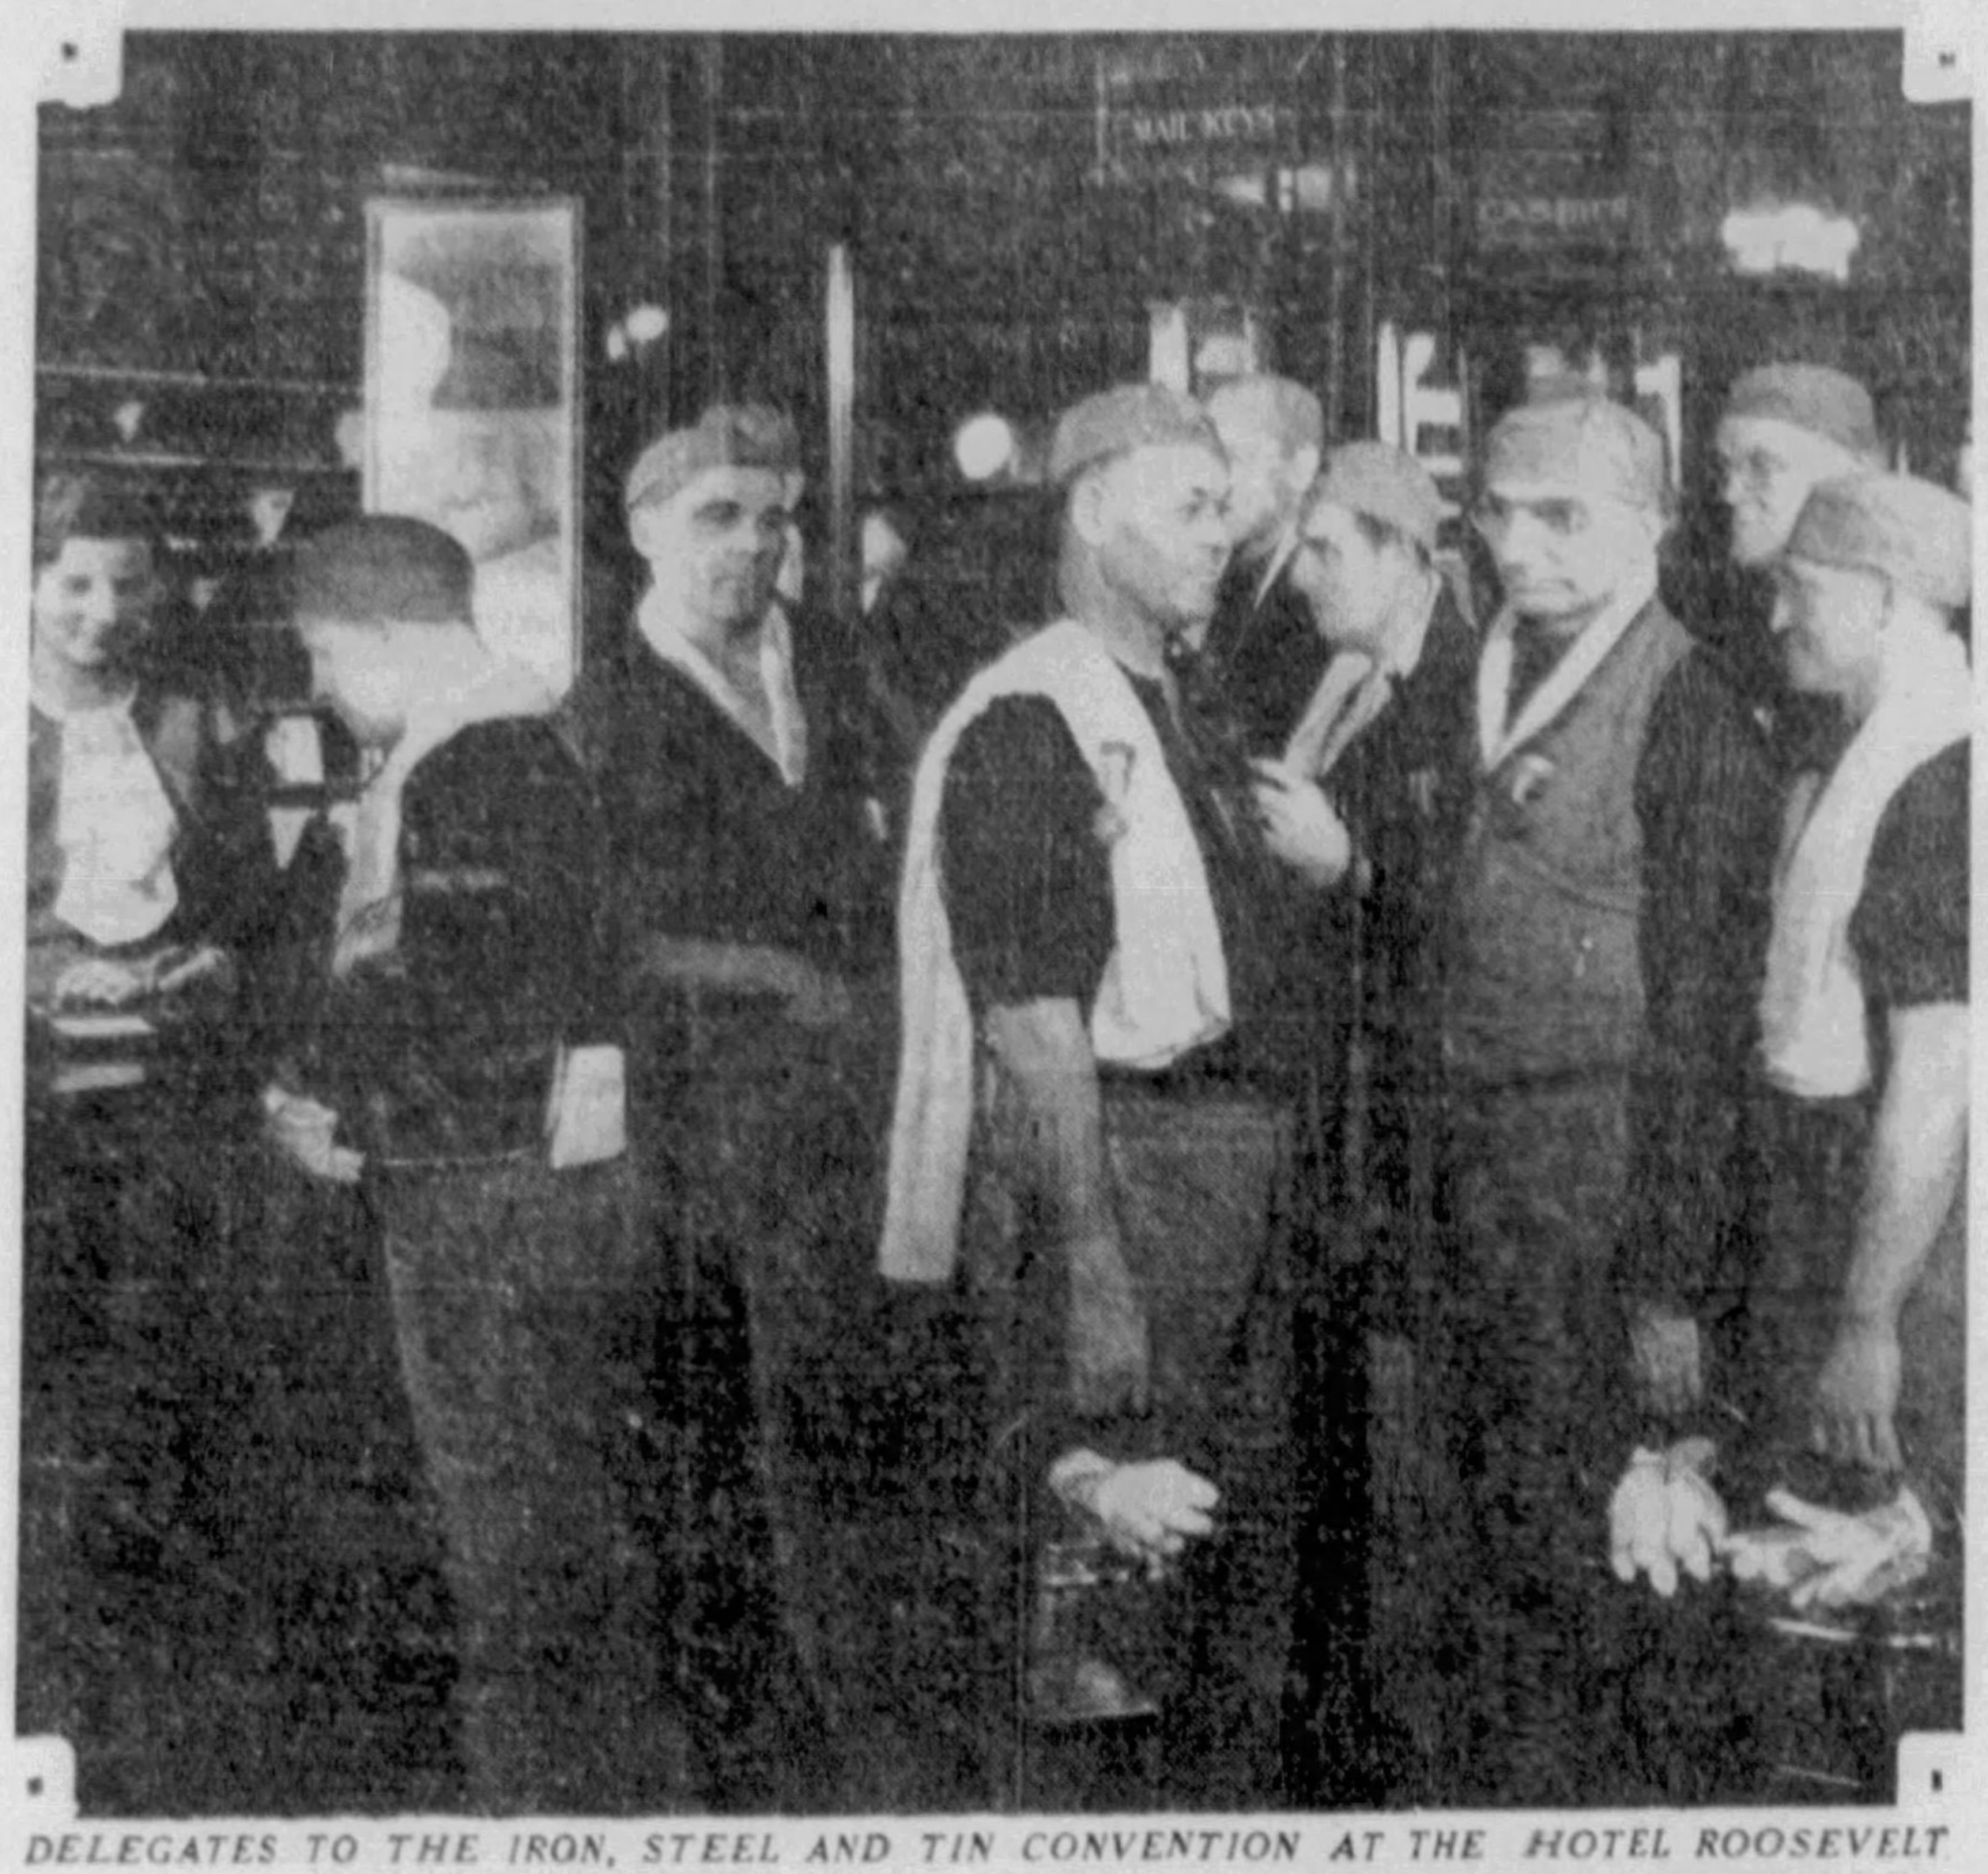
Other mining districts throughout the country are organizing along similar lines, the movement having already been started in Central Pennsylvania, Ohio, Missouri, Kansas and Alabama.

Huntress in discussing the plan said:

"Coal men all over the country are getting together to put their house in order. They have been driven to the wall through competition by oil and gas."

Companies represnted at the conference were Westmoreland Coal Company, Keystone Coal and Coke Company, Jamison Coal and Coke Company, Ocean Coal Company, W. J. Rainey Coal Company, Hillman Coal and Coke Company, Pittsburgh Coal Company, Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal Company, Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company, Carnegie Coal Company and Union Collieries.

IRONMEN CHECKING IN FOR CONVENTION



DELEGATES TO THE IRON, STEEL AND TIN CONVENTION AT THE HOTEL ROOSEVELT

Delegates to the fifty-eighth annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America registering for hotel rooms. They represent the tinworkers in Canonsburg mills, came dressed in their working clothes just for the effect.

UNION INDORSES SHORT WEEK

The six-hour day will solve the unemployment problem in the iron and steel industry, delegates to the eighth annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, meeting today in the Roosevelt Hotel, believe. Their views were expressed by President M. F. Tighe, who said the association was urging its universal adoption.

He denied the plan was impractical and said several steel companies are now using it successfully.

CRAWFORD, OIL PIONEER, DIES

COLUMBUS, O., April 21.—(AP.)—Frederick W. Crawford, 69, for more than 40 years identified with development of oil and gas fields, died suddenly at his home here last night of angina pectoris. He was a native of Hamilton, Pa.

Crawford was chairman of the board of the Ohio Fuel Company.

IRENE CASTLE BACK ON STAGE DUE TO DOGS

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—It took a dog—140 of them, in fact—to get Irene Castle McLaughlin to change her mind and agree to return temporarily to the glare of the footlights she deserted nine years ago.

And, today, she admitted that next week's "debut" held more terrors for her than a mangy mongrel.

As Irene Castle, Mrs. McLaughlin a few years ago danced her way across the footlights of a nation to fame. Now, as Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, society matron and friend to the "forgotten dog," she's returning to the local boards as a dramatic actress—a new role to her.

Surrounded by barking dogs of all breeds and descriptions, at the refuge, "Orphans of the Storm," she established for them, Mrs. McLaughlin remarked that it was a coincident that the play in which she should be coming back in was named "A Return to Folly."

She founded the haven for homeless dogs five years ago and until now it has been supported by donations of friends and its own earnings. But, this year of depression is different, she said, adding:

"I decided I owed it to the dogs to accept an offer that would insure their livelihood."

Citizenship Fraud Charged to Pair

Francisco DiTommaso, 44, and Frank Colangelo, 38, Italians, accused of having fraudulently obtained naturalization, were held for court by the United States Commissioner. They were arrested in Coraopolis. They were alleged to have entered the United States illegally from Canada.

EXILED BRITONS QUIT RUSSIA FOR HOME

MOSCOW, April 21.—(AP.)—A party of five British men, three of them banished from this country forever, and the Russian wife of one, were crossing the border into Poland today by train.

The woman in the party, Mrs. C. H. Nordwell, presumably will never see her native land again.

Her husband, Allan Monkhouse and John Cushny are the trio of British engineers ordered to stay out of Russia as a result of their conviction on charges of espionage, sabotage and bribery by a Soviet Supreme Court.

The others are Albert W. Gregory, who was acquitted in the same trial, and Robert Turner, a British lawyer.

When the men boarded the train last night they were so wary after being tried for bribery that they gave porters tips of only 50 kopecks, which is the legal limit for porters. The latter usually consider this inadequate, however.

They left behind them two associates, L. C. Thornton and William L. MacDonald, who were convicted and sentenced to three and two-year prison terms respectively. An appeal for commutation of their sentences to deportation is before Soviet authorities.

EINSTEIN LOSES GERMAN POST

BERLIN, April 21.—(AP.)—Prof. Albert Einstein's name was struck today from the board of the federal physical and technical institute.

It was announced that because of "his attitude toward Germany's rebirth further membership was made impossible."

The professor has renounced his Prussian citizenship in protest against the anti-Semitic policy of the Nazis.

Girl in Hospital After 'Cowboy' Lassoes Her

Victim of a "cowboy" game, Elizabeth Kirby, 10, of 53 Genesta street, is in the Homeopathic Hospital for observation. With a whoop, one of her boy pals dropped a clothesline lariat around her shoulders, gave the rope a tug and she fell to the pavement. Her skull was bruised and physicians fear she suffered a concussion.

FOUR STUDENTS SLAIN IN CUBA

HAVANA, April 21.—(INS.)—The bullet-riddled bodies of four more students lay in the Havana morgue today, mute testimony that the conflict between President Gerardo Machado's "porra" and rebel students continues.

A truce Easter Sunday temporarily halted the warfare.

EVEREST FLIERS DEFY ORDERS, WIN SUCCESS

By E. C. SHEPHERD

(Copyright, 1933, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PURNEA, India, April 20.—(By wireless.)—The second flight over Mount Everest, which took place Wednesday, participated in by members of the Houston Everest expedition, may well be described by an historian of great achievments as a piece of magnificent insubordination.

Made in uninsured airplanes, and without authority from home, it was carried through with the greatest success and has yielded results of the highest scientific value. Two survey strips, showing the geographical details of the southern face of Everest in remarkable clearness, were made.

Not only was the flight unauthorized; it had been forbidden. The expedition was under orders to return and the packing had begun. Pledges to governments and learned societies seemed likely to remain unfulfilled.

GLOOM RELIEVED

But the gloom which had settled on the expedition at the imminent failure of the serious part of the work was suddenly relieved by a set of coincidences.

These coincidences presented themselves as such a complete jigsaw of opportunities as to constitute an invitation rather than a temptation. Air Commodore P. F. M. Fellowes, leader of the expedition, had been bed-ridden for three days with a high temperature and had consented to a short flight for cinema purposes provided the machines were never out of gliding distance of the flat country.

The weather, broken for 10 days by thunder and gales, suddenly cleared. The wind strengths were reported as reasonable. The visibility of Flying Officer Ellison's dawn reconnaissance proved excellent.

The little party warming up for an early flight found itself at the airdrome alone, with everything in its favor, with confidence in its ability born of the experience on the first flight over Mount Everest, and with a burning desire to seize the last chance of doing the task the members of the expedition had set their hearts upon.

Provisionally, the not unexpected decision—since both pilots are Scots—to disregard orders was taken.

FLIGHT REVEALED

Time passed, and with it his anxiety increased. Presently the men returned and confessed as little as possible, but there were survey films to be developed, and most of us knew the conclusions. Others were drawing conclusions, too. The airplanes had been in flight.

The crews of the two planes, for all their readiness to risk censure in an important cause, awoke today to find themselves objects of fresh congratulation. What gratifies them most is the fact that Lady Houston's generosity (in backing the expedition) has at last resulted in a completely successful adventure.

Those who took part in the flight were the Marquess of Clydesdale and Col. L. V. S. Blacker in the Houston-Westland airplane, and Flight Lieut. McIntyre and A. L. Fisher, one of the cinematographers of the Gaumont British Film Corporation, in the Westland-Wallace.

Nest of Robins In Box Car Guarded

MARINETTE, Wis., April 21.—Railroad workmen have cheerfully essayed the role of guardians of a nest of robin's eggs which they found in a box car.

They switched the car on to a siding where it will be kept until the eggs are hatched.

BEATING FATAL, TWO CONVICTED

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 21.—(AP.)—Cody Calloway, 38, and Mrs. Margaret Britton, 33, were convicted of the murder of the woman's daughter, Kathleen, 8, by a Circuit Court jury here late yesterday. They will be sentenced later.

Kathleen died three weeks ago from skull and abdominal injuries allegedly inflicted by Calloway. The girl lay unconscious in a Kalamazoo hospital for seven weeks after being beaten.

The pair previously had been found guilty of assault upon Sylvester, 11-year-old son of the woman.

CENSUS SHOWS CATHOLIC GAIN

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The Roman Catholic population of the United States increased 32,012 during the past year to a total of 20,268,403, it is shown in statistics assembled for the "Official Catholic Directory," published today.

Roman Catholic clergy now number 29,782, a gain of 1,485. There are 18,260 churches, a gain of 108.

Traffic Fatalities On Increase Here

With 12 deaths in March, Pittsburgh's fatal traffic accidents were showing an increase for the first time since 1932, according to a report of the Bureau of Traffic Planning.

Only eight deaths occurred in March, 1932. A 28 per cent accident increase was also shown over the record of that month for last year.

Carelessness is blamed as the greatest contributing factor by the bureau, which urges intense and continued safety effort.

SHELL TO PIERCE ARMOR FOUND

SHEFFIELD, England, April 21.—(AP.)—Sir Robert Hadfields, a famous steel expert and managing director of the steel firm, Hadfields, Ltd., had announced today that his firm had invented a new armor-piercing shell which he claimed to be the best in the world.

Sir Robert declared that the shell had succesfully undergone the most severe tests the British government had ever demanded and other tests which previous types of projectiles could not possibly meet.

The new shell, he added, is capable of piercing ship armor at long range with disastrous effect.

LIBERTY AT OLIVER

The GOLD Embargo

Just how does this affect you, Mr. and Mrs. Pittsburgher? The experts say, that in the near future, your dollar is going to buy much less merchandise because commodities will go up. "The cotton sheets you need will be more expensive; "The Furniture and Rugs you have put off buying will cost you more." We do not predict, but we do not remember when prices were lower than they are now and if you believe what the experts say . . . now is the time to stock up.

'HIGHLIGHTS OF 1933' -:- News, Drama, Comedy, Music of Year Reviewed -:- ON THE AIR TONIGHT

70 in Radio Variety Show

Reviewing the first quarter of 1933, a special one-hour variety show featuring flashbacks to the high spots in news, drama, comedy and music is presented over a 52-station coast-to-coast CBS hookup, including WJAS, at 8:30 tonight.

The cast includes more than 70 actors and musicians, impersonating President Roosevelt and other prominent national figures; creating comedy highlights with imitations of Gracie Allen, Ed Wynn and other radio stars, and offering 1933's outstanding musical hits as selected by a jury of musical authorities.

B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the board of the Plymouth Motor Corporation, which sponsors the presentation, gives a brief talk on business conditions during the broadcast.

* * *

The noisy glamor of the circus—with lions roaring, elephants trumpeting and side-splitting circus clowns tumbling on their painted faces—is brought to the air via CBS-WJAS at 9:30 p. m. when Edwin C. Hill interviews Dexter Fellows, press agent.

* * *

Northern Romance

The story of the part nature "in the rough" played in the romance of a Far North trader and the daughter of his business rival is dramatized on WCAE at 9 during the weekly "Adventures of Great Merchants" broadcast.

* * *

George Hall's Hotel Taft Orchestra, with Dick Robertson and Loretta Lee as soloists, inaugurates a new schedule of late dance sessions over CBS-WJAS at midnight . . . A KQV schedule change moves the players to the 9 p. m. spot beginning tonight.

Edwin B. Lee, prominent Pittsburgh architect, is the Retail Research Bureau's guest speaker on WWSW at 6:15.

* * *

At 4 o'clock on WCAE, Phyllis Morton portrays three feminine roles—a slave girl, a mother and the latter's daughter—when she presents Eleanor Hunter's "Love."

* * *

The KDKA staff orchestra, directed by Zoel Parenteau, concludes its present series of broadcasts tonight at 6:35.

Tomorrow Brings—

The first of Premier Ramsay MacDonald's two radio addresses of his present visit to the United States will be carried over KDKA and WJAS tomorrow from 2 to 2:30 p. m. Mr. MacDonald's second address is scheduled on NBC-WCAE Wednesday night at 9:30.

Speaking at the annual luncheon of the Catholic Charities Drive, former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, will be heard over CBS-WJAS tomorrow from 1:30 to 2 p. m.

Inaugurating Frank & Seder's birthday celebration, a special 30-minute program from the store lobby is scheduled on WCAE tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. The presentation will consist of popular melodies, featuring Cyrilla Tuite, vocalist, recently of the "Cat and the Fiddle" show, and Ford Miller, basso-announcer, and comments by Alice Abbott.

A new program for kiddies, composed of games and nursery rhymes, is introduced on WCAE's Market Place broadcast under the direction of Alice Abbott tomorrow at 9:15 a. m. Margaret Daum, soprano, and the Sun Fairy are featured on the program, sponsored by Gimbels.

Globe-Trotting

By LOUIS L. KAUFMAN

Hello, Ladies and Gentlemen:

One interested listener to broadcast accounts of the efforts of social workers to compel hospitalization of little Billy Lesic, of Millvale, in order to correct his tubercular spine condition is Bruce Gray, a patient at Leech Farm.

Bruce, himself a victim of the same malady, advises early treatment, so the youthfulness of the patient will give a better chance for early recovery than Bruce himself had.

His advice to Mrs. Lesic, in the light of his own experience, is to welcome the medical treatment so as to prevent her son's being a hopeless cripple.

* * *

Joe Durzo also lends his voice to the pleas of many others in asking Mrs. Lesic to permit the doctor to care for her son. Joe had the same affliction. He entered the Pittsburgh Hospital, October 23, 1926, and was discharged the day before Thanksgiving in 1927, and now he says that he feels healthier and looks healthier than a lot of people who have never been sick a day of their lives.

* * *

Mrs. J. F. Woleslagle, Larimer, Pa.—Am looking into the case you mention.

* * *

Mrs. W. J. Evans, wife of the West Newton police chief, writes that the Sun-Telegraphs were sold out last Sunday and she didn't get hers and some of her friends were disappointed. There will be enough to go around this Sunday—and thanks for the nice words.

* * *

Must be getting better all the time. Received a note from F. A. Kuhn, the country poet from Unity. He writes:

"Always tune your broadcast in. It seems to lull my dad to sleep."

Mrs. J. F. Brown, of Etna, suggests that, in addition to setting aside April 30 as President's Day, we all send him a card of good wishes.

Movies Take Television Lead

By AIRCASTER

The prospects for television's progress around "that corner" are heightened considerably with the announcement that extensive experiments for its development are planned in connection with the establishment of a large broadcasting studio in Hollywood.

According to M. H. Aylesworth, president of both NBC and RKO, the first development of television will be to carry motion pictures into the home, and television artists will be motion picture players rather than radio actors.

* * *

Irene Bordoni returns to the air via NBC-WJZ Tuesday for a two-a-week series.

Congratulations seem to be in order: Wedding bells are ringing today—for Howard Petrie, announcer, and Alice Wood, hostess, both of the NBC staff.

The first prize of $250 in Singin' Sam's air contest went to W. T. Drill, of 516 Fourth street, Oakmont.

FOILED BANDIT SHOOTS MAN

Oakland police today sought a gunman who, foiled in his attempt to rob Nat Friedman, 37, of 3317 Niagara street, fired through the front door of the Friedman home, wounding him slightly last night.

The thug confronted Friedman on the front porch and ordered him to surrender his cash and valuables, police said. Friedman opened the door and stepped inside. The gunman fired through the paneling and fled. The missile grazed Friedman's side.

Police took the wounded man to Homeopathic Hospital. After receiving treatment there he was returned home.

MONTREAL, Que., April 21.—(AP.)—The city was officially notified today that Gen. Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, who will head a flight of 20 Italian airplanes across the Atlantic to the Century of Progress exhibition in Chicago, plans to arrive here May 28.

Schoolboys Find Their 'Bomb' Is Bandit Loot

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)Seven surprised schoolboys today related to authorities their experience of finding two tin boxes which they thought contained explosives, but which were filled with something almost as startling—a $3,200 stolen baking company payroll.

The boys found the boxes in the cellar of a vacant house. Taking them outside, they pelted them with rocks, expecting an explosion. Well-aimed throws broke open the boxes and the money spilled out.

Norman L. Riber, driver for the baking company, told police the payroll was taken from him by two holdup men.

'IN-LAW' BEAT HIM, MAN SAYS

His mother-in-law beat him with a broom and his wife poked him with a clothes pole, John W. McIntyre, Jackson street, Blawnox, testified in asking a divorce from Mrs. Anna Catherine McIntyre.

McIntyre testified before Judge Thomas M. Marshall that the broom incident occurred when he declared he was not going to give his money to his wife to give to someone else. The mother-in-law, he testified, then told him:

"My daughter will not live with a man who will not supply her with money."

The McIntyres were married March 13, 1921. The wife's address was given as Freeport road.

TEXT OF BILL ON CURRENCY INFLATION

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The text of the administration's inflation bill follows:

Section 34—Whenever, the President finds, upon investigation, that (1) the foreign commerce of the United States is adversely affected by reason of the depreciaton in the value of the currency of any other government or governments in relation to the present standard value of gold, or (2) action under this section is necessary in order to regulate and maintain the parity of currency issues of the United States, or (3) that an economic emergency requires an expansion of credit, or (4) that an expansion of credit is necessary to secure by international agreement a stabilization at proper levels of the currencies of various government; the President is authorized in his discretion . . .

(A) To direct the Secretary of the Treasury to enter into agreements with the several Federal Reserve banks and with the Federal Reserve Board whereby the Federal Reserve Board will, and it is hereby authorized to, notwithstanding any provisions of law or rules and regulations to the contrary, permit such reserve banks to agree that they will,

(1) Conduct, pursuant to existing law, throughout specified periods open market operations in obligations of the federal government or corporations in which the United States is the principal stockholder, and

(2) Purchase directly and hold in portfolio for an agreed period or periods of time, Treasury bills or other obligations of the United States government in an aggregate sum of $3,000,000,000 in addition to those they then may hold unless prior to the termination of such period or periods the secretary shall consent to their sale. The provisions of existing law requiring an automatic increase in the discount rate shall not result in an increase in such rate by reason of operations under this section.

Note Issue Provided

(B) If the Secretary, when directed by the President, is unable to secure the assent of the several Federal Reserve banks and the Federal Reserve Board to the agreements authorized in this section, or if operations under the above provisions prove to be inadequate to meet the purposes of this section of this act, or if for any other reason additional measures are required in the judgment of the President to meet such purposes, then he is authorized—

1—To direct the Secretary of the Treasury to cause to be issued in such amount or amounts as he may from time to time order, United States notes, as provided in the act entitled "An act to authorize the issue of United States notes and for the redemption of funding thereof and for funding the floating debt of the United States," approved February 25, 1862, and acts supplementary thereto and amendatory thereof, in the same size, and of similar color to the Federal Reserve notes heretofore issued, and in denominations of $1, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500, $1,000, and $10,000; but notes issued under this sub-section shall be issued only for the purpose of meeting maturing federal obligations to repay sums borrowed by the United States, and for purchasing United States bonds and other interest-bearing obligations of the United States:

Provided, that when any such notes are used for such purpose, the bond or other obligation so acquired or taken up shall be retired and cancelled. Such notes shall be issued at such times and in such amounts as the President may approve, but the aggregate amount of such notes outstanding at any time shall not exceed $3,000,000,000.

There is hereby appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, an amount sufficient to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to retire and cancel 4 per centum annually of such outstanding notes and the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby directed to retire and cancel annually 4 per centum of such outstanding notes. Such notes and all other coins and currencies heretofore or hereafter issued by or under the authority of the United States shall be legal tender for all debts public and private.

Gold Dollar Provision

(2) By proclamation to fix the weight of the gold dollar in grains nine-tenths fine at an amount that he finds is necessary from his investigation to protect the foreign commerce of the United States against the adverse effect of depreciated foreign currencies, or in case the government of the United States enters into an agreement with any government or governments is established, the President may fix the weight of the gold dollar in accordance with the ratio so agreed upon, and such gold dollar, the weight of which is so fixed, shall be the standard unit of value, and all forms of money issued or coined by the United States shall be maintained at a parity with this standard and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to maintain such parity, but in no event shall the weight of the gold dollar be fixed so as to reduce its present weight by more than 50 per centum.

Section 35—The Secretary of the Treasury with the approval of the President, is hereby authorized to make and promulgate rules and regulations covering any action taken or to be taken by the President under subsection (A), or (B) of Section 34.

Can Accept Silver

Section 36—(A)—The President of the United States is authorized to accept silver, in amounts not to exceed in the aggregate in value, in the United States currency $100,000,000, in payment of the whole or any part of any amount of principal or interest due from any foreign government or governments on account of any indebtedness to our government, such silver to be accepted at not to exceed the price of 50 cents an ounce. The authority of the President to accept silver as herein authorized shall be limited to a period of not to exceed one year from the passage of this act.

(B) The silver bullion purchased under the provisions of this section shall be subject to the requirements of existing law and the regulations of the mint service governing the methods of determining the amount of pure silver contained, and the amount of the charges or deductions, if any, to be made; but such silver bullion shall not be counted as part of the silver bullion authorizzed or required to be purchased and coined under the provisions of existing law.

(C) The silver accepted and received under the provisions of this section shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States, to be held, used, and disposed of as in this section provided.

(D) The President shall cause silver certificates to be issued in denominations of $1, to the total number of dollars for which such silver was accepted in payment of debts. Such silver certificates shall be used by the Treasurer of the United States in payment of any obligations of the United States.

Coinage Directed

(E) The silver so accepted under this section shall be coined into standard silver dollars and subsidiary coins sufficient, in the opinion of the Secretary of the Treasury to meet any demands for redemption of such silver certificates issued under the provisions of this section, and such coins shall be retained in the Treasury for the payment of such certificates on demand.

The silver so obtained and deposited under this section, except so much thereof as is coined under the provisions of this section, shall be held in the Treasury for the sole purpose of aiding in maintaining the parity of such certificates as provided in existing law.

Any such certificates or reissued certificates, when presented at the Treasury shall be redeemed in standard silver dollars or in subsidiary silver coin, at the option of the holder of the certificates: Provided, that in the redemption of such silver certificates issued under this section, not to exceed one-third of the coin required for such redemption may in the judgement of the Secretary of the Treasury be made in subsidiary coins, the balance to be made in standard silver dollars.

(F) When any silver certificates issued under the provisions of this section are redeemed or received into the Treasury from any source whatsoever, and belong to the United States, they shall not be retired, cancelled, or destroyed, but shall be reissued and paid out again and kept in circulation; but nothing herein shall prevent the cancellation and destruction of mutilated certificates and the issue of other certificates of like denomination in their stead, as provided by law.

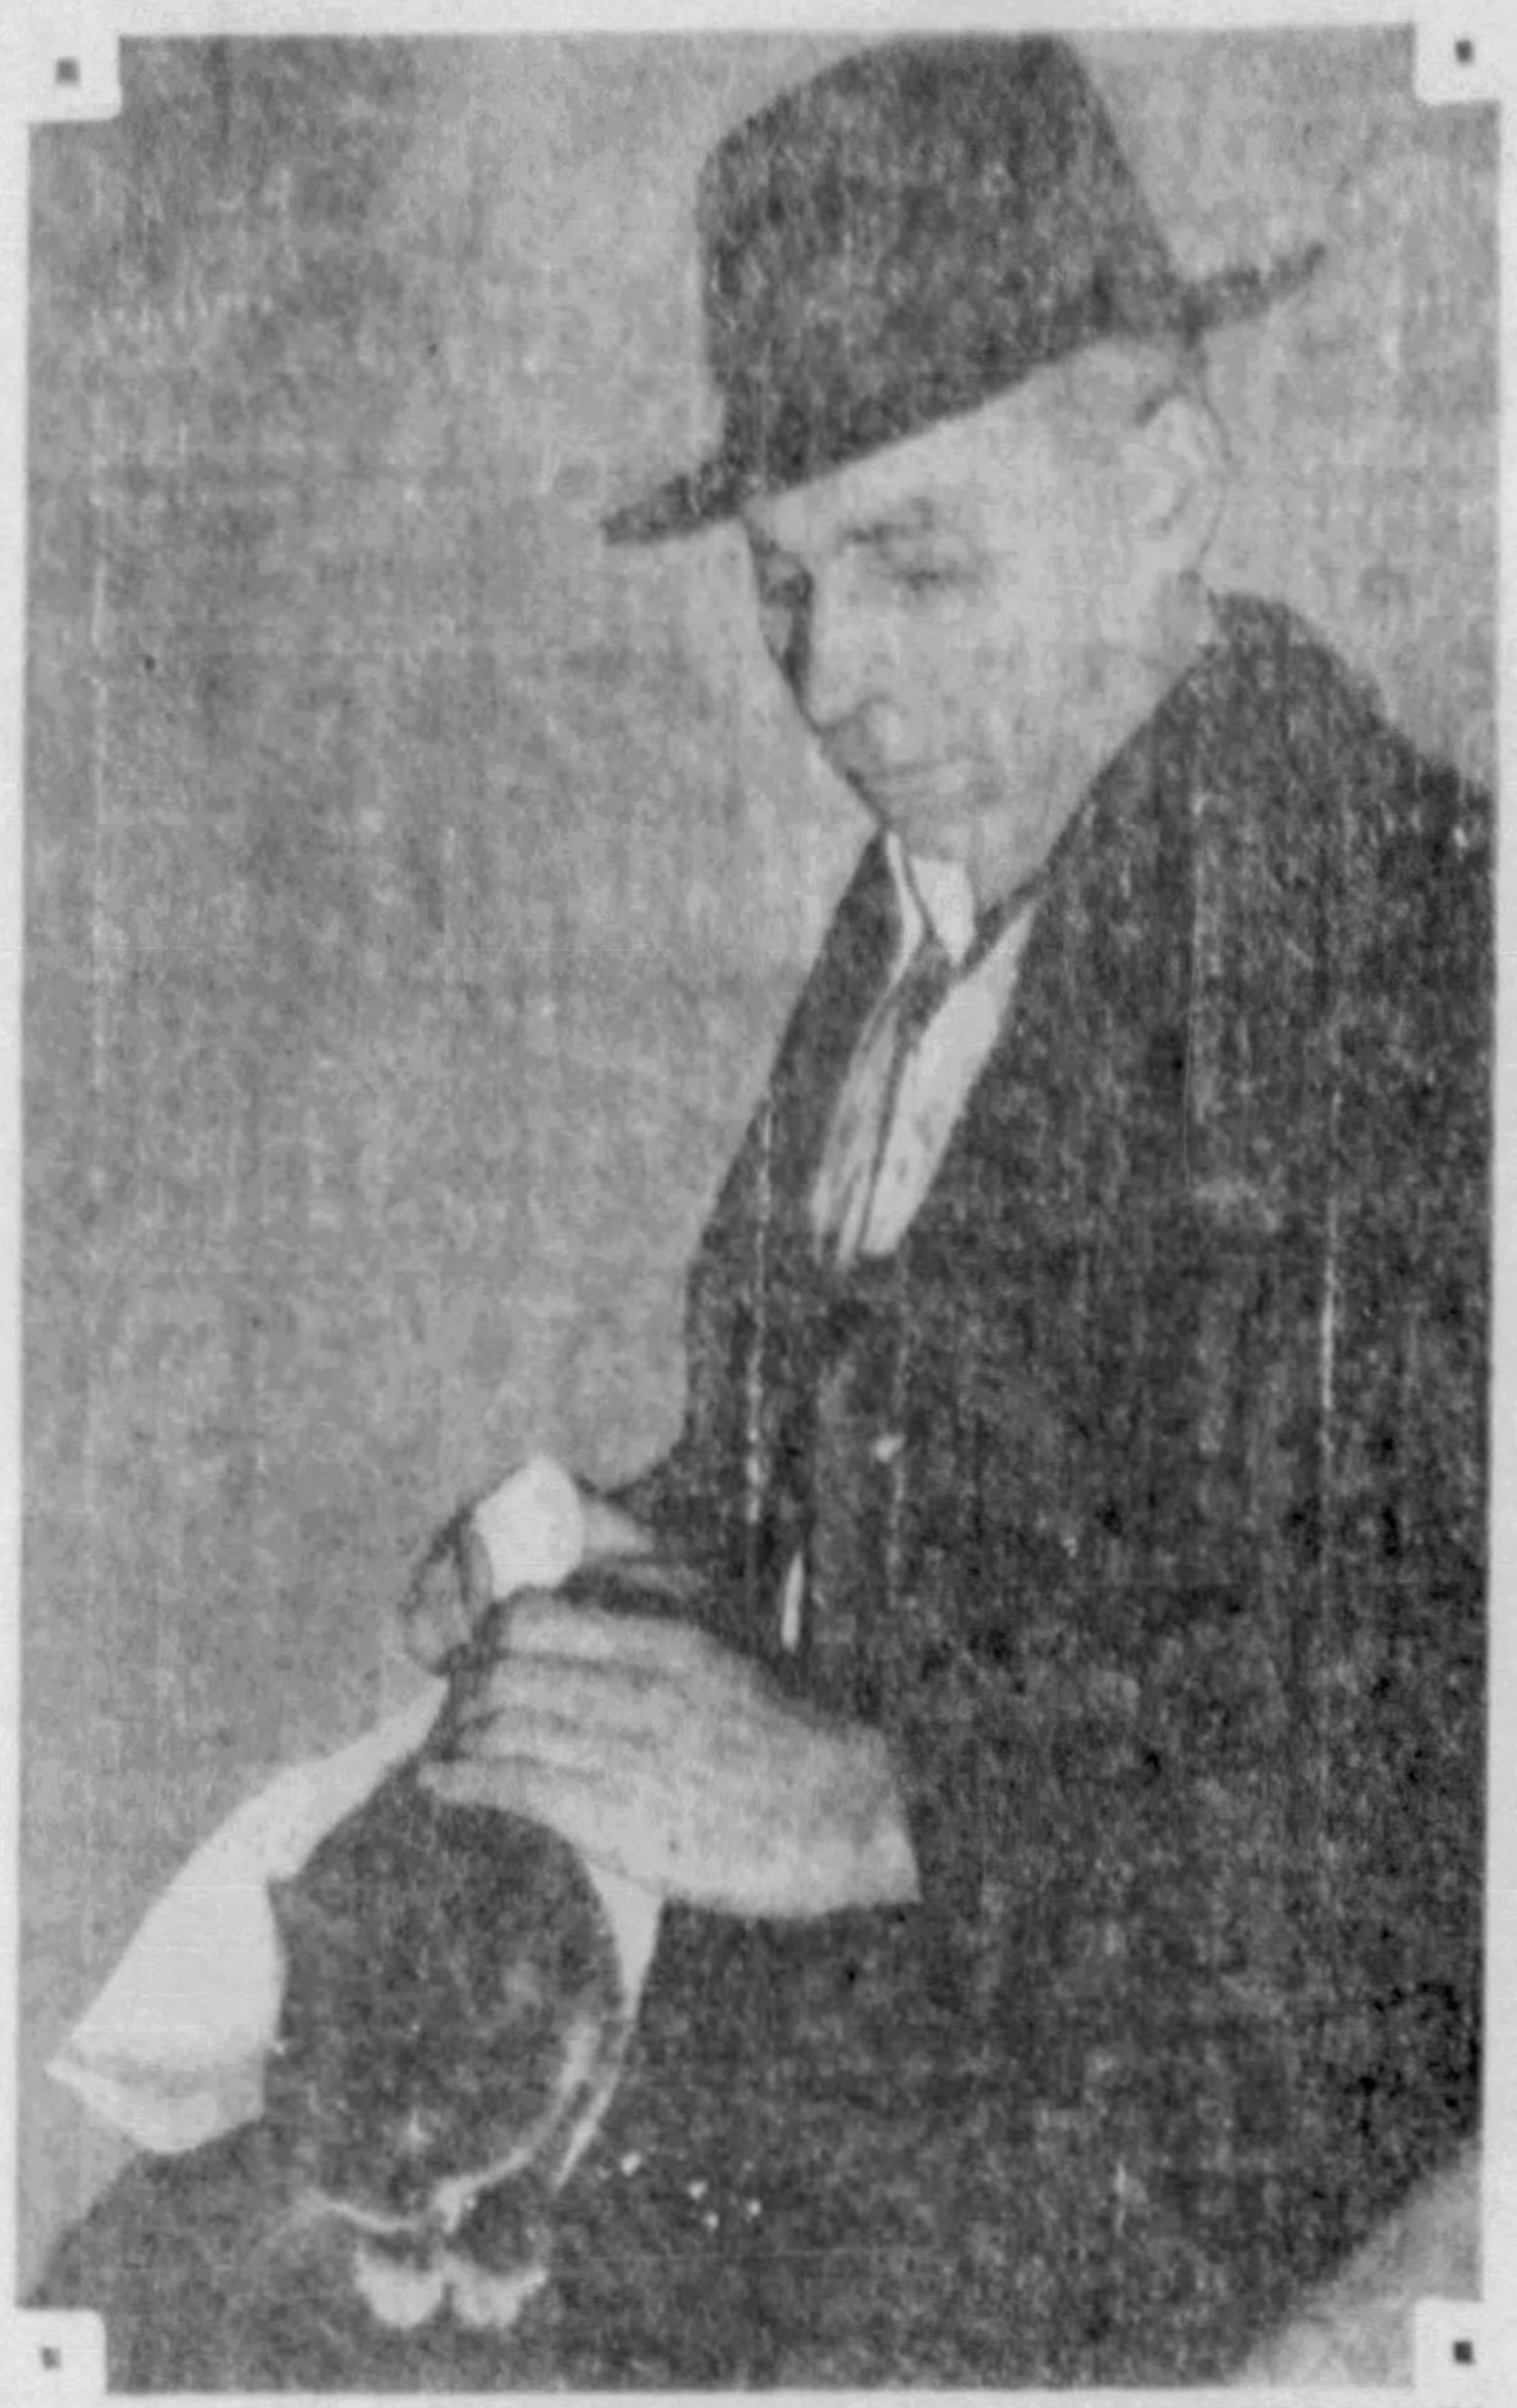
(G) The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to make rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of this section.

Land Bank Plans Fewer Foreclosures

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—A policy of leniency under which foreclosure proceedings will be instituted only when every other avenue to prevent loss has been exhausted, has been adopted by the federal land banks.

The Farm Loan Board announced today that foreclosure proceedings as of March 31 were begun in only 1.8 per cent of cases where farmer-borrowers had failed to fulfill their obligations under the loan contract.

GERTRUDE GOT STABBED



JOE SEMON BANDAGING HIS STABBED CAT, "GERTRUDE"

"Gertrude," the cat stabbed today at 2738 Carson street for meowing too much. John Maziack, same address, admitting in Police Court that he did the stabbing, paid $10 for the privilege. John: "I lost my temper." This is a Sun-Telegraph picture.

MT. LEBANON SCHOOL PAY REDUCED

A 10 per cent reduction in the salaries of all employes of the Mt. Lebanon school district has been ordered by the school board, which fixed the tax rate this year at 13 mills, Supt. C. Herman Grose announced. The total reduction for current expenses amounted to 20 per cent of the current budget, he said.

In addition to cutting the employes, Supt. Grose said, supervisors were eliminated; vacancies caused by resignations were unfilled and the pupil-teacher ratio increased. The total savings approximates $50,000.

This year's tax is the same as last year, which was a decrease of two mills from 1931. It was said an increased debt service, occasioned by the reduced millage of last year and the high percentage of delinquent taxes, prevented a reduction of taxes.

The school term has been shortened to nine months and at present employes are receiving only two thirds of their salaries.

ANGRY ROOMER STABS CAT

When cats bother John Maziack, 42, John does things.

John, who rooms at 2738 Carson street, was having his breakfast today in a restaurant at the same address, when the cat indicated by a series of meows that she, too, could use some ham and eggs.

John stood for so many meows, then he buried the sharp end of a butcher knife in the cat's back.

The cat went meowing off, John was arrested and fined $10 or 30 days in South Side Police Court. He admitted he had lost his temper.

The cat is to be killed.

'FACE LIFTING' DEATH HOLDS 3

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(AP.)—A physician and two beauty specialists were formally accused of manslaughter here last night after a Coroner's jury had found Mrs. Aileen Farnam, 30, died April 11 from "heart trouble hastened by shock from a face rejuvenation treatment."

Those held are Dr. I. A. Wallach, Christmas E. White and Anna Aeberlin. Mrs. Farnam's 12-year-old son, Billy Farnam, Jr., testified money he earned in motion picture work was used to pay for the operation.

How Do Nurses Manage?

The strenuous duties of the trained nurse permit little thought of her own physical condition or feelings. There can be no giving-in to monthly pains! That is the reason why so many nurses use Midol. They know it blocks all possibility of such pain for hours—and nurses know that it is not a narcotic and so is quite safe to take at this critical time.

Midol is not merely a measure of relief—it does not interfere with regular flow. All pain subsides in seven minutes! All dread of your monthly sickness ends with this happy discovery. Any drug store. Ask simply for Midol.

Sick Skin

Sensational results in cases of Skin Diseases are being obtained by an amazing ointment.

Pimples are brought to a head without squeezing. Itching stopped. Soreness relieved. Chapped Skin and Cold Sores healed, and the skin left gloriously smooth and healthy. No matter whether you have obstinate Eczema, Pimples, Rashes, Acne, Boils, or open Sores—one 35c box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT will convince you that here at last is the supreme healer.

And remember this; if you have Athlete's Foot — itching, burning feet, cracks between the toes—this powerful antiseptic kills the ringworm, and presto! the trouble is over. There is only one PETERSON'S OINTMENT. Get it at any drug store.

CHURCH LEADER JOINS TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT

The president of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches and the president of the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women today added their commendation to that of other leaders in city and nation—advocating President's Day, April 30.

Dr. P. W. Snyder, president of the Council of Churches, in commenting on the plan to establish the day as a permanent observance, on which the Chief Executive of the nation would be remembered in the people's prayers, said:

"As president of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches, I heartily indorse and commend the observance of President's Day to the churches of the Pittsburgh district."

Mrs. Mary B. Horan, who heads a group of 15,000 Catholic women in Western Pennsylvania, declared that while no special religious services are held in the council house, the membership would cooperate in the observance. She said:

"I'm certain every member of the Council of Catholic Women will attend mass April 30 and remember President Roosevelt in her prayers."

Former Film Star Files as Bankrupt

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(AP.)—Blanche Sweet, one-time film star and former wife of Marshal Neilan, film director, filed voluntary petition in bankruptcy yesterday.

She listed liabilities as $13,819.26, and assets as $200 in furniture and two life insurance policies.

Thief Gets Jewelry Of Party Hostess

Jewelry valued at $465 was stolen last night from the apartment of Mrs. S. S. Reed, of 202 East Stockton avenue, North Side, police reported. Mrs. Reed was entertaining friends when a sneak thief entered an unlocked door and stole the valuables.

North Side Boy, 4, Injured By Auto

William Bindernagel, 4, of 1224 High street, North Side, suffered a fracture of the left leg and bruises when he was struck by an automobile near his home last night. He was taken to Allegheny General Hospital.

Official—Pittsburgh 111

CITY OF PITTSBURGH, PENNSYLVANIA

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the City Controller of the City of Pittsburgh until the 9th day of May, 1933, at 11 a. m., daylight savings time, for the purchase of the following issues of bonds of said city:

$200,000 Water Works Improvement Bonds, 1933.

$500,000 Public Welfare Relief Bonds, 1933.

Said $200,000 Water Works Improvement Bonds, 1933, will be dated April 1, 1933, and the said $500,000 Public Welfare Relief Bonds, 1933, will be dated May 1, 1933, and each issue will mature in twenty (20) equal annual installments, respectively, on April 1 and May 1 of each year, respectively.

Said bonds will bear interest at the rate of four (4%) per centum per annum, payable semi-annually on April 1 and October 1 and May 1 and November 1 each year, without deduction for any taxes which may be levied thereon by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, pursuant to any present or future law.

Said $200,000 Water Works Improvement Bonds, 1933, are issued to provide funds (including engineering and other necessary expenses) for the construction, reconstruction, repairs, replacements and extension of the water supply system of the City of Pittsburgh, including among others the electrification of the Herron Hill Pumping Station and the rebuilding of the Allentown Tanks and all work appurtenant thereto and are issued by Councilmanic authority.

Said $500,000 Public Welfare Relief Bonds, 1933, are issued to provide funds for providing food, clothing, fuel and shelter for and otherwise assisting residents of the City of Pittsburgh who are without adequate means of support and were authorized by the electors at an election held April 26, 1932.

Said bonds will be coupon bonds of the denomination of one thousand ($1,000) dollars, exchangeable at the option of the holder at any time for a registered bond or bonds of the same maturity and of the denomination of one hundred ($100) dollars or a multiple thereof not exceeding the aggregate principal amount of the coupon bond or bonds surrendered in exchange therefore.

Unless all bids are rejected the said bonds will be sold to the highest responsible bidder complying with the terms of sale. No bid for such bonds at less than par and accrued interest from the date of said bonds to the date of delivery will be accepted. The right is reserved to reject all bids and any bid not complying with the provisions hereof will be rejected. Any bidder may condition his bid upon the award to him of all or none of the bonds for which he bids.

All bidders are required to deposit a certified check drawn to the order of the City of Pittsburgh, on a national bank or trust company for two (2%) per centum of the principal amount of bonds bid for. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon the amount of the check of the successful bidder and such check will be retained and applied in part payment for the bonds or to secure the city against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid.

The City of Pittsburgh reserves the right to deliver to the successful bidder temporary typewritten or printed bonds, in the form of one temporary bond for each issue, or one bond for each maturity of each issue, which shall be substantially in the same form as the definitive bonds, with appropriate omissions, insertions and variations as may be required. Until their exchange for definitive coupon bonds, the temporary bonds shall be in full force and effect according to their terms, and shall bear interest from April 1 and May 1, respectively.

Proposals should be addressed to James P. Kerr, City Controller, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and enclosed in a sealed envelope, marked on the outside, "Proposal for bonds." Bids must be made upon blank forms which may be obtained from the City Controller.

The successful bidder will be furnished with the opinions of Messrs. Reed, Smith, Shaw & McClay, of Pittsburgh, that the bonds are binding and legal obligations of the City of Pittsburgh.

JAMES P. KERR
City Controller.

Dated, Pittsburgh, Pa., April 20, 1933.

The Love Letters of W. W.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT, ESQ., International Mercantile Marine, New York City: My Dear Sir—Thank you for your letter concerning the unemployed seamen. The groups of American lads now "beached" who found a voice in this column are naturally grateful. None of them, however, has tried to mislead me—and if some of the statements are not believed by your office—I am sorry. All of these unemployed seamen, by the way, persisted in reminding me that the seamen consider you their friend.

They hold you in great esteem. They feel, though, that you cannot possibly be acquainted with all that goes on—and that some of your staff are giving the IMM "a bad name." Most of the thousands of seamen, now unemployed, are being fed and sheltered by various charities. I hope the others are getting some sort of break.

I wish I could find the time to have luncheon with you, as you suggest. My routine is so upsidedown (I turn in at dawn) that I can't this week. I want you to know, however, that they tell me this: That British liners hire only Britishers—German only Germans—Italian boats only Italians—French ships only French and so on—but that our American steamers are not that loyal to their countrymen. And that U. S. boats are manned by too many foreigners, and non-citizens. This, of course, bewilders many of us, who pledged our allegiance to our Flag. How about the Flag pledging some allegiance to us?

W. R. WILKERSON, Publisher Hollywood Reporter, Hollywood, Cal.:—Dear Sir. Let me compliment you on your issue of April 15th—in which your editorial "Design for Stealing" appears.

Particularly eye-filling are the lines: "If a man steals another's wife, he is a home-wrecker; if he steals his money, marbles or chalk, he is a thief; if he steals his good name he is a slanderer . . . but if he steals his idea for a motion picture and gets it on the screen first . . . then he is a smart and shrewd showman . . . That, unfortunately, seems to be the general idea in Hollywood. The word plagiarism doesn't sound so hard as thievery. So let's start calling those who steal ideas and themes and rushing them into quick production to be the first to cash in—thieves . . . Idea filching is one of the glossed-over evils."

You're telling me? Incidentally, Wilkerson, this is a good time to get this into type. Too many of the colyuming pirates prefer to believe that my frequent squawks are over the 3-dot punctuation that I usually employ. I never claimed that ancient trick—my middle turns over because of the army who try to ape the wordage—or the routine. Incidentally, see the April 22d Billboard for columns done in 1920 between Pantages Circuit performances. I had forgotten them. See you soon. Keep knocking 'em dead.

POSTMASTER GENERAL JAMES A. FARLEY, Washington, D. C.: Dear Postmaster-General: In a recent column I told of a new organization down South, which calls itself "The Silver Shirts." I just discovered, however, the "comic-opera" angle of it.

The organizer of the new group is one William Dudley Pelley. Several years ago he started the publication of an esoteric magazine called "The Liberator"—since christened "Liberation."

This mag was devoted solely to occultism; but this subject of late has become secondary to the subject of "political economy" as Herr Pelley views it. He has come to regard himself as a disciple of the coming world savior, and is loudly sounding his trumpet of the impending world doom.

The "storm troops" he is organizing will be the only ones "saved" when the time comes, he would have them believe. He has published a brochure which outlines a form of government which is an utopian dream, and which he visualizes as the form eventually adopted by the U. S.

Pelley (this is where you die screaming from leffing) was once a Hollywood scenario writer and had a pretty good income. But he grew stale and his stuff didn't sell, so he looked about for a new racket—and this apparently is it. Or maybe he fell on his head and accidentally reformed. At any rate, Postmaster, I warn you, if you are not a 100 per cent American, white and Protestant, you can't become a Silver Shirtail—and you are as good as done for. Me, too.

SECRETARY OF WAR GEORGE H. DERN, Washington, D. C.: Dear Secretary of War: Among other items I encountered in a day's routine was this—which made me considerably ill. I pass it along to you, sir, because the lad concerned wouldn't think of commercializing his grand war record.

I got the information from mutual pals. His name is Mathew J. Kane, of No. 405 East Two Hundred and Fourth street, Bronx, New York. He served with the Old 69th (the 165th Infantry), and, although wounded, didn't miss one engagement.

The following is a record of decorations bestowed upon Hero Kane while serving his country during the war. The United States decorated him with the Distinguished Service Cross, Order of the Purple Heart and New York State Conspicuous Service Medal. France gave him the Medaille Militaire and Croix de Guerre (with palm). He was recommended for the Congressional Medal of Honor in 1925.

The Medaille Militaire is rarely bestowed upon men outside the French army. There are less Americans with this decoration than there are Congressional Medal of Honor men. Kane is married and the father of four children. He has been jobless for eight months.

But what I started out to groan about is this: Upon receipt of the Purple Heart Medal from Washington, D. C.—a few weeks ago—Kane also received a dispossess from his landlord the same day!

Okay! America ??????????

SHAKESPEARE :-: Bow to the Bard of Avon And Bits About Films :-: AMUSEMENTS

Historic Play By the Bard At Tech

By GEORGE SEIBEL

The domestic troubles of King Henry VIII and Tudor politics opened the annual Shakespeare festival at the Little Theater of Tech Drama School last night.

Mr. Seibel

Under the direction of B. Iden Payne, very competent direction of a very difficult production, "The Famous History of King Henry VIII," was played from the prologue to the divorce, and from the divorce to the christening of the future Queen Elizabeth, who behaved admirably during the ceremony. At 11 o'clock the evening ended with appropriate revelry by the citizens of London.

It was a fine performance in the Elizabethan manner. Anybody who wishes to see how plays were given on Shakespeare's own stage, can get a very good idea from this production, with its front stage, its curtained recess and its upper gallery. It only required some of the classy spectators to be distributed on the fringes of the platform to make the illusion a little more illusive.

Very fine work was done by Robert Gill as Wolsey, and he gave the Cardinal's farewell with fine diction and sincere emotion. Fern Ball, as Queen Katherine, was a worthy partner of the acting honors, while Franklin Heller gave King Henry with appropriate explosions of wrath and without undue excursions into comedy. Other excellent performances were those of Donald Gallagher as Buckingham and Dr. Butts; Audrey Kelley as Anne Bullen; Walter Derdeyn as the Surveyor, and William Beal as Archbishop Cranmer. But all of the large cast really did very well in this pageant with all its pomp and parade and visions of angels with golden masks and spun copper wigs. An array of gorgeous costumes added to the glories of an impressive performance.

Play Bought For Film

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1933, King Features Synd., Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, April 2.—A good day's work may be considered behind Paramount officials. Buying a New York stage show that is still running, they have assigned three important players, a director and have started a writer flying to Broadway to watch it being acted.

"Three-Cornered Moon" is the new purchase. It is a comedy based on depression woes and "turning the corner" and was written by Gertrude Tonkonogy, who dropped her job as a stenographer when her play took on.

The three players so far selected are Richard Arlen, Lyda Roberti and Mary Boland. Elliott Nugent has been given the task of directing. S. K. Lauren, who will adapt it with Ray Harris, flies with Nugent to New York for ideas.

The production is under B. P. Schulberg.

I won't tell you his name, but one of our virile stars whose work helped the underworld cycle into Hollywood, was at Agua Caliente over the week-end, playing shuffle ball.

Noticing a titled Englishman of his acquaintance looking for a chair, the star offered his own.

"No, no!" protested the visitor. "I couldn't deprive you of it for the world."

"Take it, your lordship," the star airily waved, "it's no depravity at all!"

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

While "When Ladies Meet," the Rachel Crothers comedy hit of the current New York season, is doing a fair business in the Nixon, it is by no means a sell-out, which is a sort of reflection on the dramatic discrimination of Pittsburgh. The play is being mentioned as a possible Pulitzer prize winner for the year, and already has been voted the prize of the Theater Club of New York, given annually for the best American play. The award will be made next Tuesday in the Astor Hotel, New York. "When Ladies Meet" is one of the series of subscription plays of the American Theater Society.

NOTES ABOUT NEW FILMS

Sylvia Sidney and George Raft have the leading roles in "Pickup," photoplay opening today in the Penn. The story is about a love romance between a girl who has been in prison and a taxicab driver.

* * *

"A Bedtime Story" is the photoplay opening today in the Stanley. Maurice Chevalier plays the part of a bachelor who adopts a baby he finds in his car. Helen Twelvetrees, Edward Everett Horton and Baby LeRoy are prominent.

* * *

James Dunn and Sally Eilers have the leading roles in "Sailor's Luck," photoplay opening tomorrow in the Enright.

* * *

"The Cohans and Kellys in Trouble," with Charlie Murray and George Sidney, and Charlie Ruggles in "Murders in the Zoo," comprise the double bill opening day in the Davis and Sheridan Square.

* * *

Lionel Barrymore is featured in "Sweepings," photoplay opening today in the Warner. The story is about a merchant whose children are too incompetent to carry on his life's work. Alan Dinehart and Eric Linden are in the cast.

'Cavalcade,' Now in Fulton, Is Stirring Picture

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Should you arrive and find your seat in the Fulton at any hour when there is beginning the showing of its current feature, "Cavalcade," you will be carried back three decades to a New Year's Eve, and join in the old, old custom of drinking a toast to a new year—to the future. More, a toast to a new century, for it takes place in the last minute of December 31, 1899. Another toast is drunk 30 years from that date and the "cavalcade" of the new century, that was rushing upon our youngish celebrants at the first libation, has passed them, and left them heart-scarred and aged, but still with the courage to give, in wine, a ceremonial offering "to the future," with memories as their happiness.

The whirl of time is visualized in scenes rich with incident, and a depth of feeling that catches at the throat, as one sees how the life of a family, the servant as well as the master, so closely united with one another as to be almost one, is bound up with the flow of events of a stirring period in the history of England. It involves this family in two wars, Boer and the World conflict. Its magnificent sweep, so expansive that one marvels at the breadth of it, encompasses not only dramatic and intensely human high spots, but a wealth of detail that still further infuses the human quality.

Since this picture only recently received elaborate and laudatory reviews upon its original showing here, it is not necessary to repeat it. It is still the great photoplay of its day, and one that is not likely to be equalled soon. One need not look far for the motive of Noel Coward, its author. Here we have jazz and all that it connotes. There still is the pale white horse of the Apocalypse and its macabre rider. But also there still is the FAMILY—symbolized as something eternal—for anchorage.

The acting is something to rave about—especially that of Clive Brook and Diana Wynyard, whose able support includes Ursula Jeans, Herbert Mundin, Una O'Connor, Beryl Mercer, Frank Lawton, John Warburton and Margaret Lindsay.

FACTOR YOUTH'S OWN STORY OF KIDNAPING

By JEROME FACTOR,
As Told to Harry Heydenburg

CHICAGO, April 21.—At the outset I want to say that the kidnapers treated me with every courtesy and thoughtfulness, but at no time did they permit me to get a glimpse of them and I could not identify my captors.

I returned home a week ago Wednesday night after having dinner with father in his hotel suite. And as I left my car and entered the courtway of the building two men stepped from behind the corner of the building and stood beside me.

Ordering me to look ahead, they turned me around and grabbed my arms. I asked:

"What is this?"

"Never mind; just walk ahead."

TAKEN IN AUTO

I was led to a sedan parked nearby in which two other men were seated. I was told to remove my glasses and overcoat and then they forced me onto the floor with the coat over my head.

After driving for an hour and a half we stopped in a yard and two of the kidnapers carried me bodily up two flights of stairs to a darkened room. They showed me where a mattress was and then covered my eyes.

It was there that I spent most of the last eight days. Each day one of the kidnapers would ask what sort of a meal I wanted and bring magazines or papers which I was permitted to read.

I never got a glimpse of the men who were holding me. They would just thrust the food into the room.

During my captivity I wrote three letters, the first one on Thursday. The second letter was dictated carefully by the men, instructing me to tell my father how to insert ads in papers, using the names of "Mary" and "Joe" and how to park his automobile if he was ready to comply with their demands.

RANSOM DEMAND

This was the letter that contained the ransom demand; it was not $50,000 as reported, but $100,000 that the men wanted. But the instructions were so indefinite that my father became confused. And as it turned out that circumstance saved him a cool $100,000, I guess.

Then they took me in an automobile to another house and I spent a day there under close guard. Last night they put me in a car again and one of the men remarked:

"Buddy, we're going to release you now. And we didn't get any money for all this trouble."

He seemed mad. Finally they picked me up from the floor of the automobile and stood me on the sidewalk and warned me not to follow. I took the bandage off my eyes and hailed a taxicab that brought me home.

Lost Identities Of Two Delay Marriages

WARSAW, Poland, April 21.—(AP.)—Casimir Kulakowski complained in court that his birth certificate had disappeared. Investigation disclosed Casimir was christened simultaneously with another boy and the officiating priest erroneously registered the two babies under one name.

Casimir No. 1 and Casimir No. 2, who both want to get married, cannot do so until authorities decide how to untangle their identities.

OHIO DAM JOB URGED ON U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—The chief of army engineers today recommended to Congress that $12,200,000 of work be done on the Kanawha and Ohio rivers, including construction of a dam at Winfield, W. Va.

The project to improve navigation in the Kanawha calls for a nine-foot channel which the Winfield dam would help to achieve.

The recommendations also call for construction of a dam in the Ohio near Gallipolis.

The two proposed dams would replace six low dams in the Kanawha below Charleston and three of the dams in the Ohio River system.

'SILVER QUEEN,' 74, MAY WED

PASADENA, Cal., April 21.—(Universal.)—When other women far under her 74 years of age are leading quiet, sheltered lives, Mrs. Suzanna Emery-Holmes, fabulously rich Utah "silver queen," is preparing for another European junket from which rumor whispers, she may return with a fourth husband.

And this time friends gather from Mrs. Holmes' guarded conversation it may be Prince Nicholas Engitcheff.

CHICAGO BEGINS BIG 'PAY-OFF'

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—Things are looking up a bit for city employes. Payments of two months salaries to 16,000 of them started today.

Subscription for $8,069,000 worth of 1932 city corporate warrants, turned over to officials by a committee working to raise money for the city's workers, made the salary payments possible.

—By MARK SHIELDS—

Mr. Shields

HARRISBURG, April 21.—Senator John J. McClure, of Delaware County, has stepped out definitely and forthrightly to seize the leadership of the Republican party in Pennsylvania. It should be no great task, for those who now affect to hold the leadership are a group of fumbling gentlemen whose grip on the party standard is extremely loose.

There is no other interpretation to be out on the introduction last night by Senator McClure of a beer conarol and regulation bill which is designed to handle the sale of beer in Pennsylvania. The Senator from Delaware is known to have consulted with the members of his party who are not normally organization men prior to his decision to introduce a regulatory bill.

He was informed, and correctly, that he had within his grasp the opportunity to retrieve the mistakes he had made on blue law legislation and as chairman of the Senate Utilities Investigating Committee, when he invoked the ire of Oliver K. Eaton and forced his resignation as counsel for the inquisitors.

The Senator was concerned when Gov. Pinchot vetoed the Sowers bill which would have put issuance of licenses within the grasp of the Quarter Sessions Court. He was a participant in a conference yesterday morning in which all shades of party opinion were represented.

* * *

Martin Compelled To Express Approval

In that conference Senator McClure, Speaker Grover Talbot and others heard State Chairman Edward Martin say flatly that he was not interested in legislation dealing with beer regulation.

That declaration is not to be overtoned by the later statement of Martin, after he had discovered that McClure's mind was set on introducing the bill. In that statement Martin said he approved what the Senator from Delaware was doing.

He had no other option, as McClure understood. The Delaware County Senator, who is something of an adroit strategist, given to suavity, also said there was no real struggle for leadership.

But that cannot discount the fact that McClure has seized an opportunity which was at hand for any strong organization man who had the courage to step forth into the picture and attempt to do business. The way was wide open, and courage is something with which the men of the Republican leadership, with the exception of Auditor General Charles A. Waters, have no familiarity.

McClure has thrown down a defiance to the Philadelphia Republicans, who insisted that Quarter Sessions Courts be the license agencies. He has made a play for the upstate vote, realizing that those districts are displeased and disgusted with the Philadelphia leadership as exemplified on the floor of the House and Senate.

* * *

Fight for Leadership In Background

It is no secret that in the House there are groups which are prepared to vote against anything, good or bad, which has the authority of the Philadelphia leadership. McClure has sensed that. He knows also that the Philadelphia leadership is a most tenous control, its grip threatened constantly.

And that is the story of the new beer control measure. It is also the story of much that has gone on in this Legislature, and which is to go on.

In the background has been a play of force between McClure and Martin, each eager for the place in the sun which might come through leadership. Martin had his chance and fumbled. McClure also had a chance and fumbled.

But now he has picked up the ball and appears to have thrown Martin out at first, second, last and all the time.

When Martin saw that McClure had stepped into the open on beer there was nothing for him to do but to attempt to make it appear that he had been for the proposition all the time.

The McClure and Martin statements on the subject are no more than face-saving utterances, but the McClure declaration came with the Senator having his tongue in his cheek.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

WINSLOW, Ariz., April 21.
To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Will Rogers

All I know is just what I read in the Albuquerque, N. M., papers. They say we are off the gold. Well, I am flying over Arizona and New Mexico as I write this and you could take a parachute and jump out any place.

The best way to tell when each one of us went off the gold is to figure back how many years it was we had any. Well, that's when we went off. The last I remember getting my clutches on was in Johannesburg, South Africa, some five dollars English gold pieces that we carried in a belt around our waist. I used the last one to pay a third class passage to Australia. So I went off the gold in 1902, and this move strikes me as no great novelty or calamity.

Yours, WILL.

TEACHER'S WIFE LINKS PUPIL IN DIVORCE
Found Strange Bobby Pins in Bedroom, She Testifies

She found strange bobby pins in her bedroom, Mrs. Katherine E. Hilty, formerly of Mt. Lebanon, testified today before Judge George V. Moore in her divorce suit against Marlin E. Hilty, former Latimer Junior High School instructor. Hilty was arrested last June on complaint of the mother of a 15-year-old girl pupil.

Mrs. Hilty, herself a former school teacher, testified she had detectives follow her husband and learned that he made himself at home in the home of a girl called "Edna."

Once she came home from a visit and found her picture had been removed from the dresser. She also found bobby pins in the room, Mrs. Hilty said.

She said that while Hilty was active in Boy Scout work and frequently attended classes in the evening, she became suspicious when he remained out until 3 or 4 a. m. She also mentioned his arrest on a morality charge last year. The two were married November 13, 1930, in Hagerstown, Md.

VOTE MACHINE CONTRACT LET

The County Commissioners voted today to spend $125,000 repairing the county's $1,000,000 worth of voting machines. It was asserted that the machines would be ready for the September primary.

The contract for repairs was awarded the Thomas Spacing Machine Company, of Glenshaw. Maj. William T. Rees, head of the Elections Bureau, said he was satisfied the company could do the work.

The only other bidder was the Automatic Electric Company, of Chicago, which bid $167,000, plus $59,000 for manufacturing tools.

The county will try to make the bonding company for the Poole Engineering and Machine Company, of Baltimore, makers of the machines, pay part of the cost.

SLAYER OF GIRL GETS LIFE

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(INS.)—William Brown, 17-year-old Negro who pleaded guilty to luring Dorothy Lutz, 7, to a vacant house, and then killing her, today was sentenced to life imprisonment by three judges who heard his admission of guilt.

Brown had previously been sentenced to die in the electric chair upon his conviction by a jury but was subsequently granted a new trial.

Many May Reach 75, Harvard Man Says

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(INS.)—By further reducing the infant mortality rate and mortality rate of persons in the middle range of life, it may be possible for half of all the persons born to reach the age of 75, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, lecturer at the Harvard University Medical School.

Personal hygiene will play a large part in reducing the death rate, according to Dr. Dublin.

King Midas Finds His Golden Touch Has Back-fired
-By ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER-

King Midas joins the list of happy abdications.

His gold standard was knocked colder than an army meal.

Result was like dropping a Seidlitz powder into a slumbering industrial volcano.

The prodigal sum came back to Wall street, the brokers killed the fatted bull.

They've started that Australian pursuit race again. The ticker ran behind the market, the market couldn't catch the brokers, and the customers were chasing everything and everybody.

It hasn't got any more head and tail than an oyster. But it's on the half-shell and we are going to enjoy it.

Europe doesn't like it at all. Too much like sarsaparilla with a wink.

Don't know what Ramsay MacDonald will say about it. If he is smart he will put in a buying order.

Humane Agent Wars On Drivers Failing To Aid Victims

Pleading guilty to failing to stop and render assistance when she ran over a dog at Saw Mill Run boulevard and Maytag street, Mrs. Mae Wieland, Stuart avenue and Clairton road, was fined $10 and costs yesterday by Alderman Edward W. Hass, 1809 West Liberty avenue. It was the minimum penalty.

She killed a chow dog, valued at $75, belonging to David Walsh, police lieutenant, of 113 Yale avenue, it was testified. Walsh's daughter, June, had the dog out for a walk when it broke from its leash and darted onto the street. According to W. C. Ivill, humane officer, the front and rear wheel of Mrs. Wieland's car ran over it. Ivill prosecuted the case.

Edwin M. Smith, chief agent of the Humane Society, in calling attentiton to the case, said:

"The society has received numerous complaints of drivers hitting dogs on the highway. If evidence can be produced that they injured the dogs and failed to stop, we are going to prosecute to the full extent of the law."

The law calls for a fine of $10 to $20 for the first offense and a fine of $20 to $50 for all other offenses. In default of payment, the offender is committed to jail.

GRILL WITNESS ON O'MALLEY TESTIMONY
Memory Vague as to Testimony Given At Trial

A witness for Michael J. Muldowney in his fight for the congressional seat in the Thirty-second District also testified for the defense in the P. J. O'Malley election fraud trial in 1932, according to testimony at the contest.

The witness, Matthew Finn, was recalled yesterday and subjected to a grilling on the O'Malley case, which lasted until he refused to answer questions on advice of counsel. Attorneys for Mrs. Ann E. Felix, the contestant, did the questioning.

Attorney B. Robert Averbach, representing Muldowney, registered a vigorous protest to the questions and answers on the O'Malley case being made a part of the record because they dealt with an entirely different election contest.

MEMORY VAGUE

Finn at first expressed a willingness to answer although his memory was vague as to the O'Malley trial.

After protesting his ignorance of practical politics even as to the method of elections, Finn was suddenly asked by Attorney John M. Henry, counsel for Mrs. Felix, regarding the collection of money for a large number of tax receipts in the Second Ward in 1931.

The money, according to Finn, was given to him to cover a number of tax receipt orders, he was not sure how many. He was receiving other money at the same time as custodian of the Second Ward Relief Fund, he stated.

FORGETS DETAILS

He said he testified in the O'Malley case, but could not recall details. He said:

"I knew that he (O'Malley) was indicted and tried, but not in this particular case."

Records in the O'Malley case show that Finn testified on one of the most important points, the purchase of 2,409 tax receipts by O'Malley.

Testimony for Muldowney was closed yesterday, Attorney Averbach making a motion that the contest be dismissed because the contestant, Mrs. Felix, has failed to show evidence of fraud. Ten days will be allowed for rebuttal testimony, after which the evidence will go to Congress.

JOBLESS MAN RELEASED

Magistrate William McNamara, of Oakland Police Court, today said he had discharged Anthony McGrath, 31, of 5247 Dyke street, trapped in the home of Mrs. Ada Fonner, 5409 Second avenue, April 12, because of lack of evidence and the refusal of Mrs. Fonner to prosecute.

McGrath, up to the time of his arrest, was a man of good standing in his community, the magistrate said. He is unemployed and the father of three children.

Fireman Charges Wife Deserted Him

City Fireman Edward L. Jones, 3011 Brunot street, today won a divorce decree from Maude Jones, North Whitfield street. He charged desertion. Craddock Jones, father of the plaintiff, testified before Judge George V. Moore that Mrs. Jones had said to him:

"I got somebody I like better."

PITT IN UPROAR OVER ELECTION

Spring campus elections at the University of Pittsburgh were in a turmoil today.

Two candidates for Student Council were found to be ineligibly certified, and it is rumored that six fraternities have formed a coalition to control the next Friday's election.

Charles Hartwig and Arnold Suba, both juniors, were found ineligible as council nominees, when it was discovered that the Student Council constitution provides that such representatives must be elected in the second semester of their sophomore year. Walter Rome, acting dean of men, declared:

"It's just the annual spring fight between the Pitt News and members of Student Council."

14 Fire Alarms Ring During Night, 5 False

City firemen spent a sleepless night as they answered 14 alarms of fire, most of them false, from 7 o'clock last night until 4:30 a. m. today. Seven alarms were sounded from midnight until 4:30 a. m. Five were false.

Fred Douglass, 36, Negro, of 1817 Webster avenue, was arrested by Fire Capt. George Schettler, of No. 3 Engine Company, suspected of turning in a false alarm at Logan street and Webster avenue.

Millvale Woman Not Swayed by Letter Appeals

Many mothers in the Pittsburgh area in letters to Mrs. Mary Lesic, Millvale, pleaded today that she return her ailing 3-year-old son to the Children's Hospital for life-saving medical care.

Sentiment shown by their letters leaves no doubt that they are unanimously in favor of the stand taken by the doctors, Humane Society agents and Juvenile Court officials. Some of the mothers encouraged Mrs. Lesic by telling of their own experiences with their ill children.

Mrs. Margaret Altman, of Irwin, Pa., writes about her son. Like Billy Lesic, he was stricken with tuberculosis of the spine. Mrs. Altman writes:

"I have a son of my own that had the same thing wrong with him, except my boy was a great deal worse than your son. My boy didn't walk a step until he was 3½ years old.

"The Red Cross and Social Service took my boy to the hospital. He was put on a frame like they want to put your boy on. He was on the frame, as far as I can remember, for a year and a half.

"Those frames will not hurt him. My boy is now 14 years old and his back is as straight as mine. He is healthy and goes to school every day. He puts the coal and wood in and goes to the store. He is growing and looks good."

Mrs. Lesic reads the letters from beginning to end with keen in-

GOLFERS GIVEN REBATE HOPE

Annual golf permits for the county parks will remain at the increased rate of $20 if County Commissioners C. M. Barr and C. C. McGovern have their way, it was indicated today following the hearing yesterday, when golfers asked the Commissioners to reconsider.

The rates were jumped from $10 to $20 a few weeks ago when the Commissioners announced there was a $20,000 deficit last year and that the courses must "pay their own way."

Chairman McGovern told the golfers yesterday the $20 fee will stay for the present, but if in the middle of the golf season it was indicated there would be a surplus, some refund could be made to permit holders.

Faculty Gets Garden To Ease Pay Cuts

'FLY-BY-NIGHT' WHOLESALERS SCORED
Retailers Say They Are Forced to Buy From Middleman

Western Pennsylvania restaurant owners were prepared today to appeal to brewers to keep the beer supply from the hands of racketeers.

Th resolution was passed last night at a special meeting of the Restaurant Association of Western Pennsylvania in the William Penn Hotel.

The association also appealed to small restaurant owners to aid in the fight to keep the distribution and dispension of brew on a high standard.

A discussion of beer racketeering predominated at the business session. The brewers will be asked by the association to refrain from selling wholesale lots of brew for resale at an increase in price.

RACKETEERS ACTIVE

That racket men in practically every section of the city were striving to corner the beer supply was charged at the meeting.

A checkup of the present method of distribution indicated that most retailers were being forced to patronize district wholesalers, who appeared to be having no trouble getting beer in large lots from breweries.

Some small storekeepers complained that much of the time they are unable to get beer, although neighboring proprietors "who know the right people" are furnished a constant supply. The general price being quoted retailers is $1.80 a case. The brewery price is $1.40.

The existing wholesalers, retailers complain, operate mostly on a "fly by night system," renting vacant storerooms and operating for cash without evidence of permanency.

BEER HIGHJACKED

Ros L. Gammon, manager of Gammon's restaurant, who was elected president of the association, declared that several cases of beer consigned to his restaurants had been hi-jacked. The hi-jackers, he said, paid for the cases at the market price, but their action brought a shortage of beer to his eating houses.

Harry Dipple and Pierce Johnson, of Monessen, were elected vice presidents; Russell H. Jennings, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Bettel Johnson, E. L. Lynn, H. S. Dye, Ralph T. Connors, A. W. Watherwax, B. C. Taylor, M. V. Morrissey and J. Till, directors.

SEEK DODGERS OF BEER TAX

Internal revenue authorities here on May 1 will start a roundup of retailers and wholesalers of 3.2 beer who have not paid government accupational taxes.

Instructions to seek out those who have not complied with the law were received from Washington by D. B. Heiner, collector of internal revenue in this district.

Although more than 7,000 persons have obtained retail and wholesale permits to handle the new brew there are many others, internal revenue authorities believe, who are evading the taxes. In the drive Collector Heiner will use all available deputy collectors to ferret out tax evaders.

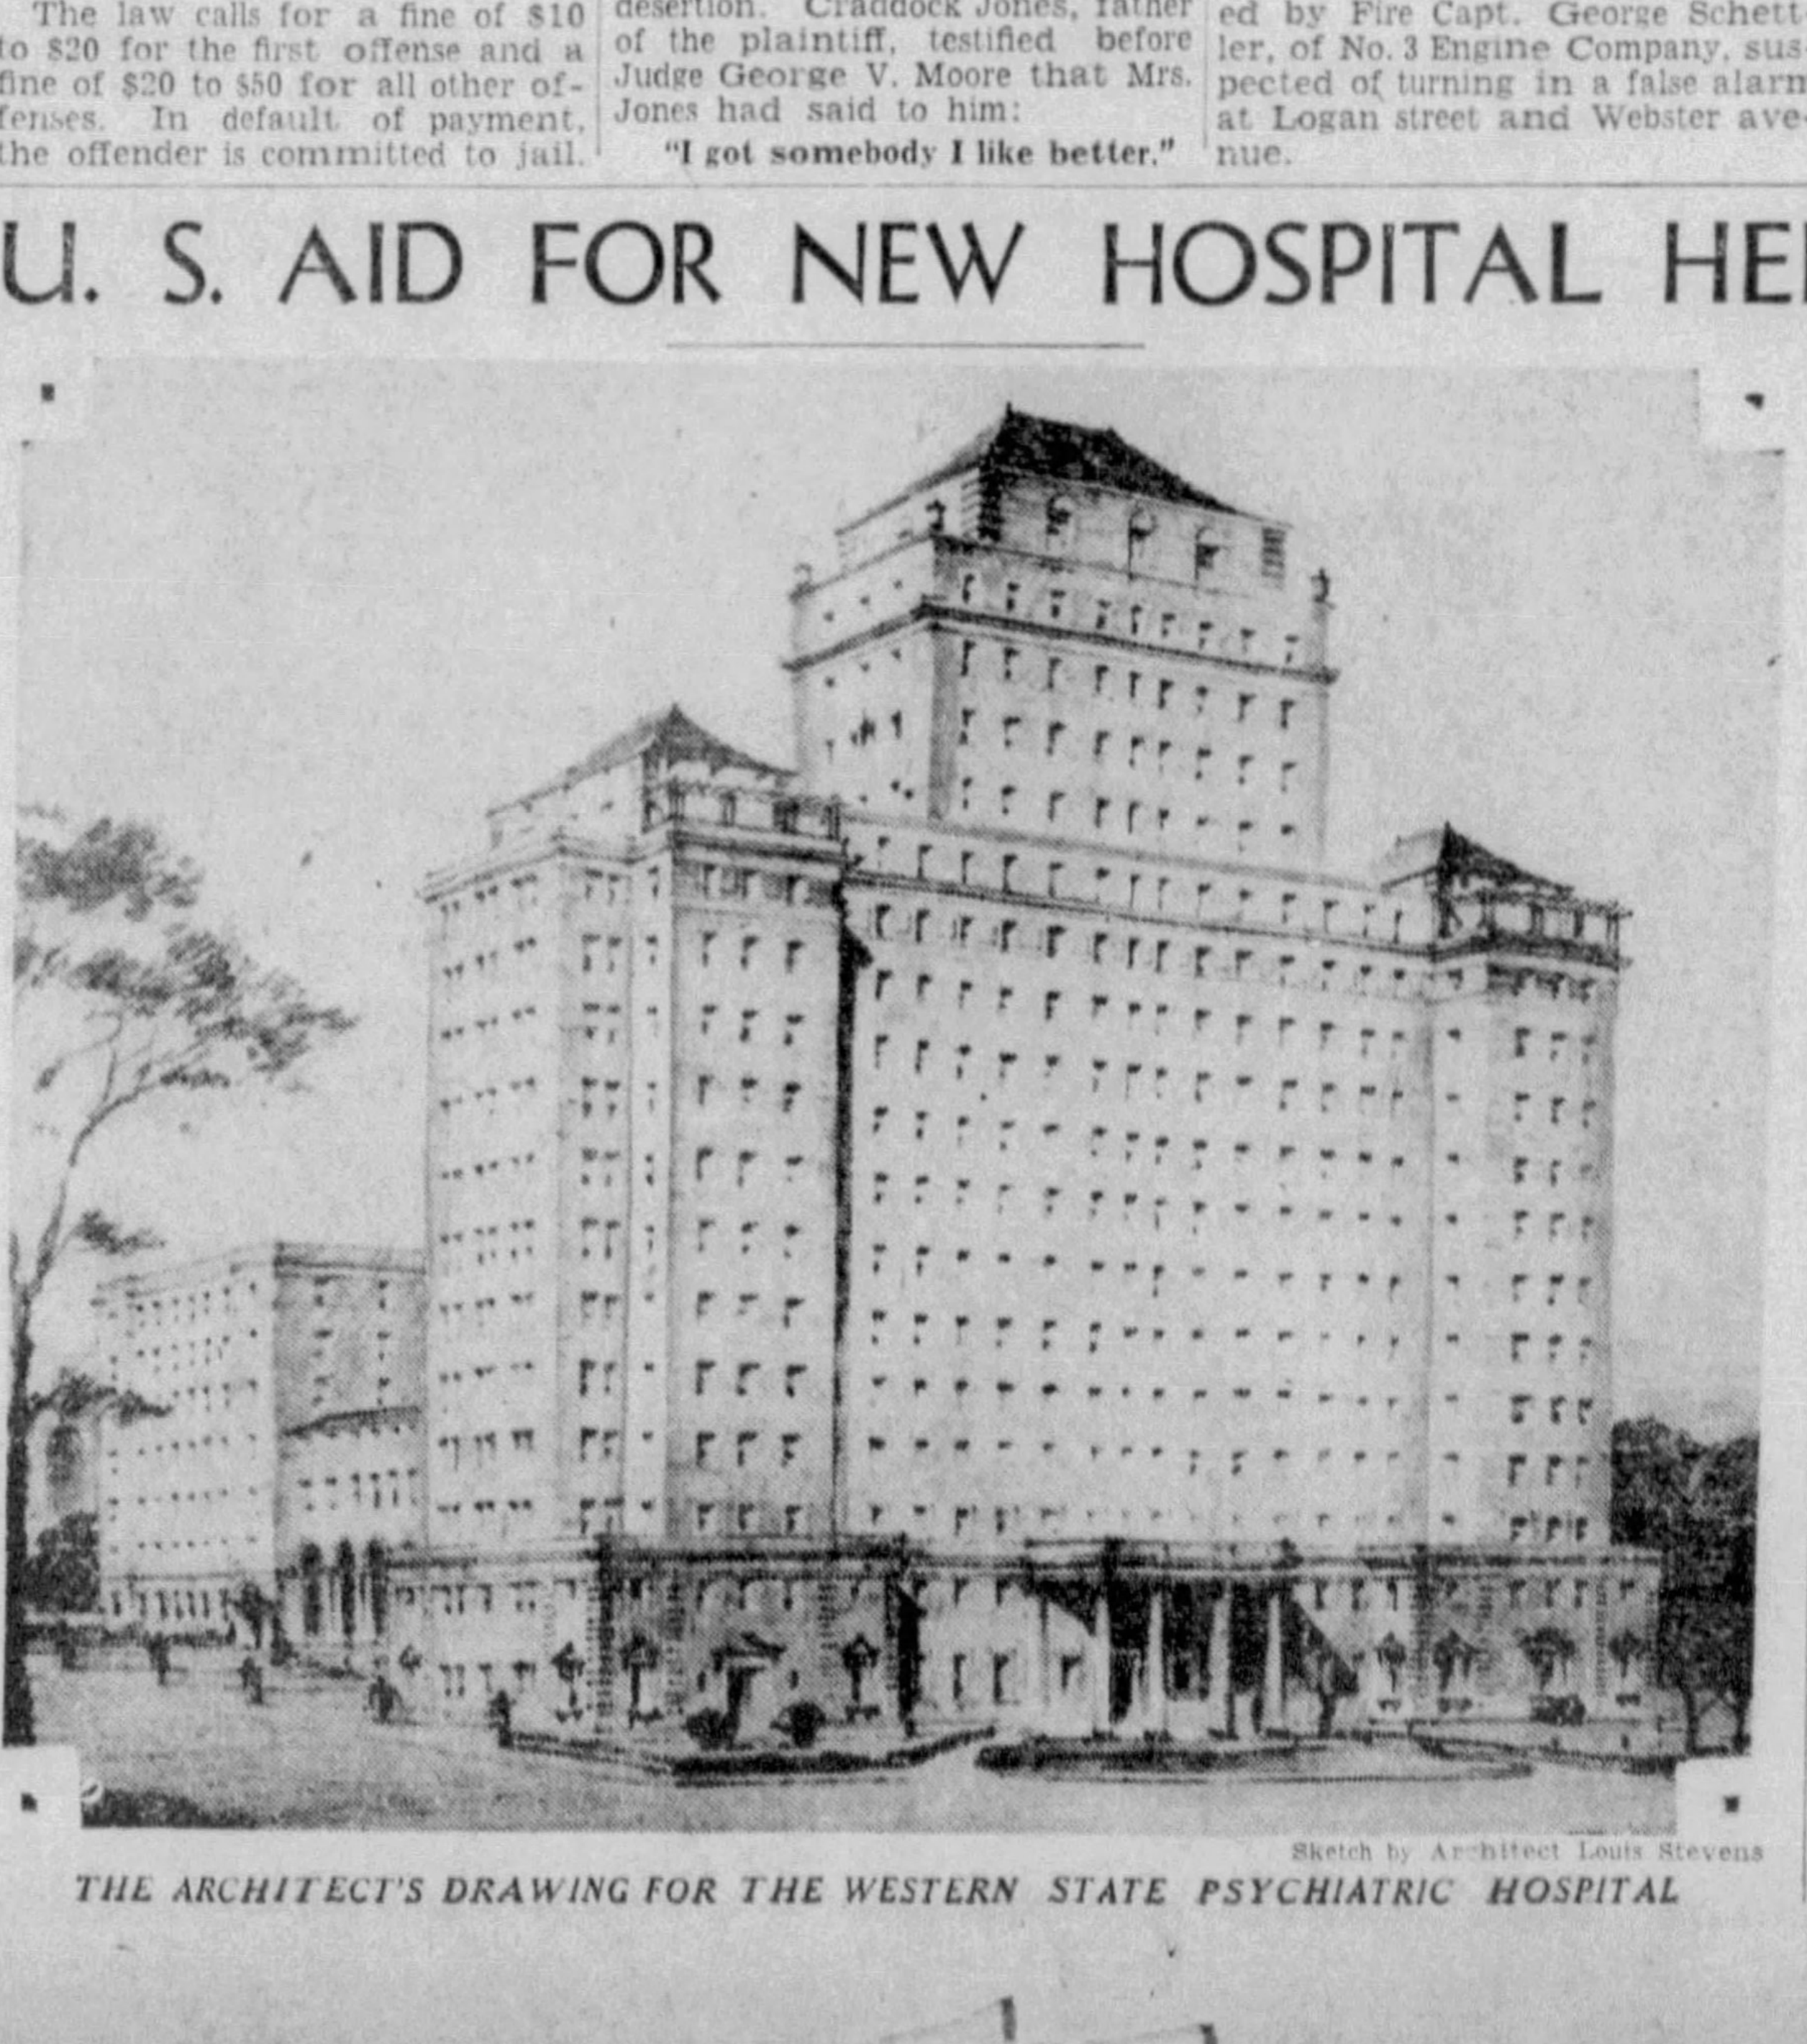
Under the new revenue act retail dealers must pay $20 a year and wholesale dealers $50 a year for permits to sell beer. The revenue act provides for additional taxation and penalties for those not paying occupational taxes and they may also be prosecuted criminally for evasion of the taxes.

Confiscated Stills Stolen; 3 Men Held

A janitor accused of stealing confiscated stills from the Courthouse and two other Negroes were held for court on charges of larceny and violation of the Snyder act at hearings last night before Justice of the Peace Francis V. Sabino, of Rankin.

James Wise, Courthouse janitory, and J. Alonzo Eubank, of 346 Fifth street, Rankin, were held on larceny charges after a still allegedly removed from the Courthouse was found in operation in Rankin. John Rice, of 328 Second street, alleged operator, was charged with violation of the Snyder act.

U. S. AID FOR NEW HOSPITAL HERE SOUGHT



Sketch by Architect Louis Stevens

THE ARCHITECT'S DRAWING FOR THE WESTERN STATE PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITAL

Ground in Oakland For Institution Given by Pitt

An effort to get federal aid for the proposed Western State Psychiatric Hospital is being made by E. N. Hunting, of Pittsburgh, through the National Committee for Trade Recovery.

Ground for the hospital at the north corner of O'Hara and DeSoto streets, Oakland, has been deeded by the University of Pittsburgh to the state.

It was originally planned to build the hospital with state funds. The cost is estimated at $2,000,000. No money, aside from planning costs, has yet been made available from that source.

The new hospital is planned as a clinic for mental ills in their early stages. It would not be a place for detention, but physicians there would work for complete cures and the restoration of the patient to society.

The building, planned by a Pittsburgh architect, Louis Stevens, would be an 18-story stone and steel structure in Italian architecture. It would be designed to care for 200 patients, and would be in a large part self-supporting.

The construction of the hospital would also remove a block of old brick houses, the condition of which has brought complaint to the Pittsburgh Housing Association.

JUDGE FOSTER, 'BUCK PRIVATE' IN WAR, DIES

Funeral services were being arranged today for Judge D. Paulson Foster, of County Court, who died late yesterday at his home, Washington avenue, Carnegie. He became ill several months ago when stricken by influenza, and although he rallied for a time, soon contracted pleurisy. His condition gradually became more serious and several days ago he lapsed into semi-consciousness.

County Court today, in respect to the memory of Judge Foster, adjourned until Monday.

Judge Foster attracted wide attention through his activities in the Juvenile Court branch when he was assigned to that bench in his first elected term. The jurist, a buck private in the Eightieth Division, A. E. F., served on the bench from January 8, 1920, until his death.

POLLED HUGE VOTE

He was appointed by Gov. William C. Sproul to serve the uncompleted term of Judge James B. Drew, who had been elected to the Common Pleas Court. At that time he was the youngest jurist then presiding in any Pennsylvania Court of Record. His appointment surprised his war-time buddies, and Judge Foster received their unanimous support at the polls for at the fall election in 1921 he was returned a winner with 184,500 votes, possibly the largest vote ever cast for a judge in the county up to that time.

Judge Foster had been active in veterans' affairs. He was commander of the General Lloyd M. Brett Post, V. F. W., in 1926 and the following year was chosen commander of the Eightieth Division Veterans' Association. He was a member of the Albert G. Baker Post, V. F. W., and was one of the organizers and post commander in 1919 of Carnegie Post No. 82, American Legion.

LIVED WITH PARENTS

Judge Foster never married. He was born May 29, 1887, and lived with his parents, C. A. and Elizabeth P. Foster, at 537 Washington avenue, Carnegie. He attended the public schools of Carnegie, graduating subsequently from Shady Side Academy and Princeton University.

He studied law in the offices of Sterrett and Acheson and was graduated from the law department of the University of Pittsburgh in 1915, at which time he was admitted to the Allegheny County bar. He engaged in a general practice until April, 1918, when he enlisted in C Company, 320th Infantry, and was later transferred to the 305th Signal Battalion, Eightieth Division, for the duration of the war.

He was proud of the significance that he had served throughout the war as a buck private. At reunions and veterans' affairs he was always the popular and genial individual he had been in the ranks even after he had ascended to the judgeship.

MAN SHOT DEAD ON 'DARE'

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—While his wife sat in an adjoining room, James Tobin, 47-year-old Buck Run, Pa., hotel owner and former brewery proprietor, was shot and killed in what authorities described as a jesting dare.

Cyril Mahoney, 25, was given a preliminary hearing on a charge of homicide.

Authorities said Tobin was in the hotel kitchen with Mahoney and former City Detective David Davis. After an argument, Tobin went to his room and obtained the pistol.

Returning to the kitchen, he thrust it, butt forward, at Mahoney and dared the latter to shoot him, police said. Davis told authorities he left the room to get Mrs. Tobin, believing she would be able to obtain the pistol from her husband.

As he stepped out, he heard a shot and, turning, saw Tobin sink to the floor.

F. R. TO WATCH FOREIGN TRADE MEET HERE

The twentieth National Foreign Trade Convention to be held here next week attained added significance today by virtue of President Roosevelt's action in taking the United States off the gold standard.

Gardner L. Harding, secretary of the National Foreign Trade Council, said the administration at Washington will follow the happenings here closely to obtain the views of men interested in foreign trade.

The viewpoints of business, finance and industry on recent developments in the economic affairs of the country were expected to be presented at an opportune time.

BOON TO TRADE

Commenting on the United States' departure from the gold standard, Gardner said:

"It will be a boon to export trade. It will wipe out the advantage in exporting held by other countries that have been off the gold standard."

Harding arrived here from New York yesterday to make final arrangements for the convention. Eugene P. Thomas, president of the National Foreign Trade Council, was expected today. Both will remain here until the conclusion of the convention next Friday.

Leading economists and business men will discuss national and international economic and trade problems. The meeting will open Wednesday morning in the William Penn Hotel with James A. Farrell, chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, presiding.

FARRELL TO SPEAK

Farrell will speak on "The World Trade Outlook." Other prominent speakers will discuss prospects for the forthcoming International Economic and Monetary Conference, international war debts, government credit aid for export trade, and many other questions relating to foreign trade.

Foreign delegates and observers will be present. Gardner said that among the delegates will be representatives of British railway interests. Foreign officials include Eric Louw, minister to the United States from the Union of South Africa, and D. M. Dow, official secretary for Australia in the United States.

COOKING SCHOOL DRAWS WOMEN

Many women's organizations were listed to attend the Free Cooking School at the food show in Motor Square Garden this afternoon.

Among the groups are Parent-Teachers' Association, Homewood Baptist Church, Philathea Bible Class of the First M. E. Church, Millvale; Brookline Women's Club, Uplift Sunday School Class of Mt. Washington M. E. Church, Ames M. E. Church, Hazelwood; the Minnie George Rebecca Lodge and the Girl Scouts of Allegheny County.

Members of the cast of "When Ladies Meet," showing at the Nixon this week, visited the Women's Exchange booth yesterday. Miss Selena Royle, well known for philanthropic work among stage women, commended Mrs. Franklin C. Irish and Mrs. W. B. Trainer on their methods of aiding needy women to help themselves.

The big feature of the food show tomorrow night will be the public wedding at 9 p. m. A wedding ring will be presented by Max Unger, who also will distribute rings to children of former food show couples.

Husbands, Wives To Be Studied In College

SEATTLE, April 21.—(AP.)—Prof. E. R. Guthrie, of the University of Washington, explained what a new course, "the study of the family," will do. He said:

"The class will put husbands and wives, children and parents, under close psychological scrutiny to discover sources of strained relations and friction points leading to unhappiness in family life."

Woman, Attorney Cleared in Court

Attorney A. D. P. Miller and Mrs. W. M. Sheridan, wife of a bank secretary, stood cleared today of a morality charge on which they were tried before Judge W. Heber Dithrich. The jury returned a verdict of acquittal yesterday.

Sheridan was ordered to pay the costs of the case.

terest. She has kept a few of them, while others she has torn to bits.

Her only comment after reading them is:

"I'm going to take care of my boy at home. I'm not going to let him go back to the hospital."

The Rev. Albert Zagar, of St. Nicholas' Church, Millvale, said today that he is going to make a new appeal to Mrs. Lesic. Father Zagar, who is the family's pastor, declared:

"It's best that Mrs. Lesic sends her boy back to the hospital, and that is exactly what I am going to tell her. I know she will change her mind."

Humane Society agents were marking time today in the case. Unless the Lesic parents change their minds, the case will be heard in Juvenile Court Wednesday. They are hoping that the court will follow the example at New York courts in ordering treatment for 2-year-old Helen Vasco.

ESTELLE DENIES PINING FOR JACK

LOS ANGELES, April 21—(Universal.)—Estelle Taylor, the actress, gave a jury in Superior Court a peep into her feelings about Jack Dempsey, her former husband.

She was being cross-examined yesterday by the defense, in Miss Taylor's $150,000 damage suit against Frank Joyce, theatrical agent, and his chauffeur, Noel L. Scott, for injuries she sustained in Joyce's car when it was wrecked against a tree Christmas morning, 1931.

Defense Attorney Gallagher was attempting to show that much of her suffering was due to her broken heart rather than to physical injuries, and so he asked her about Dempsey, from whom she had parted at the time of the accident.

She said:

"Yes, I was naturally nervous when the divorce was in progress, but it isn't that that causes my illness now."

ECONOMISTS HERE FAVOR 5-DAY WEEK

Economists and social workers today approved the spirit of the 30-hour-week bill, now before Congress, while holding out little hope that it would immediately affect Pittsburgh and Allegheny County employment, if enacted.

From the broad viewpoint, only three industrial groups within this area are working their employes more than 30 hours a week, as shown by percentage indexes compiled by the Pittsburgh Business Review.

These are food and kindred products, working slightly more than 71 per cent of man-hours as compared with 1929's average of approximately 48 hours a week; paper and printing, 84.7 per cent, and chemicals and allied products, about 69 per cent.

The total number of man-hours in the country's industry as a whole is just one-third of what it was in 1929, the figures reveal.

STIMULUS SEEN

Dr. Bartow Griffiss, head of the department of economics, Carnegie Institute of Technology, is of the opinion that the bill, considered as a part of the complete Roosevelt relief plan, will serve to accelerate employment after it has once been started on the upgrade.

As a separate factor, he holds, it cannot do much of itself, especially in Pittsburgh, where revival of basic industries depends upon a preliminary pickup in general manufacturing. He said:

> "When you have a pickup from other factors, this measure will cause larger number of men to be employed than would be the case without it."

W. F. Maxwell, head of Welfare Fund, declared the bill should be beneficial to Pittsburgh and the entire county in the event that it maintained a suitable living standard and industry reached the stage when men could be given more than 30 hours a week.

PERCENTAGE GIVEN

The present employment set-up in the county is indicated by the following table giving both the employment percentages and the man-hour percentage for the several branches of industry.

Classification.	Pct. of Emplymt.	Pct. of Man-hrs.
Iron and steel	63.8	28.3
Machinery	51.7	19.3
Electrical apparatus	57.5	20.1
Foundry and machine shops	39.4	17.5

Clay products	45.9	20
Glass products	64.3	41.9
Food and kindred products	84.6	71.7
Paper and printing	76.2	84.7
Chemical and allied products	68.8	68.9
Lumber and allied products	59.5	49.5

CLUB 'SHOT UP' BY CALLES SON

MEXICO CITY, April 21.—(AP.)—The bullet holes in the ceiling of the fashionable night club L'Escargot are the doings of Alfredo Calles.

Patrons of the place, including several Americans, told of it today. Four shots were fired, they said.

It was early yesterday morning. The 24-year-old Alfredo, son of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, Mexico's "Iron Man," had been toying with the gun. Suddenly, according to others in the club, he raised the weapon, pointed it ceilingward, and began to fire.

Young Calles, who was educated in the United States, has been involved in several episodes in Mexico City cabarets in recent months. A report about a year ago, never confirmed, said his father had banished him to a remote hacienda after an affair at the Hotel Regis. The youth, however, returned shortly afterward to Mexico City.

Gen. Calles is now at Ensenada, Lower California.

PROTEST PITT DIPLOMA COST

Fifty "hard-headed seniors" at Pitt today verbally donned sackcloth and ashes and declared themselves martyrs to graduation exercises—if the board of trustees of the university refuses to cut in half the $12.50 fee for diplomas and caps and gowns.

Led by William Edwards, of Versailles, a group of seniors met in front of Thaw Hall to protest what they term "exorbitant" graduation fees. Edwards pointed his finger toward Carnegie Tech and its $6.50 fee and asked:

> "Why not for Pitt? If we can't change the graduation fees, we'll go to commencement as martyrs, but we'll go."

Cheers greeted this declaration and the meeting appointed Edwards, Saul Spiegel and Sophie Ryesky to interview the board of trustees.

Munhall Vote Meet To Hear Attorney

Attorney Alexander P. Lindsay, chairman of the Pennsylvania Conference on Election Laws, will discuss proposed changes in Pennsylvania election laws at a meeting in the McCrea Building, Munhall, at 8 o'clock tonight. Joseph Moore, president of the West Plan Civic Club, which sponsors the meeting, will preside.

Falls From Truck, Youth in Hospital

John Kasmirski, 16, of 3018 Paulona street, was injured today when he fell off the back of a truck on which he and a companion had "hitched" a ride. He was taken to West Penn Hospital by police where his injuries were said to be slight.

'Iron Man' of Steel In 'Believe It or Not'

LEO E. RANSIL.

Structural Worker, Minus Leg, Drawn By Ripley

"Believe it or not"—

Ripley's found in Pittsburgh another subject for his world famous cartoon. His name is Leo E. Ransil.

Ransil has only one leg.

Ransil's a structural iron worker. He's a laborer, a millwright, craneman, steam engineer and carpenter, who measures 6 feet 4. Just now he's a "straw boss" at South Park.

Anywhere he can find a foothold, there Ransil's willing to go, if it means work and his daily pay. From foundation work for river bridges to cable work on the highest span, he is qualified.

And wherever you find him, he's generally a foreman or an assistant foreman—a hard-bitten, weather-beaten man in charge of men—and only a steel man can hold the meanest job in the heavy construction game.

He lives at 2717 Kingwood street. He lost his leg in a steel mill in 1906. He was then—at the age of 17—an assistant millwright.

Later he was to work on Bellevue's Jack's Run bridge and Knoxville's John P. Moore Memorial bridge. He worked on the Montour Railroad construction and in Hog Island during the war. And today he says:

> "Work? I'm not afraid to tackle anything. I don't care how tough it is."

So Ripley found this mountain of a man and today the Sun-Telegraph brings Ransil to you as the world-famous cartoonist sees him.

8 OFFICERS GET FOREST POSTS

With camps scheduled to open Tuesday at five points in the Allegheny National Forest, eight Pittsburgh district reserve officers will report Sunday for Reforestation Army service, according to orders being issued today from the Third Corps Area at Baltimore.

Officers to be ordered to duty include Capts. James Hood Miller, president of the Reserve Officers' Association, Pittsburgh Branch; Henry A. Saubrey, of Rector; Daniel B. Benscoler, Pittsburgh, and Stanley M. Shindel, Butler; first lieuts. Malcolm F. Reed and Edward L. Schmidt, both of Pittsburgh, and Alexander M. Stewart, Altoona, and second lieut. Howard J. Stevens, Pittsburgh.

They all volunteered for six-month service at the 99th Division Reserve Officers headquarters here.

One officer said the only difference between the forest camps and military camps is that the men will not salute and "will use forestry tools instead of guns."

GETS 3 MONTHS FOR WEAK BEER

If you ask Peter F. Greno what he thinks of the new beer, Peter probably would shake his head and mutter; Peter has his troubles with the old beer.

In fact, Peter today was sentenced to three months in jail for having a barrel of beer which isn't as strong as the legal stuff.

The beer Greno was convicted of having in his place at 701 East Ohio street last year is less than 3.2.

Federal Judge Nelson McVicar not only gave him a jail sentence but also fined him $500.

Greno was released pending an appeal.

Dress Suit Stolen From Doctor's Auto

A dress suit and an army shirt valued at $30 was stolen from the automobile of Dr. Carl Kutchka, of 510 Oakmont avenue, Oakmont, last night while it was parked in Penn avenue, near Stanwix street, he reported to police.

Sandy, 'All Dressed Up,' Hit of Dog Show

Bedecked in a new collar with a green bow, his coat glistening from a good scrub, "Sandy," the mongrel whose life was saved by plans to appeal to Superior Court, easily holds the spotlight in Gimbels Family Dog Show.

The show, a feature of the observance of "Be Kind to Animals Week" under auspices of the Animal Rescue League and the Humane Society, is attracting hundreds of persons to the tenth floor of Gimbels.

Many of "Sandy's" friends failed to recognize him in his fancy garb. Originally condemned to die for biting a child, "Sandy," owned by Frank Sechan, of Elder street, East Pittsburgh, was granted a reprieve by preparations for an appeal.

Many other dogs, from mutts to pedigreed chows, pekinese and other breeds are on exhibition. Tomorrow the Humane Society will present an award to "Spider" Boyle, a 6-month-old police dog, who saved a family in a burning home two months ago.

The show hours today and tomorrow are from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Numerous awards will be made.

Diet Didn't Do This!

HAPPY little girl, just bursting with pep, and she has never tasted a "tonic!"

Every child's stomach, liver, and bowels need stimulating at times, but give children something you know all about.

Follow the advice of that famous family physician who gave the world Syrup Pepsin. Stimulate the body's vital organs. Dr. Caldwell's prescription of pure pepsin, active senna, and fresh herbs is a mild stimulant that keeps the system from getting sluggish.

If your youngsters don't do well at school, don't play as hard or eat as well as other children do, begin this evening with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This gentle stimulant will soon right things! The bowels will move with better regularity and thoroughness. There won't be so many sick spells or colds. You'll find it just as wonderful for adults, too, in larger spoonfuls!

Get some Syrup Pepsin; protect your household from those bilious days, frequent headaches, and that sluggish state of half-health that means the bowels need stimulating. Keep this preparation in the home to use instead of harsh cathartics that cause chronic constipation if taken too often. You can always get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store; they have it all ready in big bottles.

MEDIUM TURNS HUNT FOR WAR VET HERE

A spiritualistic medium's advice turned the eight-year search for Charles Blough, 35, shell-shocked veteran of the Canadian army, to Pittsburgh today.

Informed by the spiritualist that his missing son is ill in a Pittsburgh hospital, L. M. Blough, of St. Thomas, Ontario, came here last night and enlisted the aid of city detectives in the search. He was accompanied by a younger son, Clarence. The mother of the missing man is critically ill and is calling for her missing son, Blough told detectives.

In their long search, members of the family have visited nearly every principal city from coast to coast, but have found no trace of him. The missing veteran last was heard from in Chicago.

The elder Blough told detectives he visited the spiritualist in his home city Wednesday night.

Detectives today were to accompany the father and brother to all hospitals and charitable institutions in the city. Belief that the veteran was suffering from loss of memory was expressed by his father.

HERO'S BURIAL FOR WAR NURSE

Draped in the colors of her country, in whose service she had died, the body of Katherine Mae Joyce, Pittsburgh World War nurse, was being transported by auto to Washington today.

Exhumed this morning in the United Cemeteries, its resting place since 1921, the body will be given final burial with military honors in Arlington Cemetery tomorrow.

Members of Katherine Mae Joyce Post No. 50, American Legion, will meet the body outside of Washington tomorrow. A police escort will be provided at the city limits.

Katherine Mae Joyce, only Pittsburgh nurse to die in France, had received a citation for bravery under long range shelling.

Borich Wins Delay In Deportation Action

Frank Borich, national secretary of the National Miners' Union, today won a delay in the deportation proceedings brought against him by the government. Borich was allowed an appeal from a decree of Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, who had upheld the Department of Labor's deportation order. The government accuses Borich of radical activities.

Kills Estranged Wife Then Tries Suicide

ZANESVILLE, O., April 21.—(INS.)—Climaxing a six-year-old estrangement, Alva Denbow, 51, today shot and killed his wife, Ada, 48, and then attempted suicide by shooting himself twice.

The tragedy took place in the home of Mrs. Ruth Toher, a daughter of the couple, where they had been living since last fall in an effort to effect a reconciliation, it was said.

Two Verona Club Women Run One of County's Two Milk Stations

By MRS. CHARLES M. BREGG

Two members of the Verona Woman's Club and the Verona Relief Association are conducting one of the only two milk stations in Allegheny County, Under auspices of the Relief Association, its president, Mrs. H. C. Wolfe, and Mrs. T. P. Hubbard distribute 187 state furnished quarts of milk daily to 235 pre-school children.

From 9 until 9:30 o'clock each morning except Saturday in a vacant building provided through the courtesy of Mrs. Joseph Katz, these two busy women conduct their splendid work from which such rich rewards have been reaped.

Steady gains in the weight of the children have been noted in every instance. One child who was 19 pounds underweight when the station was opened in December is now only seven pounds below normal. Another who formerly weighed 11 pounds too little has gained until he is only two pounds under weight. In order that the children may have their milk every day in the week a double portion is given out on Saturday.

Charges Women Exploit Child Domestics

Bridge playing women are more guilty than any other group of exploitating children in domestic service, James E. Sidel, of the National Child Labor Association, told the Western Pennsylvania Legislative Council yesterday at its third seminar.

Women are inconsistent when they employ girls for an inadequate wage, disregard their comfort and then criticize manufacturers for using child labor, he stated.

Mr. Sidel told of one woman who expected the young girl she employed in her home to sleep on a board across the bathtub and of another who insisted that the girl be of a certain height, so her feet would not scratch the paint on the wall as she lay on the short cot provided for her.

He said Pennsylvania has 12,000 children under 16 working from 40 to 60 hours for $2 to $4 a week.

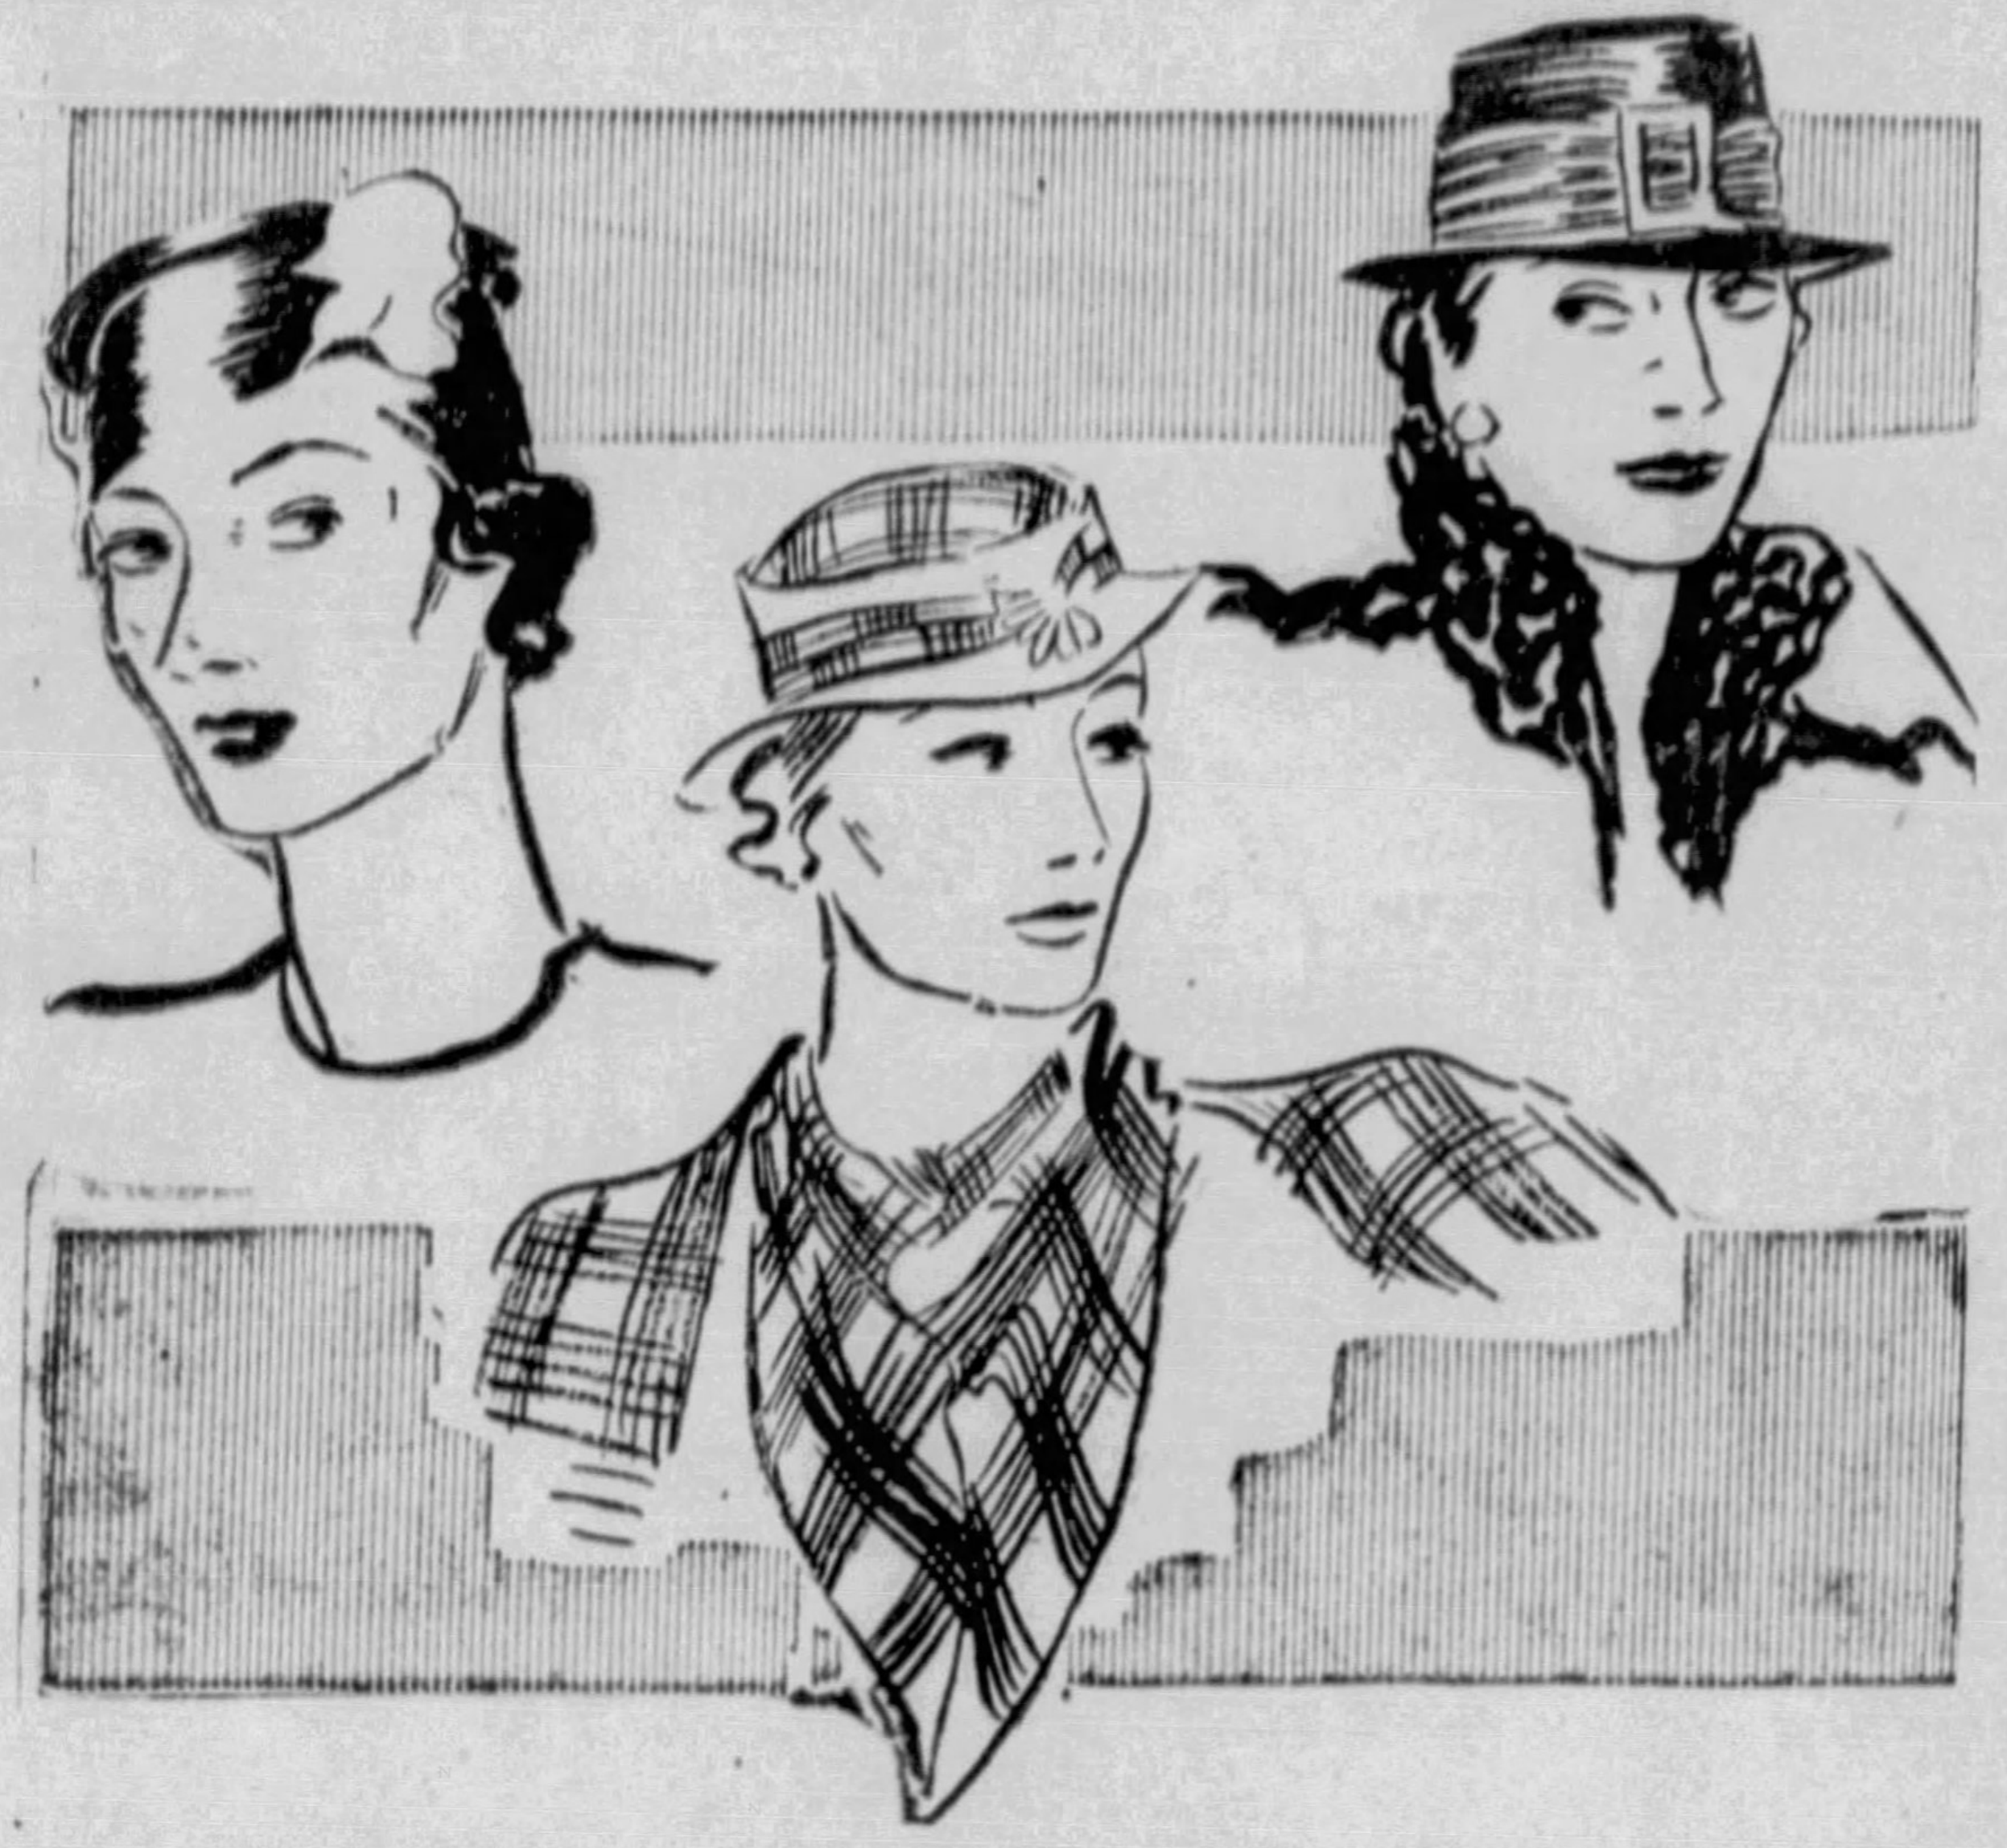
HATS ARE ASCENDING IN ALL IMPORTANT SPRING MODELS



IT'S NO LONGER news that hats are rising rapidly. High hats are in every shop window, on every smart woman you see. They've really come to stay, what's more, important milliners all report that their customers, after recovering from the initial shock, are taking to the new silhouette like ducks to water. If you're little, they make you look more important; if you're tall, they add dignity. It's silly to think they can make you older. It's all in the way you do your hair and put them on. You can be just as coquettish in a fez as ever you were in a beret and a lot more original looking.

* * *

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Ronald Reveals That Stranger Was Charles Owen

Ronald's despairing cry concerning Marion and his query about his sister brought a quick response. Carolyn flung herself across the space separating them and clasped him wildly around the neck.

"Oh! Ron, darling! I'm here," she told him. "But can't you find Marion?"

Her brother kissed her fondly.

"Thank God you're safe, Carol!" he said fervently. "I knew that devil hadn't taken two of you, and of course it was Marion he wanted. He wouldn't bother you. But I didn't know what those other fiends might have done to you, and I couldn't go away until I knew what had happened to you. Oh, Caro, little sister; thank God, thank God for you! Kiss me, darling, and then let me go!"

The boy's voice was choked, raucous, and I knew how terrific must have been his struggle between the two courses open to him, that of determining Marion's fate or his sister's. He freed himself of her clinging arms, for she had broken out again into hysterical sobbing, and spoke to Mary, standing nearest him.

"Take her, Mary, please," he said huskily, and I saw him poise himself for running as Mary swept Carolyn into her arms. But my father stepped in front of him and put his hands upon the boy's shoulders.

"You shall go in a minute, lad," he said, "but I must know what has happened first. Where is Brown, and whom do you mean by the devil who has taken Marion?"

NAMES OWEN

For a second I thought that Ronald meant to throw my father's hands from his shoulders and dash across the glade. Then his stiffened body relaxed into submission.

"Brown is following that devil Owen as near as he dares," he said. "He told me that if I came through here, and out the opposite entrance, then turned to the right and kept straight on, I would come out on the trail down which he is following Owen. Please let me go, sir!"

"Just a few more seconds, son," my father said with patient kindness, but inexorably. "We must understand this. How do you know that Owen has Marion, and how has he taken her down the mountain? Is he the man on horseback?"

"Yes, Mr. Spencer, he is."

"He is holding Marion on the horse?"

"Yes, sir, that's what the man said who was told off to watch the horse."

"Why didn't he prevent it? What sort of man did they put in such a post?" My father's voice was suddenly grim and terrible.

"It wasn't his fault, sir. He saw a man with a mask over his face go in the kitchen door and come out a little bit later with a woman, all tied up and with a scarf or something over her mouth. There were three other men with them, and the man Mr. Underwood had posted to watch the horseman knew that he couldn't do anything against all of them, so he thought he'd better keep under cover and find out as much as he could to tell us."

RECOGNIZED BY MARION

"He was quite right," my father approved. "Go on."

"He said the man with the mask on his face got on the horse, and the other three men handed the woman up to him. But as they did it she got a hand free some way, and—you know how quick Marion is—she managed to slip the scarf over her mouth and snatch the mask away from his face almost at once.

"The man said, she said, 'Charles Owen! You beast!' and then she screamed, but somebody clapped a hand over her mouth and she never got a chance to scream again.

"When they'd tied her up again, Owen went on up the trail and the other three men waited a little, and then the two women came out and they scattered down the mountain.

"The man on watch waited only to be sure the others were gone before starting over here. Before he could start the noise of the attack began and he didn't dare move for fear of interfering with that. So, when we found him, we'd lost quite a bit of time, but he was able to tell Brown which trail Owen had taken.

"That's all I know, sir. Now, will you let me go?"

"Yes," my father said instantly, and I sprang to Ronald's side.

"I'm going with you, Ronald," I said.

HEN MOTHERS FOX TERRIERS

MARSHALLVILLE, Ga., April 21.—(AP.)—A hen deprived of her brood is mothering a litter of five fox terrier puppies at the home of Henry A. Lee.

The chicks were hatched about the same time the puppies were born. Lee took the chicks from the hen and only the pups responded when she clucked to get them back.

So the hen adopted the dogs and apparently intends to keep them. She warms them under her wings and refuses to let anyone approach. When she leaves the nest, the real mother of the pups takes charge, but she's driven away again when the hen returns.

Voters Ask Equality For Two Districts

A petition of voters of the First and Second Districts of the Second Ward of Harrison Township, to have the precinct boundaries changed to equalize the districts has been filed in Quarter Sessions Court. The First District now has 566 voters and the Second 237 voters. The case will be heard May 3.

'WITCH DOCTORS' HIS RIVALS

LOS ANGELES, April 21.—(AP.)—Two years of dental practice in the Belgian Congo, in which he competed with witch doctors who gouge out the teeth of natives with nails, has convinced Dr. F. C. Schrman, Northwestern University graduate and resident of Oak Park, Ill., that he should go into the contracting business in California.

Dr. Scherman, his wife, who is a graduate nurse, and their two children returned here yesterday on the Taiyo Maru. Scherman has completed his service with the African inland mission.

Dr. Scherman said:

"Knocked out front teeth are a sign of beauty in that land. I was fortunate in being spared the ordeal of working on the 'duck bill' women."

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

TREASURE CHEST CAKE—1 large orange, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 cup walnuts, ½ cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 cups flour, ¾ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon each salt, cinnamon, allspice and cloves, 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk.

Squeeze juice from 1 orange and remove white from peel. Put orange peel, raisins and walnut meats through coarse knife of food grinder. Add orange juice to ground fruits and nuts. Cream shortening, add sugar and cream thoroughly. Add well-beaten egg. Sift flour once before measuring. Sift flour, soda, baking powder, salt and spices together several times and add alternately with milk to the creamed mixture. Then add ¾ of the fruit and nut mixture. Bake in 2 bread loaf pans lined with greased wrapping paper and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) for 35 minutes.

* * *

FROSTING—3 cups confectioner's sugar, 4 tablespoons top milk or cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, remaining ¼ of the fruit and nut mixture, granted rind of one orange, blend cream and vanilla into sugar, add fruit and nut mixture, orange rind; spread over cooled cake.

* * *

SALT RISING BREAD—1 cup milk 1½ cups scalding water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1 cup cornmeal (scant).

Mix in order given, add enough flour to make thick batter. Place in double boiler and keep at even temperature until sponge doubles its size.

4 quarts flour, shortening, size of egg; 1 pint warm water or milk, ¾ tablespoon salt.

Make a cell in center of flour, add the rest of the ingredients, together with the sponge previously made. Work dough for about 10 minutes. Shape into loaves and allow to rise until double its bulk. Bake in moderate oven, 350 to 375 degrees, for 45 minutes.

* * *

CORNED BEEF AND CABBAGE—2½ pounds corned beef (brisket cut), 2 pounds cabbage, 4 good sized potatoes.

Corned beef should be cooked very slowly in plenty of water. After boiling ½ hour, the first water may be poured off if the meat is very salty. Cook until nearly done, then add the cabbage and potato cut in half and cook until tender, keeping the kettle uncovered after cabbage has been added. Serve on large platter with cabbage in center and potatoes around the edge and slices of corned beef on top of cabbage.

* * *

ASPARAGUS SHORTCAKE—2½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup shortening, sweet milk, butter, 1 large bunch asparagus, ¼ cup each, butter and flour ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup butter (another), 2 hard cooked eggs, asparagus liquid.

Sift together, first mentioned flour, salt and baking powder. Work in the shortening and mix to a dough with milk. Knead slightly and roll to fit a layer cake pan. Bake about 20 minutes. Split the cake and spread each half with butter. Have the tender portion of asparagus cut in inch lengths cooked tender. Make a

Doughnuts Have Important Nutritive Elements

Proteins, Fats and Carbohydrates Contained in This Delicious Food. Healthful When Properly Prepared.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

At every time of the year small cakes, such as doughnuts and cookies, appeal to the appetite of child and adult. The other day I was attracted by a demonstration in a bakery shop window. Doughnuts were being made by a new process and as quickly as they were cooked, eager customers purchased them.

Doughnuts, fried cakes and crullers are variously shaped, made of leavened and sweetened dough fried in deep fat. As a youngster, I always enjoyed watching the preparation of doughnuts in our kitchen and my joy was great when I was given an extra doughnut for my share in the proceedings.

Doughnuts, fried cakes and crullers are similar in taste but differ in shape. In certain parts of the country, doughnuts are called "fried cakes," and in other sections they are known as "crullers." Originally, the doughnut was prepared as a small cake, a lump of dough fried in deep fat. Later it was made in various shapes, but the plain round ring-form is most popular.

The word cruller comes from the Dutch word "krullen," which means curled. It is made in many twisted and curled shapes. It is also made in a ring-shape similar to the doughnut.

NUTRITIVE ELEMENTS

Contrary to a common belief, doughnuts are not difficult to digest. Like any other food, if eaten in too large quantities, digestive disturbances and discomfort result. When doughnuts are properly prepared they are dropped into a fat at a high temperature. This congeals the surface at once and prevents the absorption of excessive amounts of fat. Because they tolerate higher temperature, vegetable oils are often used in place of animal fats, such as lard.

The doughnut contains protein, fats and carbohydrates. Because it possesses definite nutritive elements, its popularity should not be discouraged. The fats supply energy for work and play. It contains carbohydrates, which are easily converted into digestible substances. The proteins aid in the growth and repair of tissues and are essential to proper development of the body.

CHEW CAREFULLY

Children should be instructed to chew all their food slowly and carefully. This is particularly important with the doughnut.

Mothers often find it difficult to get children to take the required quart of milk a day. I am sure they will have no difficulty if they offer a doughnut with a glass of milk. It is an excellent combination for mid-afternoon refreshment.

In former years the bustling housewife always baked a large batch of doughnuts. Today she may purchase them from the neighboring bakery and be assured of their wholesomeness and purity.

Home-cooked doughnuts require skill and patience. Soggy doughnuts are unpalatable and difficult to digest. But with patience they can be made light and appealing.

DELICIOUS CEREAL OVERCOMES COMMON CONSTIPATION

ALL-BRAN Provides "Bulk," Vitamin B and Iron

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN meets a basic need of the American dietary. It supplies "bulk"—so helpful in correcting common constipation. In eleven years, ALL-BRAN has won millions of satisfied users.

New tests show added reasons for the success of ALL-BRAN. Laboratory experiments prove that, in addition to "bulk," it provides vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from constipation can be overcome by this pleasant cereal. How much better than using pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN is mild. Its "bulk" is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Another benefit of ALL-BRAN is that it has twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver.

Serve as a cereal, or use in cooking. Tempting recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BAKED CARROTS AND SPINACH—1 egg, beaten, 1½ teaspoons salt, pepper to taste, 2 cups carrots, scraped and chopped. Mix well and pour into greased baking dish. Over this place a mixture made of ½ pound spinach, washed and chopped, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper to taste, 2 tablespoons butter, cut into bits.

Cover baking dish and bake 1 hour in moderate oven. Serve with 1 pint of medium white sauce, as gravy.

* * *

SWEET SOUR FISH—White fish, washed and cleaned and cut up into slices about 1 inch thick, 2 cups vinegar, 6 to 8 gingersnaps, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper ½ lemon, sliced thin, ½ cup seedless raisins, 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons corn syrup.

Mix and let come to a boil. Put fish into this mixture, and let boil 20 to 30 minutes over medium fire, basting often. This should be made in the morning if to be used at night, so that gravy may jell.

* * *

COLD CATSUP—1 peck tomatoes, 6 small onions, 6 cups vinegar, 1 ounce cinnamon, ½ cup salt, or more, according to taste, 2 cups cubed celery, 4 peppers, 2 ounces mustard seed, 2 pounds brown sugar.

Peel tomatoes add squeeze free from juice (juice may be saved and bottled.) Add other ingredients. Do not seal excepting with caps of brown paper. Do not cook. Let ripen about six weeks before using.

* * *

PEPPERS STUFFED WITH MUSHROOMS—6 green peppers, 1 onion, 1 cup chopped cooked ham, ½ cup bread crumbs, 2 sprigs parsley, 2 tablespoons butter, ⅛ ounce can mushrooms.

Melt butter, add onion and cook until tender. Add ham, bread crumbs, chopped parsley, salt, pepper and finely cut mushrooms. Cook five minutes. Cut tops from peppers, remove seeds and cook five minutes. Drain. Fill with cooked mixture and set in baking dish and bake 10 minutes.

Fun of Whoopee Parties Turns Into Fire

Those "hot cha" parties—

Remember when everyone was going to them—drinking, making whoopee, playing around with the other wife's husband or the other husband's wife?

Well, Helen and her husband were part of that Wild Time crowd. Not that Helen wanted to be part. Anything but! But Jim said she must, to be "a good sport," and so she tried.

Then along came Harry.

And now—

But read it for yourself. Perhaps you, too, are paying for hot-cha fun.

Dear Elsie:

I am in a quandary that I don't know what to do about, and I wish you would help me to put my brain in order once more. I am afraid my life is in an awful mess, and I do want to get my poor addled mind straightened out. I don't seem to know how to do it by myself, and that's why I'm calling on you.

My husband and I, until about two years ago, always had such a perfect understanding. He was always so devoted. But two years ago he went into some new work, and this new work threw him among men who entertained their "lady friends" in speakeasies, in a "perfectly harmless" way.

I couldn't help remarking, when this began, that I thought them a little Bohemian, and my Jim told me to "stop being such an idealist and face life with a broader mind." Well, I let him know that I realized the danger of playing with fire.

Then he cautioned me that I had better step into the ring and be a good sport—or else—

So I did go with him to these parties, and shut my eyes to a lot, even when he took girls out for an evening of Innocent Fun, when I was near enough so that a phone call would have brought me flying if all he wanted was company.

ANOTHER MAN

I adored Jim, but I found I was losing my respect for him. Still, I held onto my ideals, and thought the cycle would swing around and bring things to order. Well, I've been told enough times to know it is true, that I am not hard on the eyes; and at Jim's own suggestion, I have enjoyed lunches and dinners with other men. He told me that that was his idea of a "good pal and wife." He has always been proud of me, and friends tell me I'm lucky to have a husband love me as he does after 12 years of marriage.

Well, I can't wrangle with him, and when I tried to show him that I wanted something quite different from that—something that a drinking bunch of fools can't bring me—he wouldn't listen, and said that was what he wanted, and I'd have to paddle the canoe his way.

So—I met Harry, was thrown constantly with him, and now we are hopelessly in love. I've avoided him, and even took a trip to try to get hold of myself, but it's no use. He is a clean living chap, but he has a wife who is fast and "glories in the crowd" as Jim does.

Harry has taken an apartment, and wants to entertain me there of afternoons. What shall I do?

HELEN.

What can you do?

Go back to being the fine woman you once were, and find again your place in a sane and decent world.

MAKE NEW START

"Hopelessly in love?"

Piffle! You're nothing of the sort.

But you're sick. You're infected by the poison you've absorbed in those delirious nights and degraded days. You've forgotten what a healthy life is like; how regular fun feels. And you're whirling around in a nightmare which, in healthier days, you'd have viewed with disgust, but which your dizzy mind now thinks is real.

Stop it! Drag yourself out of this trap before it is too late—and drag Jim, too. Neither of you really wants this life. Neither of you has the slightest real desire for any other mate. You're just two sick souls, in a vicious razzle-dazzle.

Break with it all, Helen. Clean out the whole rotten crew. Cut out the whole rotten program. Go away together somewhere, if you possibly can; off for a week of fishing, to some little mountain brook, or a week's tramp over the lovely hills.

Spring's here! The buttercups are out. Life is starting all over again. Start over again with it! It won't be easy. It will be hateful, hard. You'll long, as a dope addict longs, for a "shot of the stuff" in your sick, tortured veins. But hang on! Fight for life again. Fight for love again. Fight, and keep on fighting—and you'll win!

And when you have, child, turn your back forever on the cheapness and the vileness that brought you so near to hell.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Grammar

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly tell me which sentence in each set is correct?

1—Banking conditions, as well as MY not being able to draw a large portion of salary due, makes it impossible for me to make a payment at this time.

Banking conditions, as well as ME not being able and so forth.

2—We do not think there is a possibility of YOU again acting as agent for the Bluebell Company.

We do not think there is a possibility of YOUR again acting as agent for the Bluebell Company.

A STENOGRAPHER.

1—This sentence is correct: "Banking conditions, as well as MY not being able to draw a large portion of salary due, MAKE it impossible for me to make a payment at this time."

2—This sentence is correct: "We do not think that there is a possibility of YOUR again acting as agent for the Bluebell Company."

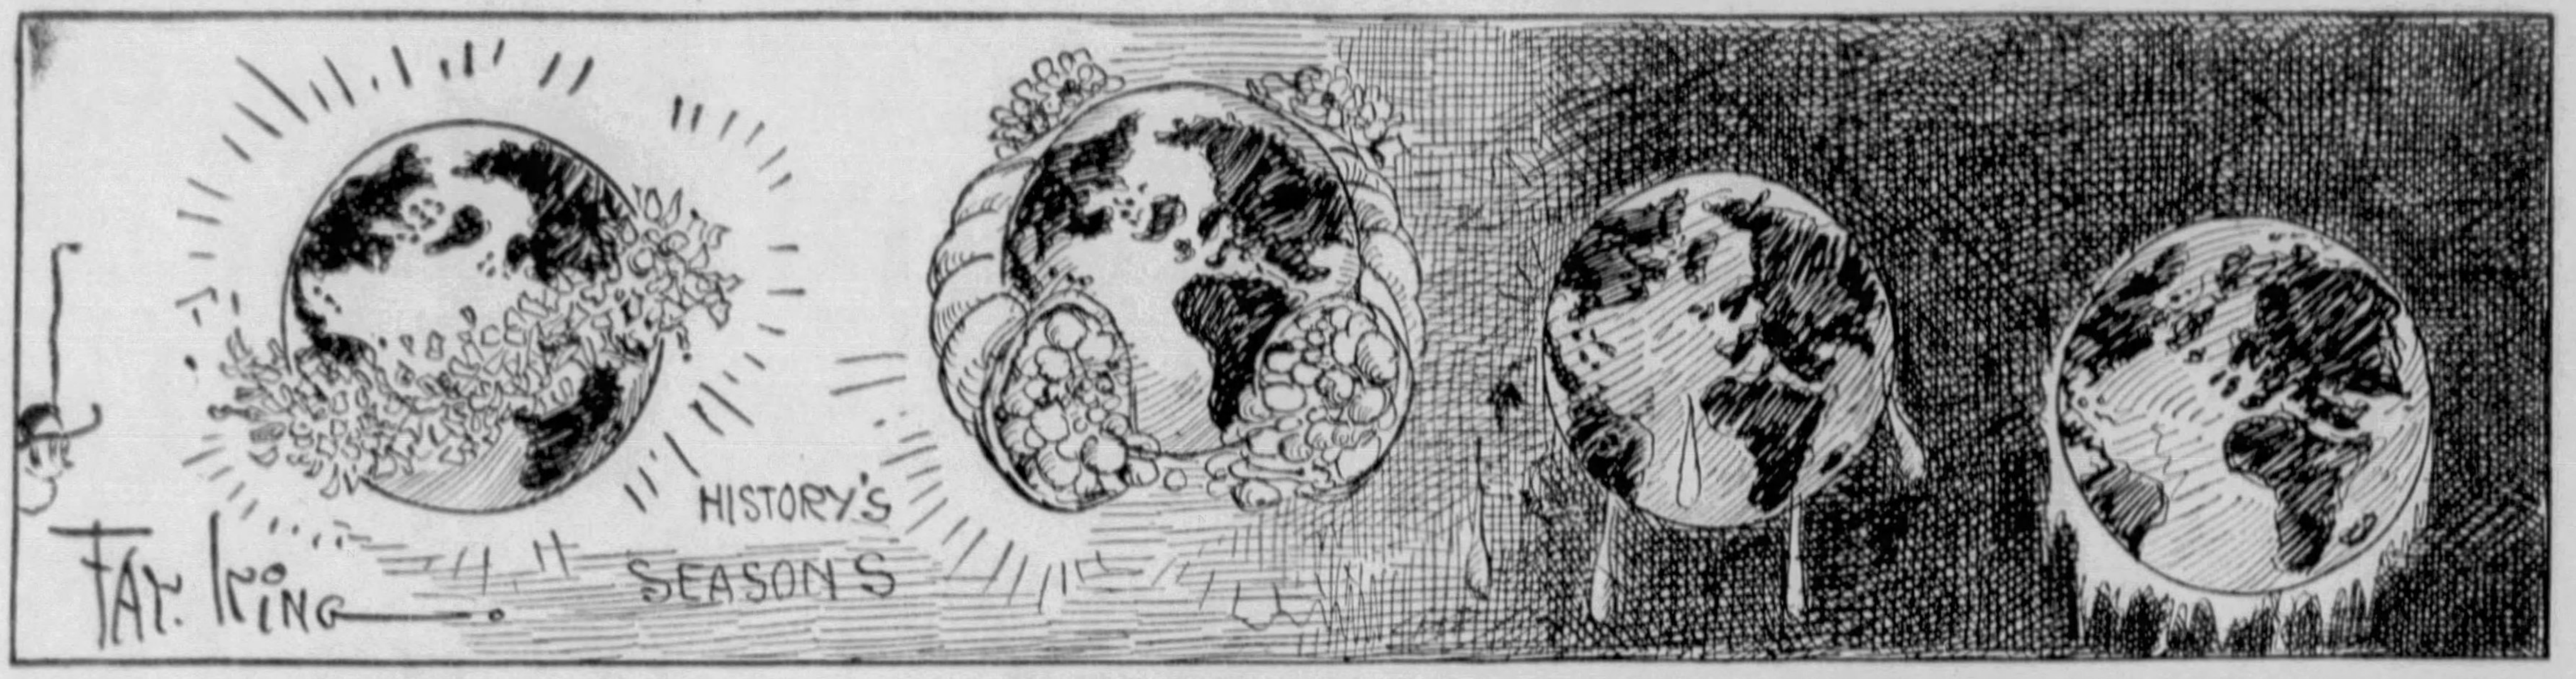
Fay King Discovers Seasonal Variations in History



By FAY KING

It seems to me that history has its seasons like the year.

They do not follow as closely as the spring, summer, fall and winter we know in 12 short months, and they last much longer.

In history's spring, the whole world seems abud with better understanding. Everywhere good feeling flourishes. All is promise of better things to come.

History's summer is rich in its crop and harvest of the flowers and fruits of enlightenment, congeniality and progress for all.

Then comes history's fall. All the good and accomplishment seems suddenly to burst into a riotous clash, like the vivid colors of autumn, and fall away like the leaves.

Then comes history's winter, barren, bleak, depressing and discouraging, the ebb tide of man's power.

Contract Bridge -:- -:- HOW TO PLAY and HOW TO WIN

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

Avoiding an End-Play

The forced lead play, popularly called an end-play, is one of the most common means of making contracts that would otherwise be defeated. Sometimes the cards themselves are so distributed that the player has no opportunity to avoid the forced lead and must perforce give the Declarer his contract if the Declarer sizes up the situation and plays his cards accurately.

There are many situations, however, in which the forced lead play may be avoided—if the defending player realizes the situation in time and guards against the Declarer's plan of attack. Such a hand was the following, played recently in Columbus, O.: The holder of the North hand was R. E. Needham, of Greenville, Pa.

North:
♠ A J 8 5
♡ Q 6
♢ K 8 4 3
♣ 9 5 4

West:
♠ K 6 4
♡ 7 2
♢ A Q J 9 6 2
♣ K J

East:
♠ Q 10 7
♡ 10 8 4 3
♢ 10 7
♣ 10 7 6 2

South:
♠ 9 3 2
♡ A K J 9 5
♢ 5
♣ A Q 8 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♡	2♢	2NT	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

South, Dealer.

East-West vulnerable.

The bidding of North and South might possibly have been slightly more accurate. South's heart suit was strong enough to justify a Rebid, but North, with an apparent fit for hearts, cannot be blamed for showing that it was possible to play the hand in notrump.

Against the three-notrump contract East opened the Diamond Ten and was permitted to hold the trick. Another round of diamonds followed, West playing the 9 and North winning with the King. Five rounds of hearts were then taken and West was forced to make three discards. He chose to bare down to the King of spades and part with one diamond. A spade was then led, the Declarer winning with the Ace. His next lead was a diamond, which placed West in the lead to cash three more diamond tricks, making four in all, but he was then forced to lead from the Club King-Knave to the Ace-Queen in Dummy. Thus North made three notrump.

West could have saved the situation by holding two spades and discarding another diamond. However, had he chosen this line of play, his spade discard should have been the King.

Know the Symptoms of Rickets as Precaution

Dr. Copeland

We are always interested in children and, of course, are more or less concerned about their diseases. But in spite of this, there is a tendency to neglect many of their ailments.

Rickets is such a disease. This is a preventable trouble and could be entirely eradicated if every mother became familiar enough with the signs of this disease to give it immediate attention.

Unfortunately, the early signs of this disease may be overlooked. A child may suffer from this disease for a long, long time without the parent knowing it. Children who are restless and irritable, underweight, and who do not make normal progress in growth and development, should be suspected of having rickets.

The afflicted infant is all the time turning his head from side to side. He sweats freely, has poor appetite and suffers from digestive disturbances. In advanced cases, constipation, nausea and vomiting are signs that must not be overlooked.

Though rickets is not a fatal disease, it undermines the health and growth of the child. When neglected, certain changes occur in the bony structure of the body. The skull may become square and show marked ridges. Bony swellings occur on the ribs and wrists. Because of a lack of lime and phosphorus in the bones, the child becomes bow-legged or knock-kneed.

Rickets is a constitutional disturbance due to a lack of sunlight, and a restriction in the phosphorus and lime of the diet. The disease is associated with the presence or absence of vitamin D. It can be prevented when this valuable vitamin is included in the diet.

It is of interest to know, too, that rickets can be prevented by continued exposure of the body to the active rays of the sun. Since it is always possible to give the child sufficient sunlight, we must turn to diet for protection. Vitamin D is found in egg yolk and in cod liver oil. Because of its content of this vitamin cod liver oil is recommended for all infants and growing children.

This remedy may be given to the infant as early as the fourth week. It should be continued through the second year. For older children cod liver oil need be given only during the winter months when there is less sunshine and weather conditions confine the child indoors. It may be discontinued during the summer months.

Within recent years a concentrated form of cod liver oil called "viosterol" has been perfected. It is a tastless, colorless and ordorless liquid. It is given in drop doses. Viosterol may be advantageously given to children who refuse cod liver oil because of its taste and odor.

By HELEN FOLLETT

Safeguard hands, Mrs. Housewife. Wear rubber gloves when fighting dirt, as grime changes the texture of the skin, robs it of the natural oil that is necessary for whiteness, smoothness and well-being. Strong scrubbing powders fluff up skin scales. Furniture polish puts black lines in knuckles. Keep a jar of hand lotion on the kitchen sink, use twice a day. At night cover the hands and wrists with lanolin, rub it in until it disappears.

The mouth is pretty much what a woman makes it. If she clicks her jaws together like a bear trap, the lines of the mouth will harden. The shape of the mouth is not as important as the expression, and the expression is created by temperament. Discontent produces ugly lines, austerity takes softness and sweetness from the lips. A good exercise for mouth muscles is a smiling and unsmiling movement which makes for flexibility of fibers.

YOUTH by the bowlful!

Vitally different!

YES, you can buy the things youth is made of! Proteins, carbohydrates, minerals, vitamins—the vital elements that keep you feeling alive, on your toes, YOUNG.

Nature offers them to you—in one cereal grain, WHOLE WHEAT! And Shredded Wheat is whole wheat—nothing added, nothing taken away!

You'll like it with milk or cream, with fresh or cooked fruit. You'll like the way it helps make red blood, sound teeth, sturdy bones, steady nerves!

Just some of the reasons why Shredded Wheat is so VITALLY DIFFERENT! Why to millions of healthy people it is YOUTH . . . by the bowlful!

SHREDDED WHEAT

When you see Niagara Falls on the package, you KNOW you have Shredded Wheat.

SHREDDED WHEAT
A product of NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY "Uneeda Bakers"

THEY'RE GREAT! say thousands

DON'T SAY you haven't heard about SNOW FLAKE WAFERS! It's true they're barely a year old. But my, how they've won friends! Because they're so smart and dainty in shape. Because they're so extra "short" in texture. And a lot more "becauses" such as freshness, tenderness, flakiness, wholesomeness. Slightly salted, too, the way most folks like their crackers. And priced so pleasingly low in the big pound package that everybody can enjoy SNOW FLAKE WAFERS.

STOCKS EASE UNDER WAVE OF SELLING

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Financial markets halted to take bearings today, after the violent spurt of the past two sessions.

Stocks, with the exception of rails and gold mining issues, weakened under profit-taking. The decline in dollar exchange was checked, as bear speculators abroad took profits, and commodity markets turned hesitant, although further firmness appeared in copper and sugar.

The rails were bid up briskly in the early trading, but gains of about 2 to 5 points in such issues as New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Delaware and Hudson, Northern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio were roughly half lost.

After the breath-taking happenings of the past two days, there was a distinct tendency in speculative quarters to wait for a clearer outlook. Comment on the $3,000,000,000 inflation proposal in Washington was guarded pending further study, although some important quarters in Wall street said the measure with skillful administration should be effective.

The bulge in the rails looked like a run in of shorts, although brokers said there was some long buying in expectation of further gains in freight movement. Weakness of utilities may have been influenced by passage by the House of a measure to shift the electricity tax from the consumer to the producer. Silver issues reacted in sympathy with a setback in silver futures. Profit-taking in coppers may have been predicated on the fact that even at 6¼ cents a pound, the metal is still well under average production costs.

Business and trade reports continued encouraging. Dun & Bradstreet said the post-Easter letdown in retail trade had failed to develop, and the wave of public buying appeared to be far from having reached its crest. Reports from the steel trade indicated that production may have gained even further.

Earnings reports attracted some attention. Allis Chalmers had a first quarter net loss of $869,986, which was a little less than the $936,395 reported for the like period of last year. Two quarterly motor reports appeared. Hupp showed a loss for the period of $522,997, against $596,176 last year, but Chrysler's first quarter loss was $3,038,082, or somewhat larger than the $2,066,485 in the same period of 1932.

COTTON TURNS REACTIONARY

NEW YORK, April 21.—Cotton futures opened steady, 15-18 higher on renewed general buying and higher Liverpool cables. May, 7.47; July, 7.61; October, 7.86; December, 8.00; January, 8.09; March, 8.25.

The opening demand was sufficient to send the price of May up to 7.52 and October to 7.89, or about 18 to 21 points net higher. The more urgent buying was supplied by realizing or southern selling, and prices reacted partially. At the end of the first half hour May was selling around 7.42 and October 8.80 or 9 to 10 points off from the best.

Reactions carried the market off to 7.33 for May and 7.88 for October or within a few points of yesterday's close. Profit-taking was promoted by word that the dollar was developing a firmer tone in the foreign exchange market. The declines, however, brought in some renewed commission house buying and the market at midday was steady at net advances of 10 to 14 points.

LIVERPOOL, April 21.—Cotton, receipts 14,000 bales, including 4,700 American. Spot, small business done; prices three points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 6.05; good middling, 5.75; strict middling, 5.45; middling, 5.30; strict low mddling, 5.10; low middling, 4.95; strict good ordinary, 4.75; good ordinary, 4.45. Futures closed steady. May, 5.07; July, 5.07; October, 5.10; December, 5.12; January, 5.13; March, 5.17.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Chrysler Corporation reports net loss of $3,038,082 for the quarter ended March 31. This compares with a loss of $2,066,485 in the same period of 1932.

The corporation's March 31 balance sheet showed cash and marketable securities totaling $32,185,535, against $42,602,494 on December 31. Total current assets were $54,342,615, against current liabilities of $11,035,347. Inventories March 31 were $16,424,112, a reduction of $1,953,352 from December 31.

Unit sales to dealers and distributors during the quarter totaled 57,861, with a value of $33,039,488, against 55,794 units valued at $37,368,443 in the first quarter of 1932.

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company report for the first quarter of 1933, issued last night, shows earnings applicable to common stock were $3,825,128, or 35 cents a share on 10,871,977 average shares outstanding. These figures compare with earnings of $8,059,134, or 74 cents a share, for the first quarter of 1932 on 10,913,787 average shares outstanding. Figures for both periods include du Pont company's equity in undivided profits or losses of controlled companies not consolidated.

Hupp Motor Car Corporation report for the March quarter shows net loss of $522,970 after charges and depreciation, compared with net loss in the first quarter of 1932 of $596,176.

Graham-Paige Motors Corporation March quarter net loss was $86,696 after all charges, against net profit of $166,589 in first quarter, 1932.

Allis Chalmers Manufacturing Company March quarter net loss was $869,936 against net loss of $936,395 in the March, 1932, quarter.

Continental Can Company reports for 12 months ended March 31 net profit of $4,927,944 after depreciation, Federal taxes, etc., equal to $2.54 a share on the common against $5,279,703 or $3.05 a share for the 12 months ended March 31, 1932.

Congress Cigar Company report for the March quarter shows net loss of $129,116 after taxes and charges, against net profit of $102,913 in the first quarter of 1932.

Twin City Rapid Transit Company and subsidiaries report net loss of $20,964 for the first 1933 quarter after taxes and fixed charges. This compares with net income of $209,518, equal to 71 cents a common share, in the March quarter of 1932.

Bon Ami Corporation March quarter net profit was $231,068 after taxes and depreciation, against $230,797 in first quarter of 1932.

LIBBEY-OWENS FORD

Libbey-Owens Ford Glass Company has increased its board of directors to 16 from 15. Roland Palmedo, of Lehman Brothers, has been elected to succeed Herbert Lehman and Ralph A. Bard, of Chicago replaces Marshall Field.

LOCAL MARKET CONTINUES ACTIVE

Trading continued on a broade scale on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with prices pointin upward at the start, but levelin off later when profit-taking on th "big board" cut the pace of th movement in that market. Activ demand for Lone Star Gas featured the market and the stocl ran up sharply before the offerings overbalanced the demand

Activity on the "big board" wa sustained by a sudden boom in th rails early in the day. Hug blocks changed hands at sharpl higher prices. The buying was attributed to rumors that the Roosevelt railroad plan, expected to b submitted soon, calls for but tw main systems in the East instea of four as heretofore planned. Th two systems would be the Pennsylvania and the New York Central according to the gossip. An angl of the rumor was that the Baltimore and Ohio would be tied ir with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

DOLLAR'S DROP IS CHECKED

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The headlong decline of th American dollar in relation tc principal foreign currencies wa checked today.

International banking quarter said it was possible that the British equalization fund was acting to check the advance in sterling.

Other possible factors in the steadier tone of the American currency included transfer of funds here to pay for stocks and commodities, for foreign participation in yesterday's buying was noted. Short covering by bear speculators in dollars was also suggested.

The pound sterling, after jumping more than 7 cents to above $3.90, fell back close to $3.84, where it was up little more than a cent.

The French franc declined to 4.30 cents, where it was actually .02 of a cent under yesterday's final level, after a temporary rise to around 4.38 cents.

WHEAT BREAKS AS BUYING LAGS

CHICAGO, April 21.—Despite announcement of administration plans for $3,000,000,000 inflation, grain prices took an early downward swing today. Selling orders predominated in all pits, and new buying was in smaller volume than recently. Opening unchanged to ⅞ lower, wheat soon showed losses of 1½ cents a bushel all around. Corn started ¾ off to ⅛ up, and subsequently underwent a general setback.

The following quotations on the Chicago Board of Trade are reported by A. E. Masten & Co.:

Carloadings for Week Likely to Show Further Gain

Prospects are for an increase of 5,000 cars or a little more in the weekly report on the freight movement. This would make for total indicated loadings of from 493,000 to 495,000 cars as compared with 487,296 in the preceding week and some 567,000 in the corresponding week last year. If the foregoing figures are approximately correct, loadings last week lagged some 13 per cent below the same week in 1932, whereas loadings for the preceding week were 10.7 per cent smaller, and those of a fortnight ago 9.2 per cent less than in the corresponding period in 1932.

The feature of trading in the investment market was the lifting of pressure on the federal issues. These bonds snapped back easily as the flow of offerings subsided. The firmer tone in the group was directly traceable to the provisions contained in the proposed Thomas amendment to the farm bill, whereby control of currency and credit would be placed directly in the President's hands. Among other things this measure provides for credit expansion up to $3,000,000,000 through the operation of the Federal Reserve's open market policy. In other words the Reserve could be directed to purchase up to that amount of government bonds, thus placing a large potential demand in the market for federal issues.

One effect favorable to Germany of America's abandonment of the gold standard, according to a semi-official communique issued in Berlin today, is that despite the gold clause in her debt arrangements Germany may be enabled to discharge her obligations in devaluated paper dollars. The communique said: "It would obviously be inequitable that a country, while reducing by legislative act the gold value of its liabilities, should simultaneously expect gold value respecting its repayable credits."

Speaker of the House Rainey sees encouragement for additional silver monetization legislation in the Roosevelt plan for inflation, which provdes for acceptance of $100,000,000 in silver as payment on war debts. Rainey said he thought this proposal was just the opening gun in an effort to get silver coin on the 16-to-1 ratio. He said, however, that this was only his hope. The wish is father to the thought, he said. Rainey thinks the House will push the inflation program rapidly.

Today's rail boom gave L. F. Loree a break and put his Delaware and Hudson on the right side of the ledger. He's sitting with 495,000 shares of New York Central at $22 a share in the Delaware and Hudson treasury plus an unknown amount in his own pockets. Central today crossed this figure for the first time in months. And Union Pacific, too, which is loaded down with 100,000 shares of Pennsylvania, $6,000,000 in Chicago and Northwestern bonds as well as a block of this road's common, and lots of other rail shares.

Wary operators suggest that the rise of the past week has discounted much and that further news and developments should be noted before prices should go higher. On the other hand, it is admitted that there has been a great deal of switching to make up for the large volume and while the long account in the Street has increased, it is still far from being unwieldly.

MARCH FIRE LOSSES LESS

Figures issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters disclosed that fire losses in the United States for the month of March showed a drop of 28.19 per cent under those of the same month last year. The board estimated March losses at $35,321,248 as compared with $49,189,124 in March, 1932. The low total was also 14.43 per cent under that of any other March since 1929.

CHRYSLER OVERSEAS TRADE

Overseas shipments of Chrysler motors for the first quarter this year increased 46.6 per cent over the first quarter last year, the company announced today.

HAMERMILL PAPER

Report of Hammermill Paper Company for year ended December 31, 1932 (certified by independent auditors) shows net profit of $11,352 after taxes and charges, equivalent to 25 cents a share on 45,294 shares of 6% preferred stock. This compares with net profit in 1931, of $442,800, equal after preferred dividends, to 71 cents a share (par $10) on 180,000 shares of common stock.

RUBBER CONSUMPTION

The Department of Commerce estimates 1932 crude rubber consumption at 332,000 long tons and reclaimed rubber at 77,500 long tons. This compares with 1931 crude rubber consumption of 350,000 tons and reclaimed rubber of 123,000 tons. The department states that the use of reclaimed rubber declined much more in 1932 than in preceding years, chiefly because of replacement of reclaims by low priced crude rubber in many compounds.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, April 21.—A rally in United States government securities and the display of some resistance by various recently depressed "gilt-edge" corporation loans, gave the bond market a healthier appearance today.

Another spurt in French obligations was the feature of the foreign list. German loans, however, were reactionary, most of them suffering losses of 2 or more points at one time.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows (000 omitted in sales column; United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

CIRCULATION DOWN, GOLD RETURNS

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Despite President Roosevelt's anti-gold hoarding order of April 5, requiring the metal to be deposited with the government before May 1, approximately $900,000,000 still remains outside the Treasury and Federal Reserve banks.

The Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement today showed that the gold reserves of the 12 institutions amounted to $3,365,595,000, an increase of $681,956,000 since March 8, and of $50,049,000 in the last week.

Since then $81,956,000 in gold has been returned but the amount received this week was $20,000,000 more than came in the week before.

The report showed that a slightly greater use was being made of the new Federal Reserve Bank notes and that $24,529,000 was in actual circulation on April 19. This was an increase of $4,639,000 in the week.

NOTE BACKING GAINS

While there was a slight increase in the use of Federal Reserve Bank notes in actual circulation, the Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation declined $70,497,000 to $3,477,393,000.

At the same time, the gold back of the Federal Reserve notes increased from $2,664,216,000 a week ago to $2,692,229,000.

The decrease in circulation and increase in gold backing made the percentage of gold back of the notes in actual circulation amount to 77 per cent, whereas a week ago it was 75 per cent, and the week before that 73 per cent. The reserve ratio against note liability and deposits also showed an increase, going from 60.6 a week ago to 61.5 this week.

GOLD STOCKS UP

The report showed a continued return of money to the Treasury, the Board's figures for money in circulation disclosing a drop of $79,000,000 for the week. The decrease made the total $6,068,000,000, and indicated continued confidence in the banks and decrease of hoarding throughout the country.

At the same time, the Board reported that monetary gold stocks of the country amounted to $4,313,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 for the week and $70,000,000 since March 8.

The report showed that the total Reserve Bank credit on April 19, amounted to $2,490,000,000, a decrease of $38,000,000 for the week.

Loans to Brokers Increase $11,000,000

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Loans on stocks and bonds to brokers and dealers by reporting Federal Reserve member banks in New York City, increased $11,000,000 during the week ended April 19 to $386,000,000. This compares with $375,000,000 in the preceding week; the high record of $6,804,000,000 on October 2, 1929, and the record low of $331,000,000 on July 27, 1932.

Abandonment of Gold Standard Means Price Rise

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

"I KNOW WE'RE off the gold standard, but just what does it mean to me?"

It is probable that every financial writer was asked at least a dozen similar questions yesterday. That we are in a period of inflation is certain. The exact form to be taken by the government inflation policy is still uncertain, but all periods of inflation have common characters. Without knowing the exact steps to be taken by the administration, we can assume certain general trends.

Currency inflation means that more money will be put into circulation without any immediate corresponding increase in real wealth. Inflationary policies of other governments in the past have been marked by steadily increasing prices for all types of commodities, for all types of property and for equity interests in most business organizations.

* * *

Prices of Products Expected to Gain

SO FAR AS THE average person is concerned, inflation will mean that the prices of the things he buys—food, clothes, amusements and homes—will increase. In other inflationary periods wages also increased. In the present one it is unlikely that salaries and wages will start on an upward march as quickly as prices. It is quite probable that there will be considerable lag between the movement of commodity prices and wages.

That wage inflation is likely to be slower than price inflation is easily explained. Until the vast surplus of labor, which now constitutes our army of unemployed, is absorbed there will be little pressure upon industry to increase the compensation of labor.

In adopting its policy of inflation the administration undoubtedly feels that business activity will be stimulated. If this expectation is realized the temporary disadvantage to be felt by wage and salary earners will be more than compensated for by increased general employment.

Value of Dollar May Show Decline

THE ABRUPT RISES in the prices of stocks and commodities during the past few days are not hard to explain. If we are about to embark on a general policy of monetary inflation certain steps are obviously advantages for men of means.

For instance, the dollar would become less valuable each day in comparison to other currencies. In other words it will buy less in the world's market for goods. On the other hand, the value of such tangible things as commodities, buildings and manufacturing plants will increase. Obviously during a period of monetary inflation, one should not hold money. One is much better off to hold some more tangible evidence of wealth, such as a carload of wheat, a house or an interest in a business.

The fact that this line of reasoning has been followed by many has been evidenced in the market for stocks as well as for commodities.

TREASURE HUNT AIDS NEEDY

When Father Cox made his first appeals for donations of old gold in the shape of discarded jewelry, eye glass frames, watches, rings and trinkets it was styled a "gold rush." His appeals have been so successful that the campaign has been given a new name—the "treasure hunt"—and scores of families are digging into trunks and almost forgotten nooks and corners in search of gold donations for the "father of the jobless."

Father Cox has already received enough old gold in various form to net him nearly $1,000 after it has been melted down. In this form it is exchanged for cash at the Federal Reserve Bank. This money has been employed by Father Cox in relieving distress among the unemployed and destitute. Everyone is welcome to join the "treasure hunt" and whatever they find in old, discarded gold, if donated to Father Cox, will bring relief to the poor and needy.

Notwithstanding the absence of Father Cox — he is away for a week of much needed rest — his Sun-Telegraph subscription drive is moving along with splendid results. Every subscription that comes in on the blank on this page or is telephoned in with the request that Father Cox be given credit for it, brings to his unemployment relief fund a liberal cash commission.

WITNESS FEE PROBE ORDERED

An investigation of the County Controller's office to determine whether there exists a practice of obtaining witness fees through the forging of Controller's warrants has been ordered by the County Commissioners.

The probe was instigated by the Commissioners following the receipt of a letter from Anthony J. Haser, McKees Rocks funeral director, who said someone got $14 due him as a witness by forging his name to a warrant in the Controller's office.

Haser, in his letter, voiced the suspicion that other witnesses had been similarly victimized.

Commissioner C. M. Barr suggested that an investigation be made. Commissioner C. C. McGovern agreed, and Leo A. Riordan, head of the County Investigation Department, was ordered to begin an inquiry.

Murder Charged to 3 In Lima Strangling

LIMA, O., April 21.—(AP.)—First degree murder charges were filed today against a young white man and two Negroes accused of killing Claude D. Shafer, aged Lima storekeeper, who was strangled in his bed Wednesday.

Police said that two of the men, Edgar Westbray, 20, and Porter Taylor, 23, Negro, made written confessions and implicated Mac Miller, 23, Negro, and a woman.

BLONDE DENIES PLOT TO BLACKMAIL BARTON

NEW YORK, April 21.—(Universal.)—Accused of demanding $50,000 in an alleged blackmail and extortion plot against Bruce Barton, writer, Mrs. Frances W. King, attractive blonde, today had uttered sharp denial.

A letter was read yesterday before Judge Rosalsky, in General Sessions Court in which the $50,000 demand was made and Mrs. King cried out:

"I did not write that letter."

She was held, despite her protest and her plea of not guilty to the indictment, under $3,500 bail.

Her lawyer, Maurice Wahl, admitted in court that Mrs. King, a newspaper writer and novelist, wrote a book "Roos Martin," but denied any attempt to blackmail.

It is charged by the state that Mrs. King wrote the book about Barton and sent him galley proofs with the demand for $50,000, upon payment of which the book would be suppressed.

Mrs. King contended she had merely written Barton that she understood he was willing to settle her slander suit against him for $250,000.

It was brought out that when Mrs. King was employed by Barton, her husband, Hugh King, appeared and caused an uproar. Later he sued his wife for divorce and Barton for alienation of affections. According to Assistant District Attorney Hastings, the suit was settled by Barton for $25,000.

EX-PROSECUTOR FOUND TRUSSED

DETROIT, April 21.—(INS.)—Detroit police today were investigating the story of Arlie O. Boswell, former prosecutor of "Bloody Williamson" County, Ill., that he was kidnaped and robbed by three men who snatched him from a crowded downtown street.

Boswell was found last night wandering, blindfolded and gagged, on the shore of the Belle River, near Marine City, Mich., 35 miles from Detroit.

He was in a dazed condition, according to Deputy Sheriff James Sharrow, who found him, and his hands were tied with his own necktie.

Life Term Stands In Evarts Killing

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 21.—(AP.)—The Kentucky Court of Appeals today affirmed life prison sentences imposed on W. B. Jones and William Hightower, union coal mine leaders, who were convicted in Montgomery Circuit Court of murder conspiracy charges growing out of the battle of Evarts in Harlan County coal fields in May, 1931.

THREE STARTS BY WEIL'S CLUB FAIL

WITH TWO SUCCESSIVE cancellations in 1930 and another on their present visit for the 1933 inaugural, the Cincinnati Reds have a record of three straight opening-game foozles here since Sidney Weil became their president and chief owner. That record makes them the jinx club of the National League as far as local lid-lifters are concerned, as there isn't another club in the circuit that failed in three consecutive attempts to put Pittsburgh seasons under way, the Cubs having made the closest approach with two in 1931.

Sidney Weil

But in another respect the Reds have been helpful in local openers. The Pirates have succeeded in getting off to successful home starts against them more consistently than against any other visiting attraction. In 14 openings here against Cincinnati prior to thish year, the Bucs won 10 games while losing only four; against St. Louis, they won 12 and lost eight; against Chicago, won five and lost three; against Detroit, won one and lost none; against Louisville, won one and lost none; against Cleveland, won one and lost one.

A FORMER REMARKABLE athlete, who had ranked in his heyday with the greatest of all time, passed in the death of Dr. Benjamin Franklin Roller in New York. As a college and professional football player, a wrestler, a gymnast, a shot putter, hammer and discus thrower, Roller was one of the international standouts of his era.

When all-star pro football teams flourished in Pittsburgh in the '90's, Roller played a year with P. A. C. and another season with D. C. & A. C. Later he appeared here with a visiting Philadelphia eleven in a professional league, and attracted additional attention as the only player of his time wearing a Van Dyke beard. He also was seen in wrestling exhibitions in this city.

ROLLER, WHO STOOD 6 feet 1 inch and weighed 210 pounds, won fame in this country and abroad as a wrestler. In Seattle on October 12, 1906, Champion Frank Gotch contracted to throw him twice in an hour, but the match went the limit without a fall. Gotch defeated him in a second meeting in the same city on July 1, 1908, but expressed the opinion that if Roller had taken up wrestling earlier in life he would have become champion of the world.

Gib Marsh, who conducts "The Great Outdoors" department in the Sun-Telegraph, and an old friend and teammate, having paired with him at guard on the P. A. C. eleven, says Roller was one of the greatest football players he ever saw. "He used to go through the opposing line and block kicks as if it were paper," Gib recalls. "I have seen him brush Bill Church aside as if that all-America tackle were a school boy. And his athletic activities did not keep him from being a remarkable student. Three times he won $100 prizes at Penn for best scholastic attainments. Doc was a rare specimen of physical symmetry. Not a bulging muscle nor a prominent vein on his body. The only athlete I ever have seen who compares with him in that respect is Buster Crabbe, the swimmer."

OFTEN IT IS the case that a great pitcher is among the easiest for a catcher to handle, but evidently that does not apply to Ted Lyons, crack right-hander of the White Sox. It is said that catchers find it rather troublesome to work with Lyons. He has two changes of speed and two types of curve ball, and the backstops, with only a single set of signals, sometimes have almost as much difficulty as the batters in guessing what is coming to the plate from the right arm of the veteran. Lyons, who has won more than 20 games in a season three times during his career, and who hopes to be an exceptionally big winner this year after starting with a shutout victory against the Browns Wednesday, shows best as a rule against the sluggers. Chop hitters and bunters sometimes get places against hurlers like Ted, who is at his worst against the short hitters.

Bill Terry

THE BELIEF THAT a manager can run a ball club better from the dugout than if he is a player in the lineup is not shared by Bill Terry. The Giant boss thinks a playing pilot has the edge, in his own case at least. He directed his team from the bench one day last summer and thought he'd go daffy. When he's playing he doesn't have time to worry or fret, and besides, chasing a batted ball or running out one of your own helps to let off steam.

"Of course, it's an advantage to have all the players in sight all the time from the bench," Terry says, "but at first base the only players I can't see without twisting my neck are the second baseman, when a left-hand hitter is up, and the right fielder. I'm in the middle of the game, know just how the club feels every minute."

TERRY ALSO DISAGREES with those who think managerial duties hurt the work of a playing skipper. He insists that the managership made him a better player, and points to the fact that he was hitting .305 when John McGraw resigned last summer and had an average of .350 when the season ended.

"There are two things that make me a better player as a manager," Terry explains. "One is that a manager is more eager than a player to win because he realizes that if his club doesn't win it will cost him his job, and the other is never to look bad in the eyes of my players if I can help it. I am bearing down harder now than ever because I have a greater incentive."

IN A LETTER from Chicago, Red Mason writes: "Have seen all the baseball games here so far, and still think the old home town club will win the National League pennant, with little trouble from the Cubs. One bet that I have made already is that Donie Bush's Reds will be farther out of last place than the Cubs will be ahead of the second club provided the Bruins happen to finish first. I think Bush's club will fool a lot of those who have picked it to land at the bottom of the heap. The fact that the Pirates won both of the games they played with the Reds in Cincinnati last week does not alter my opinion, for the Gibson tribe will take many another club for two in a row this season. One club that I believe is overrated is Philadelphia. I'll not be surprised to see the Reds finish higher than the short-fence crowd.

"THE WHITE SOX have everybody here wrought up and predicting a great season for them," Mason continues. "The deal that Connie Mack let the Sox make is going to bring many a dollar into the coffers of every club that visits Comiskey Park this year.

"I still have Jack King in tow in the boxing game, and am thinking of coming to Pittsburgh and claiming it as his home town. I hope to have King get an opportunity to show there against Ted Yarosz again shortly and demonstrate how greatly he has improved."

THE TOUR OF Jack Dempsey and Max Schmeling continues to be successful, following its good start here last Monday, large crowds being reported at the various stops. Jack and Max will stay on the road until April 28, playing one-night stands.

Max Schmeling

The trip promises to add a snug sum to the healthy bank roll that Schmeling already has picked up in this country. The German is one foreign fighter who has no cause to complain of the financial returns he got out of the fight game through his activities in American rings.

MAX RECEIVED $77,000 for lacing Paulino Uzcudun; $177,000 and the heavyweight championship on a plate for being fouled by Jack Sharkey in their first meeting; $100,000 for stopping Young Stribling; $177,000 for the second tilt with Sharkey in which the title was taken away from him by a questionable decision, and $60,000 for convincing Mickey Walker that a good big man is better than a good little man. That's not counting smaller fights, and Schmeling should be good for $75,000 or more in his bout with Max Baer on June 8, with a larger sum to follow if he beats Baer and gets a match with the Sharkey-Carnera survivor for the crown. This is the Teuton's eighth trip to America. He has been in 40 of the 48 states.

HOMESTEAD ACE SETS MARK IN EXHIBITION

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 21.—(AP.)—In a special race in the women's senior National A. A. U. swimming championships here Miss Lenore Kight, of Homestead, Pa., last night smashed the world 300-yard free style record set by Helene Madison at Seattle in 1930.

Miss Kight negotiated the 300 yards in 3 minutes 38 2-5 seconds to beat the old record of 3 minutes 39 3-5 seconds. Miss Kight swam against time and was clocked by four official A. A. U. judges. She also equaled the world 250-yard championship mark of 3.2 held by Miss Madison. The A. A. U. will be requested to accept her records.

MISS RAWLS WINS

The third program of championships tonight will find two world's marks fallen and five new national champions. Tonight the world's 220-yard free style and 300-yard medley relay titles will be under fire.

Miss Katherine Rawls, 15-year-old Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) star, who has won the major honors of the meet thus far by smashing the 300-yard individual medley record and ousting Miss Dorothy Poynton, of Los Angeles, Cal., from her low-board diving championship, will attempt to add to her laurels in the 220-yard free style.

The other championship event of the evening will see the Women's Swimming Association of New York defending the championship they hold in the medley relay.

SHOWS FINE FORM

The flashy Florida youngster showed remarkable form in the five required dives and those exceptionally difficult dives for her optional five. Miss Poynton's form on the approach lost points for her while she flopped badly on one of her optionals.

Margaret Karson, of New York, placed third with 81.49 points, while Elizabeth Harrison, also of New York, placed fourth with 75.20 points. Borghild Johannensen, of Detroit, was fifth with 69.53 points.

Miss Margaret Hoffman, of Scranton, Pa., acquired the national 100-yard breast stroke title by defeating Miss Rawls by a few strokes. Her time was 1 minute 21 2-5 seconds. It was Miss Rawls' first defeat of the meet.

MISS GORMAN BEATEN

In a special invitation 50-yard free style for visiting swimmers, Jessie Conway, of New York, nosed out Anna Mae Gorman, of Homestead, Pa., to win atfer a nip-and-tuck battle.

In another special invitation race, 100-yard backstroke, Joan McSheehy, of New York, negotiated the distance in 1 minute 57 1-5 seconds to win over Lisa Lindstrom, of New York, who finished second, and Marjorie Linton, of Toronto, third place winner.

Bowlers Open World Title Duel Tonight

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 21.—(AP.)—The opening block in the 80-game match for the world individual bowling championship will be rolled here tonight between Joe Miller, of Buffalo, winner of the Eastern elimination match-game tournament, and Stewart Watson, of Chicago, victor in a like series in the Midwest.

MANOS GAINS SEMI-FINALS

ERIE, Pa., April 21.—At the completion of the third round of play, Theos Manos, of the Keystone A. C., Pittsburgh, stood out as the favorite to capture the national junior A. A. U. singles handball championship being contested on the local Y. M. C. A. courts.

Manos defeated Gus Papandrews, of Erie, and Cal Crumbaker and Carl Walter, of Cleveland, to reach the semi-finals, in which he will meet Ray Ruddy, of the New York A. C., today.

Manos' doubles partner, Harry Kraeling, Jr., of the P. A. A., was eliminated in the second round by Frank Coyle, of the New York A. C., 21-7 and 21-12. He drew a bye in the opening round.

Coyle eliminated Frank Koubek, of Pittsburgh, 21-7 and 21-12, in the first round and Parker Smith, also of Pittsburgh, fell before Tom Gaines, of Cleveland, in the first round, 21-6 and 21-4.

In the first round of the doubles play today, Manos and Kraeling will meet Renz and McGraw, an Erie pair.

McKnight Eleven Leaves for Philly

The McKnight soccer team left this morning for Philadelphia, where tomorrow the local junior booters will engage the German-Americans in the final round of the national amateur cup competition.

The players are in fine condition and are conceded better than an even chance of winning the national crown.

Tomorrow, on the Westinghouse High School field, a benefit contest will be staged between picked teams from the Panhandle and Central leagues. The proceeds of the contest will be turned over to Jimmy Henderson, Whitaker goalie, who was injured while playing for Lawrenceville early in the season.

Mt. Lebanon and Beadling clash tomorrow in a benefit cup contest. The West Penn open cup semi-final fray between the Zoneys and Curry is listed for Sunday at South Park.

Randall to Seek Knockout Against Wolfe Tonight

By HARRY KECK
Sports Editor.

Tiger Joe Randall, Negro welterweight, of Elizabeth, who breaks his opponents' jaws in the ring and then takes jigsaw puzzles to them so they can make the time flit faster in the hospital, goes to the post against Eddie (Kid) Wolfe, of Memphis, Tenn., in the 10-round main bout at the Arena, on the North Side, tonight determined to do or die.

The Tiger is through with boxing as a business. From here on in, he'll be the rip-tearing fighter he was the night he broke Danny Devlin's jaw in the same ring a few weeks back. Last summer he fractured Young Saylor's jaw. He knows he can hit. He knows he can box, but a lot of fellows in his class have height and reach on him and are at least as good, if not better, boxers. So, therefore, he's going to relegate boxing to a secondary position in his repertoire beginning at once, if not immediately.

Joe Randall

WOLFE RUGGED TYPE

Wolfe himself is no gentle person when it comes to fighting in the ring. He is a rather rugged type and always will be remembered here as the gent who held his own with Ted Yarosz in a series of four bouts, in which each won one decision and boxed two draws. He is the only opponent to win a decision over Yarosz.

In his last start here, Wolfe lost to Tony Herrera. Randall saw that fight and made up his mind he, too, could beat the Southerner. And he'll be in there winging for a knockout tonight to set himself in for a piece of cake during the outdoor season.

RAFFERTY BOXES HOLT

Phil Rafferty, of New York, welterweight stablemate of Wolfe, is here with him to box Billy Holt, of Homewood, in the other 10-rounder on tonight's card, which will be rounded out with three six-round preliminaries, as follows:

Eddie Zivic vs. Johnny Durso, Elmer Wilson vs. Sharkey Lesko and Charley Scott vs. Jackie Ladd.

Members of the Pirates have been invited to attend the show as the guests of the management.

Tonight's Fights

Tiger Joe Randall vs. Eddie (Kid) Wolfe and Billy Holt vs. Phil Rafferty, 10 rounds each, and Eddie Zivic vs. Johnny Durso, Elmer Wilson vs. Sharkey Lesko and Charley Scott vs. Charley Ladd, 6 rounds each, Arena, North Side.

Amateur bouts, St. Marys, Pa.

Max Schmeling in exhibition, Three Rivers, Canada.

Tommy Loughran vs. Isadoro Gastanaga and Otto Von Porat vs. Hans Biskie, 10 rounds each; Tiger Jack Fox vs. Lou Scozza, 8 rounds, and Frankie O'Brien vs. Marty Sampson, 6 rounds, Stadium, Chicago.

Marty Gallagher vs. Innocente Baiguera, 10 rounds, St. Nicholas Arena, New York.

Dominick Nicco vs. Ronald Santon, 6 rounds, Brooklyn.

Spib Styer vs. Johnny Duca, 10 rounds; Johnny Pepe vs. Joe Mandarano, 8 rounds, and Jack Tracey vs. Mike Marshall, Jimmy Dunn vs. Pete O'Hara and Norman Hahn vs. Jimmy Boyd, 6 rounds each, Philadelphia.

Wayne Short vs. Jackie Sharkey, 10 rounds, and Joey Thomas vs. Johnny Stanton, 6 rounds, St. Paul.

Tom Patrick vs. Frank Rowsey, 10 rounds, Hollywood, Cal.

Between Rounds

Ted Yarosz has received the $210 withheld from his purse for his bout with Eddie Ran in Detroit recently, after having battled Bingo Brown, head of the Michigan Boxing Commission and the N. B. A., through an attorney. He may box Jack King in Chicago on May 4.

Jack Perry has opened a new boxing club in Ontario, Cal., with Bob Armstrong, the movie actor, as his sponsor.

Eddie Cool will box Joey Costa, of New York, a third time, in Philadelphia, next Tuesday night. He has beaten Costa both times so far.

Dr. Frank Roller, former wrestling and professional football star, who is dead in New York, was an intimate friend of Gib Marsh, outdoors writer for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and was well known to the local sports fans of a quarter of a century ago.

Fireman Jim Flynn, the only man who ever knocked out Jack Dempsey, is working for $20 a week in a burlesque show in California. He picks Max Schmeling to win easily over Max Baer, a Native Son, when they meet in New York June 8.

Frank McNichols, lieutenant of police on the South Side, and Monk Ketchel, of the county police, former professional boxers, will box the feature event of a benefit show for Post 453, American Legion, in the South Side Market House, May 6. The South Side Recreation Association will hold an amateur show in the same arena next Wednesday evening to raise funds for recreation equipment for the unemployed men and boys of the South Side.

Jimmy Thomas and Pete DeGrasse have been signed for the main bout at the Arena two weeks from tonight.

A team of local amateur boxers will appear in a show in Oil City Monday night. Jack Schricker, of Pitt, and Arden Hefren will meet in a return bout as a feature.

RAMEY BEATS CANZONERI

GRAND, RAPIDS, Mich., April 21.—(INS.)—Wesley Ramey, sensational young Grand Rapids fighter, was the uncrowned king of lightweights today after the decisive whipping he administered last night to Tony Canzoneri, lightweight champion of the world.

Canzoneri's title was not at stake, Ramey having built himself up to 136 pounds—one pound over the lightweight limit—to avoid placing the crown in jeopardy. Canzoneri weighed 133.

The decision of Referee Elmer (Slim) McClelland was received by the crowd of 5,500 spectators without a dissenting voice.

Canzoneri, who defended his title in June against Barney Ross, was hampered through the last six rounds by a cut which Ramey opened over his left eye and a gash in his eyelid. Blood ran into his eyes.

Ramey came out of the fight with nothing more serious than a bloody nose.

Ramey got the jump on the champ and kept it, his boxing skill offsetting Canzoneri's rushes. At times he outfought the champion, who appeared to be sluggish.

RAMEY TAKES GOOD LEAD

Ramey took a good lead in the first round, but ran into a left hook that dampened his ardor for a while. For four rounds they fought at a rapid clip, the champion forcing, but being outpointed. His eye was cut in the fifth. After that he began to fight savagely and desperately, but he was unable to do any serious damage to the Michigan lad. He succeeded in taking only the eighth round out of the last six. Canzoneri said:

"Ramey is a fine young fighter and earned the decision tonight. I believe he deserves a chance at the championship, and I'm perfectly willing to give it to him."

Title Ring Bouts Legal in Delaware

DOVER, Del., April 21.—(AP.)—A bill permitting boxing bouts of 10 rounds each and two 20-round championship matches in one year in Delaware has been signed by Gov. C. Douglas Buck.

Under the former law, bouts were limited to eight rounds and championship matches were not permitted.

PIRATES' STAR SHOWS LACK OF WEIGHT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

The quick reaction of Pirate fans to the little batting slump experienced by Lloyd Waner in the first four battles of the season is a true indication of the unusual interest which the new crop of Pirates hold. There are hundreds of followers of the club who do not have means to support and enjoy the team as they have supported and enjoyed it in years gone by, but they have access to the newspapers and therefore are able to keep right up with their favorites.

Little Lloyd went to the barrier 18 times in the four scraps and came away with just one hit. Now that really is unusual for such a keen batter, but no alarm should be felt when we consider that Lloyd has had his slumps like every other player. It is true that the younger of the famed brothers is as delicate as ever, but in the years when he went far beyond the .300 mark he never weighed more than 140 pounds.

CANNOT ADD WEIGHT

Lloyd is confident he will soon begin to click. In the spring training season, the wee outfielder had designs on his brother's honors. I heard him tell Paul he expected to give him a run all the way this year. As a rule the margin separating the two great batters at the end of the season is small.

It is natural for one to be skeptical of Lloyd when he is surveyed. At the end of eight weeks of training in the sun and wind, the little fellow has little to indicate he has been in a long season of preparation. The matter of adding weight to his frame surely is a puzzling question. But Lloyd is not alarmed. He said:

"I reckon I'll start to be natural just as soon as the weather gets warm. I love to play in the hot weather."

PAUL IN FINE FORM

Brother Paul, on the other hand, is heavier by several pounds than he has ever been in his career. Paul tips the beam around 160 as the home season gets under way. His playing weight in his past years has been 155 pounds, or thereabouts. Five pounds means a lot to the little slugger, and it is significant to note that he has been getting fine distance on his wallops, despite the employment of a ball that has lost some of its rabbit features.

Lloyd is in a tough spot in one connection. The leadoff hitter of any club finds it difficult to keep his batting mark above .300. The tiny Pirate has always been able to do this, but the assignment is tough. The jumpoff batter generally goes to the plate five times in a game and he has to make a lot of hits to stay "up there."

The less lively ball also is a big consideration. While they played the Chicago White Sox, the Pirates noted a big difference between the spheres used by the rival leagues.

Race Bill Passed In Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 21.—(INS.)—In a last-minute move before the 1933 session of the Rhode Island General Assembly adjourned, the Senate today passed the horse racing bill, already adopted by the House and setting up a system of parimutuel betting in Rhode Island.

Passage in the Senate by a vote of 30 to 9 over a concerted but futile opposition, climaxed a battle of more than 10 years by sportsmen of the state to legalize betting.

Only the signature of Gov. Theodore Francis Green was needed to make the bill a law.

BASEBALL COMEDY

By NICK ALTROCK

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—I see Lefty Gomez, of the Yanks, has joined a New York brokerage firm—and that's all I want to know. From now on, when Lefty is bearing down hard on our ball club, the first base coach yells an order for 100 Consolidated Mousetrap, the third base coach puts in for 100 Amalgamated Penwiper and the batter calls for a litter of tax-exempt Peruvian bonds. Lefty gets so excited over this business he throws the ball over the left field bleachers and romps to the telephone.

Nick Altrock

Let all the other teams use this system and Gomez won't be any good except Saturday and Sunday afternoons, when the stock exchange is closed.

And I suppose the Yanks have thrown out the water cooler from their dugout and installed a market ticker for the lad.

HUBBELL OFF TO GREAT START FOR GIANTS

SOUTHPAW ACE KEEPS TEAM IN LEAD

Associated Press.

Give the New York Giants a few more pitchers like Carl Hubbell and they ought to create a lot of consternation among the rivals who have been confidently expecting them to come to rest somewhere in the depths of the National League's second division this season.

The signs so far point to a highly successful season for the southpaw screwball artist. The Giants have played three games. Hubbell has taken part in all of them, and due largely to his efforts Bill Terry's team stands at the head of the class with two victories and a tie.

HAS FINE MARK

In the absence of a "wrecking crew" it has required good pitching to win for the Giants and Hubbell's contribution has been 20 and two-thirds innings in which he has allowed 12 hits and a single run. He hurled 11 frames in the drawn battle with Brooklyn Sunday, came to the rescue in the last frame of Tuesday's struggle with the Phillies and retired the last two batsmen, and yesterday blanked the Boston Braves with four singles for a 1-to-0 triumph.

Against the Braves Hubbell fanned 13 men, including the last three sluggers to come up against him in the ninth, and whiffed two dangerous hitters the only time a Boston runner got as far as third. The Giants got their single run off Fred Frankhouse in the sixth when George Davis clouted a triple and Hughie Critz singled.

Good pitching marked other National League games, which saw the Phillies hammer out a 10-to-2 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs turn back the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1.

Two members of the Phils suffered injuries. Hal Lee strained his ankle in the second inning, while Cy Moore suffered a broken nose when struck in the face by a batted ball.

PHILS BEAT DODGERS

The Dodgers got only four hits off Jim Elliott and Frank Pearce, but Elliott was wild and couldn't last. Pat Malone and Dizzy Dean granted six hits apiece in the Cub-Card duel. Dean, however, tossed in a couple of walks at just the wrong moments.

Lefty Grove, ranking southpaw of the American League, set down the Washington Senators with four blows while Jimmy Foxx led the Philadelphia Athletics to an 8-1 victory. Winning his second game from Washington and Walter Stewart, Grove has given only 10 hits so far.

ERRORS HURT TIGERS

Detroit errors ruined a fine pitching duel between Clint Brown, of Cleveland, and Vic Sorrell, of Detroit, and decided it 3 to 1 in favor of the Indians.

Chicago's surprising White Sox moved into second place behind the idle New York Yankees with a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns, their fifth triumph in seven starts. They won it in the ninth on Mule Haas' double and Manager Lew Fonseca's single.

P. A. A. DEFEATS KEYSTONERS

The P. A. A. defeated the Keystone Club in the second half of the annual athletic duel between the rival clubs yesterday, 57 to 34, the events being staged at the P. A. A. The victory gave the Winged Headers the championship for the year, as they won the first half of the event at the Keystone Club a couple of weeks back.

Ten events were contested yesterday, with the P. A. A. winning in six, drawing in two and loosing two.

In the handball match, the P. A. A. won, 8 to 1, and took the squash match, 9 to 1. Winged Head bowlers won in both duckpins and tenpins, winning, 10-0, in both events.

The teams battled to a 6-6 tie in volleyball. K. A. C. won the indoor baseball game, 10-0, but the P. A. A. came back with a 2-to-1 victory in the three-cushion billiard competition and then were defeated, 2-0, at pocket billiards. The ping-pong duel resulted in a 1-0 win for the P. A. A., and the clubs tied at bridge, 10-10.

Sewickley Township Grid Card Set

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 21.—Sewickley Township High School has arranged a schedule of eight games for its 1933 football season. The card shows that the township school will step out and play two class AA elevens of the W. P. I. A. L., Jeannette and Norwin.

A squad of 45 candidates is already working out in spring practice sessions under the direction of Coach Vassia.

The schedule follows:

September 16, Jeannette, away; September 23, South Huntingdon Township, at home; September 30, open; October 7, Norwin, away; October 14, Trafford, away; October 21, East Huntingdon Township, at home; October 28, Youngwood, at home; November 4, open; November 11, West Newton, at home; November 18, Washington Township, away.

Moretti Stopped By Nick Venore

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP.)—Landing punches all over the face of his game opponent, Nick Venore, slugging Philadelphia middleweight, won by a technical knockout over Gene Moretti, 154-pound Atlantic City battler, in the second round of a scheduled eight-round bout here last night.

Pfirman Umpires 1,700 Game in Row

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—If baseball "endurance records" interest you consider the claims of Charley Pfirman, National League umpire.

Charley umpired his 1,700th consecutive big league ball game at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Since he came up from the Southern Association in 1922, Pfirman hasn't missed a single day's work. He's been calling them as he saw them for 24 years.

PITLER TO PILOT SPRINGFIELD

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 21.—(AP.)—Jake Pitler, former Pittsburgh Pirate star, who last year managed Hazleton, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, has been appointed manager of the Springfield club, of the Mid-Atlantic circuit.

Pitler replaces Walter Smallwood, who was unable to accept a previous appointment to the job here because of his inability to free himself immediately from temporary business managership of the Albany club.

Williams' Medals Returned by Thief

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—(AP.)—Vic Williams is rejoicing over the repentance of a thief.

Williams, former Trojan athlete who had held world records and the National championship in the 440-yard dash, recently found more than 50 trophies and medals had been stolen from his "treasure room."

Last night he answered the phone and a voice said:

"I'm the guy that stole your stuff. I'm sorry I did it. I didn't know it would mean so much. You'll find your things in a barley lot near Twelfth and DeSoto."

All the stolen trophies were there, the only loot the thief retained being a pair of baseball socks and five African cigarets, souvenirs of Williams' tour of Africa with other American athletes.

Heavyweight class — Woodrow White, Boylestein A. C., defeated John Petro, Mon Valley A. C.

Marcus and Oger Battle to Draw

FAIRMONT, W. Va., April 21.—(AP.) — Joe Marcus, 140½, of Pittsburgh, and Paul Oger, 145, Fairmont, fought eight rounds to a draw after Jimmy Reilly, 139½, Fairmont, had knocked out Frank Moran, 139½, of Pittsburgh, in the first round of a scheduled eight-round fight here last night.

Ill Luck Chases West Virginia Footballer

MORGANTOWN, April 21.—(AP.)—Eugene Wright, of Fairmont, center on West Virginia University's football eleven, is beginning to believe he is the original "hard luck guy."

As a sophomore, anxious to crash the gridiron ranks, he was forced out of the game by a tonsil operation.

In spring practice last year he suffered concussion of the brain in scrimmage.

Today he is laid up again, having thrown his arm out of place while riding on the running board of an automobile on his way to practice. Whether he will be able to return to practice at all this spring cannot be determined for several days, physicians said.

Art Shires Joins St. Louis Cards

ST. LOUIS, April 21.—(AP.)—Arthur (The Great) Shires, erstwhile first baseman of the Boston Braves, has joined the St. Louis Cardinals, who purchased him from Boston.

In the absence of Branch Rickey, Cardinal vice president, no official statement of Shires' status on the team was forthcoming.

Manager Gabby Street has expressed belief "The Great One" will be sent to a St. Louis farm. The Cards already have two first basemen, Collins and Crawford.

W.P.I.A.L. NINES SET FOR FULL CARD TODAY

By JULIUS LEVIN

All three sections of the W. P. I. A. L. baseball organization were scheduled to see action this afternoon. Section I teams make their first appearance of the season, while Section II and Section III play their second set of games.

Two inaugural battles were scheduled in Section I, Hickory playing at Trinity and Cecil at Canonsburg.

In Section II Findlay plays at Crafton and South Fayette goes to Carnegie.

McKeesport, victor over East McKeesport in its opener last Tuesday, was out to make it two straight by taking Wilkinsburg at McKeesport. Edgewood plays at Elizabeth and Turtle Creek Union at East McKeesport in other Section III engagements.

The first spring football game of the season was to be staged today when Redstone Township High engages an alumni eleven at Republic, Pa. The second spring game will be played tomorrow afternoon when Derry Township plays at Greensburg.

The Rankin High School basketball squad, champion of Section VIII in the W. P. I. A. L., will be honored at a banquet to be given by the Rankin Business and Professional Men's Association in the Rankin Christian Center next Thursday evening at 6:30.

Among the speakers will be Judge Benjamin Lencher, Dr. H. C. Carlson, Chick Davies, Max Hannum, Supt. Good, of the Rankin schools; Calvin L. Bolster, R. E. Cadigan, Jock Rosenberg, Dr. F. K. Whitfield and C. E. Kann, chairman of the banquet committee. A trophy will be presented the squad and 15 gold basketballs to the individual members.

SUTTER WINS IN NET PLAY

HALL DEFEATS WOOD TO GAIN SEMI-FINALS

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 21.—(AP.)—J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., is ranked no better than fourteenth nationally, but he is developing into a constant source of annoyance to higher ranked stars in southern tennis tournaments this spring.

A week after he had beaten the sixth ranking player, Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, in the North and South tournament at Pinehurst, Hall eliminated Sidney B. Wood, Jr., of New York, No. 4 ranking star, in the quarter-finals of the Mason and Dixon tournament here yesterday.

HALL BEATS WOOD

The South Orange veteran was entirely too steady for Wood and won with comparative ease, 6-1, 0-6, 6-3. After Hall had won the first set, Wood, who was playing in his first outdoor tournament since last September, got his strokes under control momentarily and swept through the second set at love. The rivals battled on even terms in the final set for six games, but Hall then won three games in a row for set and match.

Joining him in the semi-finals along with Frank Shields, of New York, and Gregory Mangin, of Newark, was Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans. Sutter, recently named to the United States Davis Cup team, emerged the winner of a two-hour battle with Berkeley Bell, of New York, 2-6, 6-3, 13-11. Shields and Mangin won their quarter-final matches yesterday.

SEMI-FINALS TODAY

Pairings in the semi-finals today sent Sutter against Shields and Hall against Mangin.

The women's singles finals, also slated for today, found Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, opposing the Baroness Maud Levi, of New York.

Pirates While Away Rainy Opening Day

FLOYD VAUGHAN FORREST JENSEN FREDDIE LINDSTROM WAITE HOYT

Quartet of Pirates indulging in a game of cards in the Schenley Hotel yesterday as fans bided their time waiting for the postponed home opener today, as a result of the rain which made the field unplayable. Hoyt and Lindstrom, new members of the local club, are roommates. The game ended with Jensen trumped his partner's ace. This is a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture.

JEBY, GORILLA GET YEAR BAN

CINCINNATI, April 21.—(AP.) Peter A. Horbach, secretary of the Ohio Boxing Commission, today declared a year's suspension, effective immediately, on Ben Jeby, of New York, and Gorilla Jones, of Akron, as result of charges of "fake" in their fight in Cleveland Tuesday night.

The suspension is automatically effective in the 32 states allied with the National Boxing Association.

The suspension was asked by the Cleveland Boxing Commission. Placed under the ban also were Suey Welch, Jones' manager, and Hymie Caplin, manager of Jeby.

Horbach said he was told the bout in Cleveland was "the rawest deal ever pulled." It led to a motion of the Cleveland City Council, recommending that the purses of the two fighters be withheld and either returned to patrons of the bout or distributed to charities, and to suits by spectators for return of their admissions.

The fight was a non-title affair, although Jones is the N. B. A. middleweight champion and Jeby the New York State Boxing Commission's nomination for world titleholder.

Dr. Roller Dead, Former Mat Star

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—Dr. Benjamin Franklin Roller, 57, who abandoned a promising career as a professional wrestler to become a surgeon, died of pneumonia yesterday.

Dr. Roller started his wrestling career while athletic director at the University of Washington, wrestling Jack Carkeek at the Vancouver A. C. at the suggestion of a friend. He won two falls in 17 minutes and received $1,600.

Later he had two matches with Frank Gotch. In the first Gotch promised to throw him twice in an hour, but failed to throw him once and Roller won $4,000. In the second, however, Gotch toyed with Roller, getting the first fall in 15 minutes and the other a few minutes later.

Ray Hatton Wins Over Frank Wingo

Ray Hatton, of the J. L. Thoms Club, defeated Frank Wingo, of the Willow Club, in one of the amateur bouts staged last night for the Pittsburgh Railways Company Employes' Association in the Duquesne Building. Other results:

Mac Verge defeated Frank Salek. Eddie [illegible] defeated George Martzo. Steve Jo[illegible] defeated Ray Eberle. Frank Rickard defeated Johnny Arvin. Billy Muller defeated Frank McLaughlin, and George Lappinacci defeated Frank Catanese.

Fight Results

At Grand Rapids—Wesley Ramey defeated Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, 10 rounds (non-title bout).

At Philadelphia—Nick Venore won by a technical knockout over Gene Moretti, 2 rounds; Vincent Reed defeated Bobby Dean, 6 rounds; Buck Jones defeated Larry Wagner, 6 rounds; Sol Burdo defeated Tony Allen, 6 rounds; Marty Little defeated Young Kid Chocolate, 6 rounds; Frank Pelligreno knocked out George Day, 1 round.

At Fairmont—Joe Marcus and Paul Oger drew, 8 rounds; Jimmy Reilly knocked out Frank Moran, 1 round; Mike Barto defeated Billy McCale, 4 rounds; Frankie Reilly defeated Ralph Oger, 4 rounds.

At Johnstown—Charley Burns defeated Bobby Rowe, 6 rounds; Joe Bazzone defeated Terry Fagan, 4 rounds; Charley Blozevich defeated Frank Scarietta, 4 rounds; Gene Baker knocked out George Pirring, 1 round; Caleb Miller and Young Lowstetter drew, 4 rounds; Sammy LaPorte won by a technical knockout over Young Firpo, 2 rounds.

PITT, DUQUESNE PLAY TODAY

By TOM BIRKS

The University of Pittsburgh and Duquesne golf teams inaugurated the college golf season in Western Pennsylvania when they clashed over the Oakmont Country Club links this afternoon.

Pitt has only two men left from last season's array, Art Sekay, who went into the final of the city championship tourney last fall, and Art Decker. The Wolfe brothers, Regis and Charley, are missing. Charley has graduated and Regis is not eligible for competition.

SOPHS LOOK GOOD

Two sophomores, Claude McKee, a South Hills boy who has been shooting some good golf over Jock Graham's layout, and Bill Vornoccy, of Montour Heights, will play this afternoon.

Emil Loeffler has been working hard with the Dukes. The two Stanton Heights boys, Francis and Joe Totter, will team up with Walsh and Patrizio.

The Scholastic Golf League also swung into action this afternoon. Kiski, defending champion, and McKeesport, winner of the Section II title last year, started in defense of their titles. In Section I, President John Irwin's Taylor Allderdice team had a tough assignment, meeting Kiski at Saltsburg. Connelly Trade School met Oliver and Peabody clashed with University School.

In Section II, Wilkinsburg met Shady Side Academy, Springdale went to the Youghiogheny Country Club to meet McKeesport, while Brentwood played Turtle Creek.

DANCE TONIGHT

The social season at the Nemacolin Country Club will get under way this evening, a dinner dance being on the program.

Tomorrow afternoon the Chartiers Heights Country Club will open its season. Professional Dale Zimmerman has the course in wonderful shape. The Heights club is one of the few that did not finish with a deficit last season. Quite a few new members have joined this popular club, and Zimmerman expects to start a record number of players from the initial tee tomorrow afternoon.

In the evening, a dinner dance will be held.

Bill Cook Denies Plan to Retire

SASKATOON, Sask., April 21.—(AP.)—Despite his 38 years, Bill Cook, veteran wing of the New York Rangers, is far from through with hockey.

On his arrival here, Cook took occasion to deny published reports that he planned to retire from the game. He said he would be back with the Rangers when the National Hockey League's 1933-34 season opens next November.

Cook led the league in scoring last season and scored the goal that gave the Rangers the final and decisive game of the Stanley Cup series with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Chicago Poloists Gain Tourney Final

CHICAGO, April 21.—(AP.)—The one hundred and twenty-fourth Field Artillery Cardinals, of Chicago, have reached the finals of the class D division in the national indoor polo championship tournament, defeating the Brooklyn Riding and Driving Club trio by the unusually low score of 3 to ½ here last night.

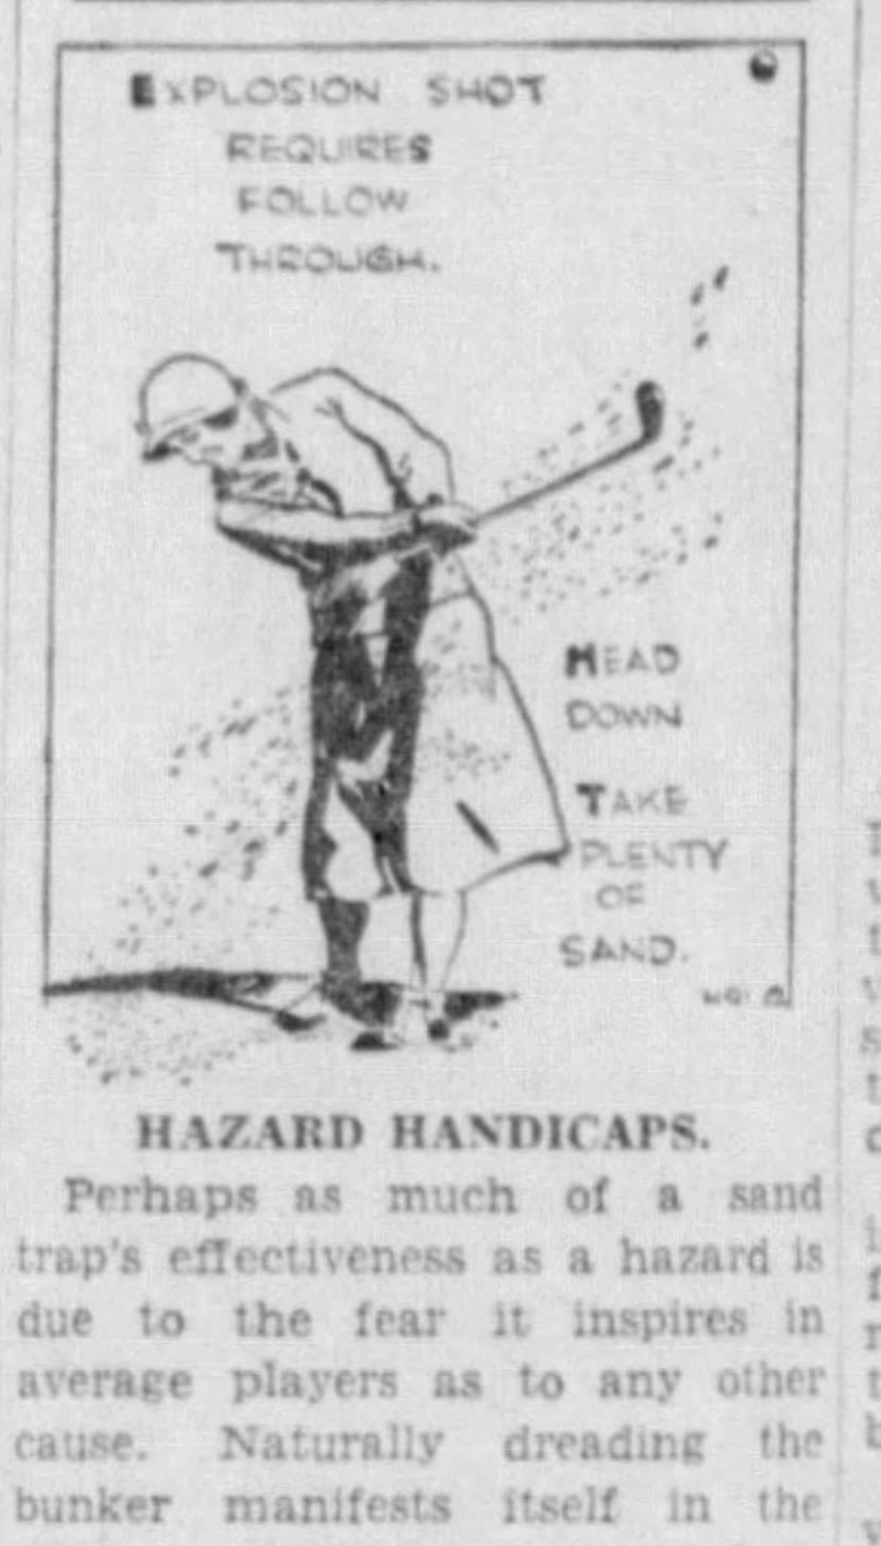
The victory took the Chicago team into the title match against the Cleveland Riding Club tomorrow.

Miller to Defend Title Next Week

WILMINGTON, Del., April 21.—(AP.)—Freddie Miller, of Cincinnati, N. B. A. featherweight champion of the world, will defend his title in a 10-round bout here next Wednesday night against John Gonzales, Long Beach Mexican.

Gonzales is not expected to give Miller much trouble.

GRAPHIC GOLF



EXPLOSION SHOT REQUIRES FOLLOW THROUGH.

TAKE PLENTY OF SAND.

HAZARD HANDICAPS.

Perhaps as much of a sand trap's effectiveness as a hazard is due to the fear it inspires in average players as to any other cause. Naturally dreading the bunker manifests itself in the manner in which approach shots are played. Instead of using shots crisply hit and boldly played they swing half-heartedly with a hopeful prayer that the ball will not get into furter trouble.

There really is no reason for such timidity. If one would take the trouble to learn to play these trouble shots three-fourths of the battle would be won. All of the good players have practiced the shot enough not to fear it. Ouimet used to practice it regularly and is one of the best shotmakers of this type in the game.

In the explosion shot, performed so capably by Mrs. Gregg Lifur above, the clubhead does not actually touch the ball but strikes the sand a short distance behind it. A full swing is needed and the swing should not stop at impact but continue to apply force as it goes through the sand to insure the ball being forced up.

Keeping the head down and the chin back insures an accurate stroke.

KANSAS RELAYS ON TODAY

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 21.—The first half of the decathlon competition and a dozen relay races are slated for the opening day's program of the annual Kansas relays today.

The second half of the decathlon will be run off tomorrow on the same program with the preliminaries of individual special events.

Outstanding among the special events is the open 1,500-meter run, with a field of 40 middle distance runners entered, nearly half of whom are expected to be scratched by post time.

SPORT SHORTS

GREENSBURG, Pa. — Spring football practice for Norwin High School will start Monday, May 1, Coach Jack Clawson announced. The squad will be reduced to 35 candidates, although it will be unlimited when the fall drills are called.

DETROIT—(AP.)—Charles H. Best, 44, died here late yesterday after an extended illness. He was a veteran among boxing promoters in Detroit, and at one time was associated with Johnny Kilbane at Cleveland, when Kilbane was featherweight champion of the world. In 1931 ill health forced Best to retire from the field of promotion.

QUINCY, Ill.—(AP.)—Milton Stock, former major league baseball star, now president of the Knoxville Southern Association club, has announced acquisition of a franchise for Quincy in the revamped Mississippi Valley League.

GREENSBURG, Pa. — The Greensburg Sportsmen's Association will organize a small bore outdoor team from their rifle division this summer. The team will include 10 men and two alternates.

QUEBEC, Quebec — (AP.) — Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, pummeled two sparring partners in an exhibition appearance here last night, with Promoter Jack Dempsey acting as third man in the ring.

WATSON BEGINS WORK

NEW YORK, April 21.—(INS.)—Seaman Watson, British featherweight champion, [illegible] training here today for his bout with Kid Chocolate, New York state title holder, on May 12. The pair signed articles yesterday.

EXPERTS WATCH CHARLEY O.

DERBY SHOWINGS

Associated Press.

Utopian (Wheatley stable)—Won Combat purse, mile and 70 yards, at Havre de Grace in 1:50 1-5, over heavy track.

Inlander (Brookmeade stable)—Finished second to Utopian, beaten a length.

Sarada (F. A. Griffiths)—Finished third in Combat purse.

War Stripes (Glen Riddle Farms)—An also ran in Combat purse.

Swinhaven (P. A. Markey)—An also ran in second race at Havre de Grace, mile and 70 yards, won by Pomposo.

Dark Conquest (W. S. Kilmer)—An also ran in second race at Havre de Grace.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 21.—(AP.)—The stock of the R. M. Eastman Estate's Charley O, prevailing third choice in the Kentucky Derby future books, advanced today following an impressive mile and one-eighth trial over the Churchill Downs oval yesterday.

It was not so much the time registered by the full brother of the famous Mike Hall, but the easy manner in which he accomplished the task that attracted the railbirds' attention.

It was the first time since his victory in the Florida Derby that Charley O had been asked to go more than a mile, and under a snug hold the rangy black colt breezed the distance in 1:57 3-5. Clockers caught the quarter in :26, three-eights in :38 3-5, half in :51 4-5, five-eighths in 1:05 1-5, three-quarters in 1:18 2-5, seven-eighths in 1:30 3-5, and mile in 1:44 4-5.

The track, although drier than Wednesday, was still a bit hard.

From a standpoint of time, the mile trial of Lon Jones & Son's Fair Rochester was more impressive. The son of For Fair ran a quarter in :23 3-5, three-eighths in :36, half in :49, five-eighths in 1:03 1-5, three-quarters in 1:16 2-5 and mile in 1:43 4-5. At the end of the trip Fair Rochester was going handily.

Speculation over a possible change in ownership of Head Play, a well-liked Derby eligible, was rife during the workouts. Reports were that Silas Mason and Arnold Hanger, who race under the name of the Warm Stable, were dickering with Bill Crump for the purchase of Head Play.

BEAVER VALLEY NETTERS MEET

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Despite the continued uncertainty of the weather and consequent inability of district racquet devotees to pursue the net pastime actively out-of-doors, the tennis pot boils right merrily in anticipation of the impending start of what promises to prove a great Western Pennsylvania campaign. Following reorganization sessions of the College Avenue and Mt. Lebanon Tennis clubs Monday and last evening, respectively, the Beaver Valley Tennis Association is slated to hold its annual session tonight.

According to word from Howdy Campbell, moving spirit of the neighboring outfit, representatives of the eight teams that comprised the loop last year during its initial season will be on hand for the conclave.

This means that Ambridge, Beaver, Beaver Falls, College Hill, Freedom, Koppel, Monaca and New Brighton very probably will enter squads in the 1933 competition. The Beaver Countians enjoyed signal success in their first year as a separate league unit, their lengthy card having been pushed to completion and quite a flock of new talent having been landed on the road to development.

CHESNEY WINS RACE

BURGETTSTOWN, Pa., April 21.—Adam Chesney, of Atlasburg, won the four-mile cross-country run staged here yesterday for district scholastic runners. He finished the long grind in 19:40.

BURNS BEATS ROWE

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 21.—(AP.)—Charley Burns, 127½, of Southport, defeated Bobby Rowe, 125, of Pittsburgh, in the six-round feature of a boxing show last night.

TED LYONS ILL

CHICAGO, April 21.—(INS.)—Ted Lyons, White Sox pitching ace, was ill today, and club physicians feared that an operation for appendicitis might be necessary.

TRIX BENNETT NAMED COACH

By JESS CARVER

Shady Side Academy is going to go in for the Princeton system in its gridiron endeavors, for the next season at least.

Trix Bennett

Having experienced the Yale, Michigan and Carnegie Tech brands of football during the past five years, with Capt. William Palmer, Red Davis, Howard Harpster and Jimmy Robertson as coaches, the Fox Chapel preppers will be tutored by Holmes T. (Trix) Bennett, Princeton '30, next fall. The announcement was made today by Capt. Palmer, the efficient, tstute, genial and enthusiastic director of athletics.

Bennett, a former Crafton High School all-around star, will also assist with the baseball and basketball teams and will be a full-time member of the school faculty. Red Davis (Russell W. in the tax lists), will continue as head basketball and baseball coach.

STARRED AT KISKI

Bennett graduated from Crafton in 1925 and entered Kiski that same fall. He acquitted himself nobly under Jim Marks, both as a student and athlete, and continued his preparatory work with an equally brilliant record at the Hun School in 1927.

Entering Princeton in the fall of 1927, he was a cinch to make the Tiger frosh team and then crashed the Gold and Black varsity in 1928, playing in the same backfield with such stars as Ed Wittmer, Lowry, Miles and Zundel.

Trix, so called because of his ability as a broken field runner (at most any school but Princeton they'd have tagged him "Snake-Hips" or "Eel"), played quarterback in 1929 and 1930. During the winter and spring he starred in basketball and baseball.

During his senior year he was named by his class as the best all-round athlete member of the Varsity-Tiger Inn Club, and you have to have something on the ball to rate such an honor.

ALMOST BEAT YALE

Among his great moments was the touchdown he scored against the powerful Yale team in 1930, when the lowly Tigers (they were lowly that year) almost upset the Elis, Yale winning 10 to 7.

He served as head grid coach at Princeton Prep in 1931 and last year and taught in the English department in the school.

Trix will find the setup at Shady Side plenty tough. Capt. Palmer has arranged a heavy schedule for next fall, but Bennett will have 12 lettermen with which to work. The schedule follows:

September 29, Edgewood High School, away; October 6, Perry High School, home; October 13, Mt. Lebanon High School, home; October 20, Oakmont High School, home; October 28, *Nichols School, of Buffalo, N. Y., home; November 4, *University School, of Cleveland, Ohio, away.

*—The latter two games Tri-State Prep League games.

The Tipoff

A squad of 28 track and field men will represent Pitt in the opening dual meet of the season in Philadelphia tomorrow against Temple. Coach Carl Olsen left with that number early this morning by bus for Philly.

The Panthers have a well-balanced squad, with the only glaring weakness appearing in the ranks of the hurdlers. Lin Theison is hors de combat at present, which puts the timber-topping up to Jimmy Guay, Arvil Fleming and Fred Kiger. Kiger is a quarter-miler by profession and is only filling in as a hurdler.

Three, no, seven, members of the football squad accompanied the team. Howdy O'Dell, who may replace Warren Heller in the Pitt backfield next fall, will do some pole-vaulting tomorrow. Mike Sebastian and Jimmy Simms are broad jumpers and Simms also will try some high jumping. Harvey Rooker, John Valenti, Art Craft and Karl Seiffert will compete in the field events, fooling around with the shots and javelins and discus and such.

Prof. R. X. Graham, of Westminster College, has been appointed publicity director for the Tri-State Conference, Jack Stoeber, Thiel College, secretary of the conference, announces. Graham, assistant professor in journalism and English, assistant athletic director and track coach, will release stories involving the Conference itself and also concerning the six colleges in the Conference: Bethany, Geneva, Grove City, Thiel, Waynesburg and Westminster.

Forbes

Inflation Can Be Salvation Or Be Suicide

By B. C. FORBES

WHAT IS important? What is vital? What is, or should be, the supreme objective of President Roosevelt and all the rest of us?

Mr. Forbes

THERE IS nothing sacred, nothing sacrosanct about the gold standard.

Neither deflation nor inflation contains, in itself, virtue.

Neither low tariffs nor high tariffs are an end in themselves.

THE SUPREME objective at this moment should be the restoration of employment for the idle, the restoration of reasonable prices for the products of our farmers, the restoration of rational market values for securities, the restoration of a generous measure of prosperity.

OF PRIMARY, superlative importance is the re-employment of the idle at living wages.

Achieve this and everything else, including equitable prices for agricultural and other products, will follow.

NO MATTER how many rapid-fire measures are taken at Washington, no matter how the dollar may rise or fall abroad, no matter how much the administration cuts the cost of running the government or expands relief expenditures, no matter whether tariffs are raised or lowered, no matter how many conferences are held by President Roosevelt with representatives of other nations, unless the net result is the quickening and broadening of employment throughout this country, the verdict inevitably will be that failure rather than success has crowned Washington's multitudinous, multifarious acitvities.

DOCTORS SOMETIMES prescribe medicines containing poisons. They make the dose small.

Inflation is a medicine containing poison. Taken in moderate doses, it is capable of proving stimulating.

Indulged in to excess, it is as fatal economically to a nation as dope finally is to a chronic addict.

ABANDONMENT of the gold standard, the sensational decline in the international value of the dollar, the spectacular sky-rocketing in stocks, agricultural products and basic raw materials, all demonstrate that inflation, in the popular sense of that term, has been launched in this country.

Conservatives are inclined to shudder. They apprehend riotous soaring of prices, inordinate currency expansion, progressive debasement of our currency, all culminating in disorganization and economic disaster.

CAN ANY thoughtful, responsible citizen conscious of our social peril, contend that deflation had not gone to utterly alarming extremes?

Admittedly, had deflation been allowed to become more severe than suffered last mid-year, the nation would have faced incalculably awesome possibilities.

WHAT HAS been done so far in the way of turning the deflationary tide is incomparably sounder than would have been the wholesale printing of unanchored paper money, so vehemently advocated by many unfamiliar with the fate which has always befallen nations embarking upon such a suicidal course.

ONE CAN readily admit that the gold standard is the nearest to the ideal mankind has evolved. Yet the gold standard, like the idyllic free-trade theory, can become untenable in this practical, imperfect, competitive world.

There is nothing wicked in America's doing what Great Britain and more than two score other countries have done gold standard-wise.

The proof of the pudding will lie in the eating of it.

INFLATION, kept within bounds, may mean our salvation. Allowed to run riot, it would inevitably mean suicide.

SURELY WE should have sense enough to use this medicine wisely rather than to abuse it for our own self-destruction.

MEANWHILE, President Roosevelt can meet other foreign government representatives quite as well equipped as they are for evolving a "new deal" embracing the whole civilized world.

State's Pig Iron Shipments Lower

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP.)—Pig iron shipments from Pennsylvania blast furnaces dropped more than 3,000,000 tons last year, the Department of Commerce reports.

Falling below Ohio in both tonnage and value of tonnage, the Keystone State shipped 2,069,553 tons last year with a value of $32,764,148 as compared with 5,099,016 tons at $86,877,965.

Iron ore shipments from mines in the state, showing an even greater decline, dropped from 436,920 tons in 1931 to 74,420 tons last year.

N. Y. Reserve Bank's Discount Unchanged

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP.)—The New York Federal Reserve Bank announced no change in its rediscount rate of 3 per cent.

Foreign Balances At Minimum Here

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(INS.)—An unprecedented withdrawal of short term funds from the United States in 1931 and 1932 have reduced foreign balances to virtually a working minimum, the Commerce Department said today.

The Flapper's Daughter

By BEATRICE BURTON

THRILLING NOVEL OF THE CHILDREN OF DANCING MOTHERS

CHAPTER XXVII.

The flat was more cheerful that night than it had been in years. A pleasant spicy odor of sage and onions greeted Sharlie when she opened the front door, and Dodie was at work in the kitchen, pouring hot cranberry sauce through a strainer.

"We're going to have a cold pickup supper,'' she announced, pushing her hair up from her forehead with the back of one hand. ''I've been so busy stuffing the turkey and making this sauce that I haven't had time to cook anything for us tonight.''

Synopsis

Sharlie Dunn marries Eddie Wallis. The same day, Eddie is killed. Sharlie's mother, Dodie, has Sharlie do the housework, while she and her friend, Maud Hanaberry, have a gay time. Discovering that his wife entertained another man during his absence, Mr. Dunn leaves home. Dodie revels in her freedom and continues her flirtation with "Norman," whom she hopes to marry. Sharlie visits the apartment of Marjorie Milliken with Caddy Dean, whom she met at a dance. Dodie's friend, Norman, calls. Sharlie drives home with Norman. She reveals her identity as Dodie's daughter. Next day Jim Barnum confesses he loves Sharlie. Norman breaks with Dodie. Dodie becomes ill from an overdose of sleeping powder. Dodie and her husband become reconciled.

Now Go On

She looked at Sharlie's empty hands and a questioning look popped into her blue eyes. "Where are the things I told you to bring?"

"I thought Jim Barnum could take me to the market after supper for them," Sharlie answered quickly. She had learned not to make excuses to Dodie, who was always exasperated by them. "I didn't have any money, and Edna was too busy to meet me downtown and lend me some."

At seven Edna had not come home, and the family sat down to baked beans from a can, sardines from a tin, peaches from a can, and bread and butter.

When the meal was over Sharlie went across the hall to ask Jim Barnum to drive her to the market. His mother came to the door, her glasses pushed up high on her head and the evening paper in her hand.

Beyond her, in the little hall, Sharlie could see Jim. He was standing before a long mirror, folding a white silk muffler around his neck, and he was in evening clothes.

He turned quickly at the sound of her voice and smiled at her. She never had seen him in evening clothes before, and it was almost like looking at a stranger. For the first time since she had known him it struck her that Jim was genuinely handsome in a quiet sort of way.

TO ATTEND DINNER

"Hello, Sharlie," he said, picking up his overcoat from a chair beside him.

"Hello. What are you all dressed up for?"

"Fellows in our office are having a dinner at the University Club. What did you want to see me about?"

Sharlie didn't answer for a minute. She wondered if the men were inviting girls to the dinner—if Jim were inviting one.

"He wouldn't ask me, of course," she thought. She had scarcely spoken to him since the night she had found out that he had told Edna about Caddy and the other rowdy friends she had picked up. She had told him what she thought of him at that time and had let him alone ever since.

"I was going to ask you to take me to the market for some things Dodie wants for tomorrow," she said finally, "but I'll just run along. It's not much of a walk."

"It's not much of a drive," he answered. "Come along . . . I can take you there and back in half an hour, and I don't mind being late at the dinner."

Mrs. Barnum stood back from the door to let them out. "It would be just the same if Jim knew he was going to miss the whole dinner," she said. "He'd rather take you to the market, Sharlie, than go any place on earth, I think."

OFFICE UNAPPEALING

Her voice sounded as if that knowledge did not please her any too well, and, looking back from the stair landing, Sharlie saw that she was frowning faintly as she watched them go.

"She doesn't want Jim to like me, she thought.

"Your mother didn't want you to do this," she said aloud to Jim as they got into his automobile. "She probably thinks I'm a bad egg lately."

"Well, you are. Aren't you?" Jim grinned at her through the darkness.

"Not these days. I've promised Edna to knuckle down to real work until I'm through with my business course and get a good position."

"To hear her talk about a good job in an office, you'd think it was something better than diamonds and automobiles and ocean trips," she added a little bitterly, "instead of just hard work six days a week . . . I never will have that point of view about my job, believe you me. When I get into an office——"

She stopped abruptly. What she was thinking was that for her an office was going to be, above everything else, a place where she could meet—and perhaps attract—the right sort of man. And in Sharlie's mind the right sort of man was someone who would be good looking, and who would have plenty of money and a taste for the things she craved. Dancing and drives and the glitter of bright lights—in short, a good time.

There were, she knew, two types of business girls. There were the office slaves, like Edna. Calm, cool, quiet, capable women, who lived, breathed and had their real being only in offices. Women whose adoration of an employer took the place of a thrilling love affair in their narrow lives.

Then there was the sort of a girl who works in an office only because she has to, and has made up her mind to have a good time until some man comes along and marries her.

Sharlie was sitting up in bed, reading, at ten o'clock when Edna came home. She heard her talking to her father and Dodie in the living room for a few moments. Then she came through the flat and stood in the doorway of the little bedroom.

"I was sorry to be so short with you this afternoon when you called me up, Babe," she said. She spoke jerkily and she looked very tired, as if she had been through some kind of physical or mental strain. "But I was terribly busy then, and I simply couldn't talk to you."

She came into the room and sat down on the edge of Sharlie's bed. "Mr. Collins' wife was operated on this morning, and the hospital people had just sent for him. I was trying to telephone the garage where he keeps his car when you called."

She drew a long, audible breath.

"Is his wife dead?" Sharlie asked, and Edna nodded.

"Put on your kimona and slippers, and we'll go out into the kitchen and make some hot tea," she said. "I'm so tired I could drop . . . I've been sitting in that hospital for hours and hours. Mr. Collins wouldn't let me leave until he did."

"I wonder if Edna will have sense enough to nab Collins now that he's a widower," Maud Hanaberry remarked the next afternoon over a game of Russian bank that she was playing with Dodie. It was 4 o'clock, the dinner dishes were washed, and Edna was lying down in her room. The Hanaberrys had come over to eat Thanksgiving supper with the Dunns.

GIRLS LEAVE HOUSE

"You people had better not let Edna hear you talking about her, or she'll snap your head off," Sharlie said in a half-whisper as she heard the creak of a door at the back of the flat.

Edna came into the room One side of her face was flushed as if she had been lying on it, and she was dressed for the street.

"Put on your things and we'll go for a walk," she said to Sharlie, with just a nod for Maud and Carl Hanaberry.

She waited for Sharlie down in the street, her eyes filled with a sudden sparkle as she drank in deep breaths of the cold sunlit air.

"How would you like to walk downtown and take in a movie?" she asked, slipping her arm into the younger girl's. "And afterward we can go somewhere for a bowl of oyster stew instead of coming back here for supper."

Each of them knew that the other detested Maud Hanaberry; and both of them were glad to escape from the apartment when she and Carl were there. They grinned at each other in perfect understanding and started off down the street.

It was half past 8 when they left the theater. As they stepped out of the brilliantly-lighted lobby Edna spoke to a girl and man who were just entering it. The girl was blonde and gray-eyed, and was very beautifully dressed in gray cloth trimmed with fluffy gray fur.

"That's Alice Pope, who works in our office," Edna said, "and the man she's engaged to. She's going to be married some time after Christmas, and I think I can get her position for you."

CYANAMIDE PROCESS

Calcium cyanamide ($CaCN_2$) is produced by heating calcium carbide (CaC_2) in the presence of nitrogen. The calcium carbide is obtained from coal and limestone in the electric furnace (see issue of April 19) and put in perforated steel cans into an oven where pure nitrogen is circulated and heated to about 1000° C. $CaC_2 + N_2 = CaCN_2 + C$. The commercial product contains 60% cyanamide, the rest is lime and carbon. Ground, moistened (to slake the lime) and dried, it is sold as fertilizer, all its nitrogen being available for plant food. With steam it gives ammonia. (Foster: Elements of Chemistry.) (Chemistry.)

THE BATTLE AT GETTYSBURG (1863) ONE OF THE DECISIVE ACTIONS OF THE CIVIL WAR (1861-65)

Our Civil War influenced also Great Britain economically and politically. Through the blockade of the North upon export of cotton by the South to England, great grievances were caused among the weavers of Lancashire, who were mostly depending on American raw material. This tended to make England friendly to the Confederacy. The final victory of the Union over the slaveholding Confederacy, on the other hand, helped to speed extension of democracy also in Britain. THE 'PERMUTIT' PROCESS FOR 'SOFTENING' WATER

Natural zeolites are decomposed rock and soil; artificial zeolites (called "Permutit" by the inventor, Dr. Gans, of Berlin) are made by melting together silica or quartz, alumina or kaolin and carbonate of soda (soda zeolite) or manganese compounds (manganese zeolite). The former removes the calcium salts leaving unobjectionable sodium salts instead: $Na_2Al_2O_8$ (soda zeolite) + $CaSO_4$ (calcium sulphate) = $CaAl_2Si_2O_8$ (calcium zeolite) + Na_2SO_4 (sodium sulphate). The magnesium zeolite will similarly retain magnesium and iron from the hard water. The processes are reversible, the used zeolites can be regenerated by concentrated salt ($NaCl$) or permanganate of potash ($KMnO_4$) solution resp. A household water softener of Dr. Gans is a tank, in the upper part of which a filter-bed of zeolites is placed. The container on top stores salt (or permanganate) solution for regeneration. A, inlet of raw water; B, valve to filter; E, soft water spigot. For regeneration: Close B, open valves F and later C and D. (Don & Chisholm: Water purification.) (Chemistry.)

KIRCHHOFF'S FIRST LAW (SCIENCE)

As much electricity flows to each point in a circuit, as much flows from it. This holds also for the branching points. e. g. If the current in the main line has 5 amp. intensity (shown on ammeter A1), the branches— having resistances R1 and R2 (in ohms)—will have intensities totaling 5 amp., say 1 and 4, or 3 and 2 (shown on ammeters A2 and A3), this distribution depending on their resistances. The branches, having the same starting and endpoints, are under the same electrical pressure, hence voltage. (Smith: Industrial Electricity.)

KIRCHHOFF'S SECOND LAW (SCIENCE.)

In a closed circuit the total electromotive force (in volts) is equal with the sum of the products of resistance (in ohms) and intensity (in amps.), of all parts of the circuit. V (volts) = i (amp.) R_1 (ohms) + h (amp.) R_2 (ohms). (Neglecting the resistance of the wire: $V = V_1 = V_2$, shown on voltmeters). One unknown can be computed when the other values are given. Scientists Have One On Us

The scientists have certainly got themselves worked up to a lot of bubbles.

Now, they have discarded the ancient theories about curves and what a germ does when it is sentenced to six months on a guinea pig.

They've got a brand new argument. Is beer a food or a drink?

The only way to answer that is like the man pouring the bottles down the sink.

At the first glass, beer is a drink. The second glass makes it two drinks. The third scoop it becomes food for three entities you to free lunch.

After that, what difference does it make? We can solemnly affirm that food is certainly a drink and that both of them are beer. Either that, or drink is a beer when it ain't food. There is even a remote control that food may be really groceries and that beer is only a decimal point teaching itself how to swim.

On the other and dry side of the case, food should be something you can bite like rock candy or bologna. We wouldn't say spaghetti because you mumble that. Nobody can bite a beer except in self-defense or civic pride or any reason plausible at the time.

You can chew food and even include the picnic plate in your diet. But what has that to do with a congressman protesting to his constituents? That's something you never heard of. Why? Because he doesn't want them to remember him and they will vote for him, next time under the impression he is a stranger. Why don't they put beer in lily cups if it's a food? Can you pour a lamb chop? Can you blow the froth off an eggplant? We never heard of whiskers full of potato chips or a mustache cup for petit fours.

No, the scientists have got everything tangled up and have made us very unhappy. They've got us thinking and that's always painful and involved. Carrying coals to Newcastle ain't half as bad as wrapping snowballs in cellaphane.

The writer was a half-wit at the age of 23. And he's twice as old now. Has he caught up to himself and exhausted his quota? Or has he become eligible for the detention camp both by weight and by volume?

There it rests. Nevertheless, every time we hear that polished spigot gurgling in the affirmative, we feel that the scientists have been answered.

WHY PITTSBURGH IS GREAT
Has One Plant Which Leads World in Making Air Brakes

FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1933

Established 1927, by Pitt Publishing Co., Pittsburgh, Pa. President, William Randolph Hearst; Vice-President and Publisher, H. M. Bitner; Treasurer, A. W. Clark; Associate Editor, C. W. Danziger; Managing Editor, Dwight Fee; Secretary, McHenry Browne. Entered as second class matter in the postoffice at Pittsburgh, Pa.

An Interesting Venture

Edgar J. Kaufmann's Market Project Is an Important Contribution to the Work Program.

When the history of the great depression comes to be written, no name will shine more brilliantly in the chronicle of what Pittsburghers did to combat it than that of Edgar J. Kaufmann.

Mr. Kaufmann has been indefatigable in thinking out plans for furnishing employment and relief, in winning support for them, and in putting them into action.

His courage and optimism will long be remembered.

Mr. Kaufmann's latest project, the erection of a produce market on the square bounded by Smithfield and Diamond streets, Lemon alley and Cherry way, is an important contribution to Pittsburgh's work program, and a very interesting venture intrinsically.

One of the noteworthy features is that the building, as a meritorious self-liquidating project, is to be financed, it is virtually assured, by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Here is a hint for other Pittsburghers who may have building projects under consideration.

Another important feature is that the market is to be a beautiful structure. That is to be expected from a man who decorated the walls of his store with mural paintings by Boardman Robinson.

Interesting, also, is the announcement that the building will be constructed wherever possible of Pennsylvania building materials, such as slate and aluminum.

The project is announced at a peculiarly happy time, when a multitude of signs point to a business revival. Mr. Kaufmann's enterprise will help to restore confidence and give impetus to the industrial improvement.

A Safety Program

The Five-Point Plan Recommended by the "Safest City" Judges Should be Accepted as Good Advice.

The judges in the National Safety Council's contest last year to determine which was America's "safest city," a contest won by Pittsburgh, have submitted a five-point program by which, they suggest, accidents may be reduced still further.

The recommendations should be accepted by the citizens as good advice, and the judges thanked for them.

It may add impressiveness to the recommendations to know that they are made by Dr. Miller McClintock, head of the Albert Erskine Bureau for Street Traffic Research at Harvard University; Thomas R. McDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, and Robert I. Catlin, vice president of the Aetna Life Insurance Company, and that they were based on a careful study of Pittsburgh's traffic problems.

These are the recommendations:

"Special training for traffic officers, an accident investigation squad to investigate all accidents, an increase in the number of arrests for serious traffic violations, an increase in the percentage of traffic law convictions as compared with arrests, and the use of the standardized form for reporting accidents in the police department."

It is notorious that traffic offenders have been and still are dealt with very leniently in Pittsburgh. Formerly they escaped punishment by having their summonses to Traffic Court "fixed" by friendly politicians. At present the Traffic Court magistrate follows the practice of discharging a large percentage of the admittedly guilty defendants.

The percentage of convictions for traffic law offenses in Pittsburgh was less than 25 per cent, Dr. McClintock states, while some cities reported as high as 90 per cent.

This excessive leniency is a bad policy. The protection of the public demands that there be a change.

Banking Inquiry Opposed

The Senate Committee Should Be Allowed to Continue Its Investigation Without Restraints.

The anti-banking reform element seemingly gains in strength daily.

Even administration leaders who originally had sponsored the efforts to lift the evils from banking now are hesitant about carrying out needed reforms.

The genuine test will be forthcoming shortly of the willingness and anxiety of the administration to proceed courageously with reforms which public welfare demands.

This test will develop when the Senate Committee in charge of the stock market and banking investigation resumes its public hearings.

Results and testimony of the investigation will be measured in large part by the courage of the administration.

If the committee's investigators are restricted to unimportant, irrelevant disclosures, then the whole investigation will have been in vain and the committee might just as well suspend immediately any further expenditure of public funds.

If the ogre of PRIVATE BANKERS frightens the political powers that be, then at least the public will have learned anew of the colossal, unabated power of this element in our affairs.

That a great deal of testimony which would enlighten if not startle the public is possible, is best evidenced by the enormous pressure being brought to bear to curtail the investigation.

Headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., the private banking fraternity is moving in all its glory and power to stem off public disclosures of their operations, their financial set-up, and their control of American finance and industry.

Every specter to frighten the administration is being cast into the fight to prevent the investigation from proceeding to its logical conclusion.

The private banker in the United States has his back to the wall.

His position has never been so precarious as it is today.

He should not be allowed to exist unless he can justify his existence as being in the public welfare.

He is entitled to a fair trial.

But the trial must be in public.

The Senate committee must be permitted to continue its investigation into private bankers without any restraint whatever.

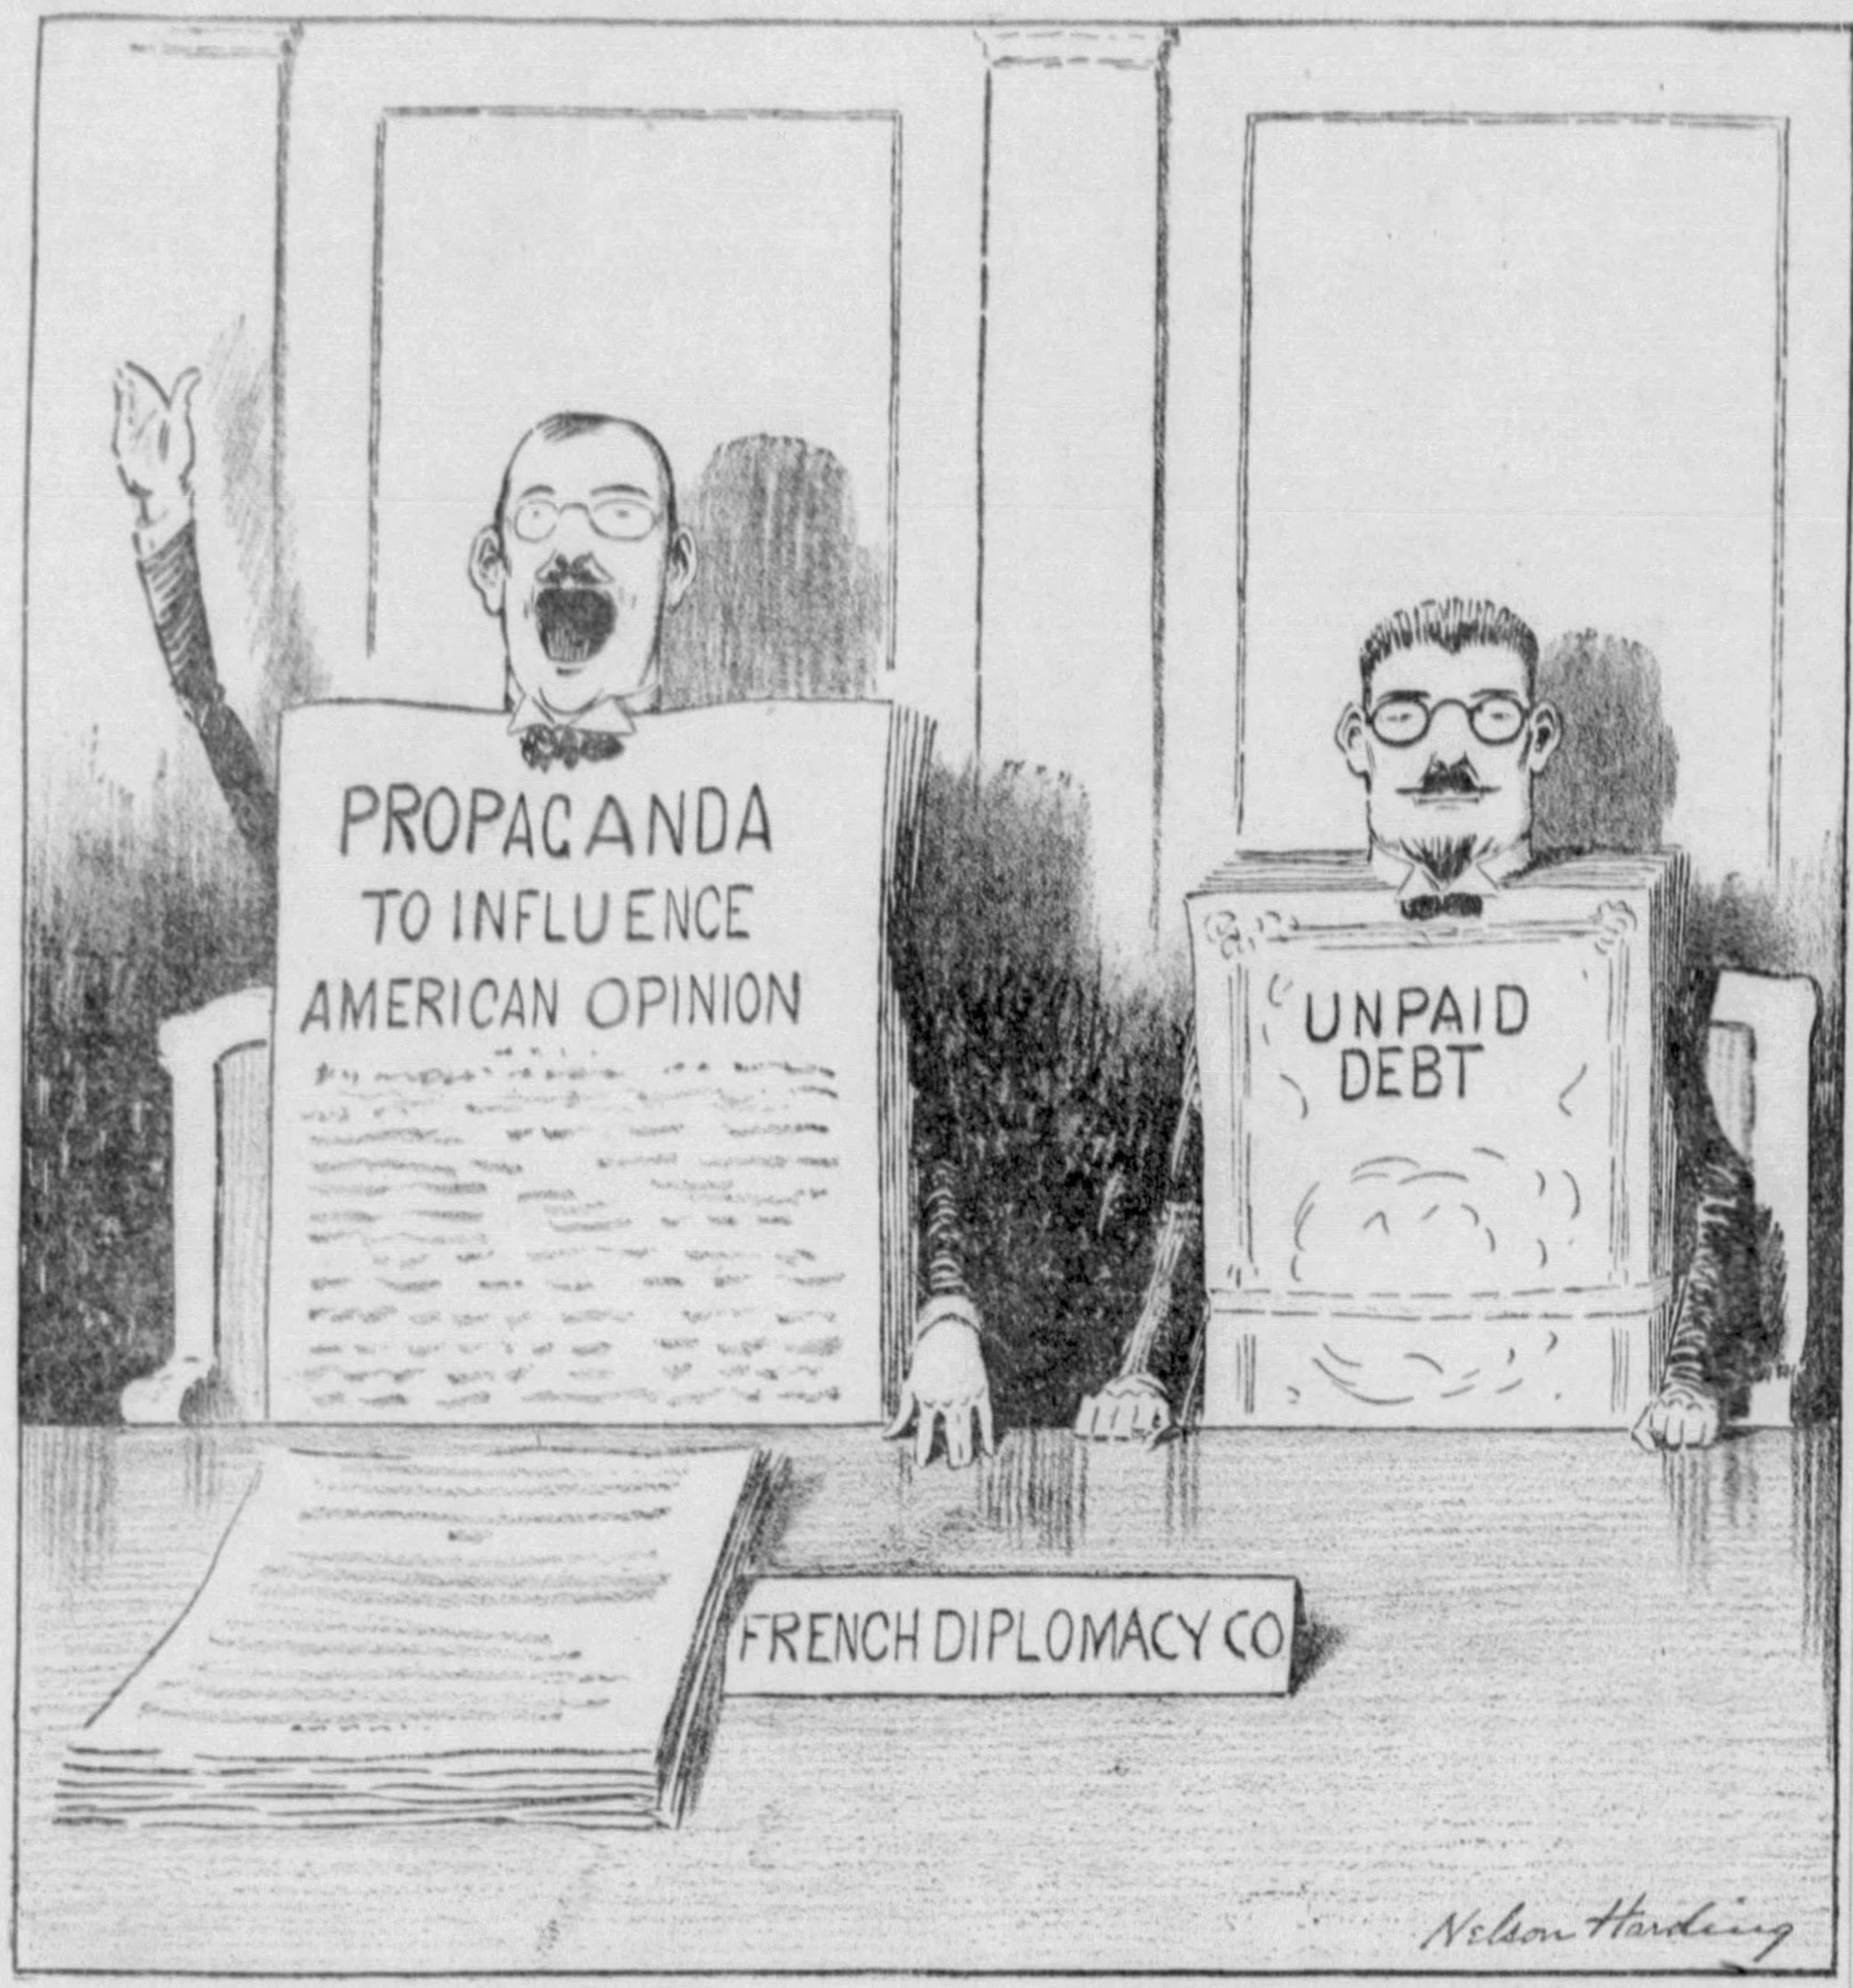
The committee has been given power to look into every corner of the private banker's activities.

The challenge has been issued.

Let the committee, then, look into every corner!

The Silent Partner

By Nelson Harding



One member of this ill-matched firm
Is always certain to be heard.
The other partner silent sits
And never says a single word.

We wish the talker would sit down
And let the other partner speak,
Perhaps he'd whisper: "I will pay."
We'll hear it, though the voice be weak.

MAYBE I'M WRONG

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 21.—At a party the other evening there was some fellow present that one of the girls didn't like, and she kept insulting him all evening. He took it like a gentleman, but her insults kept getting worse and worse. He stood it as long as he could, and then finally had to ask her to get off his lap.

SOCIAL ERRORS

An actor married a girl last week who was so homely that he had to pay the minister the dollar extra for kissing the bride.

EFFICIENCY EXPERTS

There's a young father over in Brooklyn who says the only way he can get the children to undress at night is to sit down in the nursery and play strip poker with them.

ACE OF CADS

The fellow who hides his grandfather's saucer so that the old gent can't drink his coffee.

SOCIAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Under a new law, they can't arrest a man now for vagrancy as long as his wife is working.

* * *

AND IT'S THE WOMAN WHO PAYS

A lot of children wouldn't even know their father's name if they didn't see it on their mother's alimony checks.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Richly Blest

One who has never failed you,
One who is always true,
One who has kept through life's changes
Place in his heart for you;
One who is strong and steadfast,
Having no thought of guile,
One who will never blame you,
Though all the rest revile;
Often, upon life's highways
Pleasures like sunbeams descend,
This is of all joys brightest;
Answer, have you such a friend?

Then you need have no hunger,
Ever, for gold or fame;
You need feel naught of envy
Over a deathless name.
God has bestowed his blessings
Richly upon your head,
You have been girt with gladness,
Manna your soul has fed;
Yours is a sure, unfailing
Wealth which no years can spend,
Yours is a bliss beyond measure
If you have such a friend.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 21.—Thoughts while strolling: Lucius Boomer's name suggests biting into an exploding marshmallow. And Fritzi Scheff's closing of a rolltop desk. Even while laughing at Fred Allen's grand sense of humor I want to file his voice. Andy, of Amos 'n' Andy, and Vincent Lopez have identical profiles.

Lots of striped suits. One of my favorite people—Frank Crowninshield. Julia Sanderson never giggles that way away from the microphone. Whatever became of Gerald Stanley Lee? Nobody has grown so rich and famous on abuse as Rudy Vallee. Hy Mayer's tweeds and loose collar.

Matthew Carney, a Paducah (Ky.) boy, who made good in the city. Fred Detwiller, the painter. Arthur Hopkins always makes me think of Mr. Hobbs, the grocer in Fauntleroy. Overheard: "I've backslid until I'm shiny." Jerome Beatty and Brock Pemberton bear a resemblance. Both Kansans, too.

One-word description of Eva Le Gallienne—chalky. Those cornfed girls who go hopefully to forlorn theatrical agencies daily. Starfish in the tangle of seaweeds. It's the poet in me! Something beautiful about the name Navarre. Buff Cobb sells a book and a play the same week, for goodness sake.

Charles MacArthur has the air of being on the edge of exciting adventure. Every time I see a banker I look for the deputy U. S. Marshal. They say many of them live in dread of angina Pecora. Last time I tried to swing jauntily off a bus I stumbled into a knee fall. I made it. But there goes my hat!

Rita Weiman took advantage of a convalescent tedium at Atlantic City to turn out her first full-length novel. She has written short stories for 15 years. Also plays, but this was the only long volume. Her great fear, like most fears, proved an illusion. She thought a novel too complicated but found it easier than a short.

America's speediest fiction writers are Arthur Somers Roche and Courtney Ryley Cooper. In leaner days Cooper often turned out three serials a week. Now he works leisurely. So fast did he write pot boilers in his attic days around Gramercy he tipped his fore-fingers, being a two-fingered typist, with collodion and bound them in adhesive tape. Otherwise in a few hours they would be raw and bleeding.

* * *

Few writers achieve the art of dictation. Dictated material, as a rule, hasn't the swing that comes with humping oneself over a typewriter. Roche is the only scribbler I know who mastered it. Once acquired it reduces work to a minimum and is the reason for Roche having so much leisure for Palm Beach, heigh-ho!

I've always thought the most attractive name among the feminine writers was Kathleen Norris with Faith Baldwin a close second. Jerome K. Jerome—pronounced in the English fashion Jerum Kay Jerum—strikes me as the most satisfactory name among the humorists. Although Irvin Cobb, due to the perversity of fate, just missed having the best fitting name of all for a humorist. His father wanted to call him Josh Cobb, and the family agreed, but a romantic aunt came into the picture all agurgle over Irvin Shrewsbury. And thus he was named.

* * *

Cobb's precocious granddaughter Pat calls him Ivy and he's the apple of her eye. The other night he was doing imitations, one of an alligator in which the famous Cobb mouth jutted and opened into a ferocious cavern. Pat's slumberous eyes took on a startled look and patting his cheek she lisped: "No more imitations, just be Ivy."

* * *

I was thinking today—after seeing Howard L. Acton in knickers—of the time I appeared among nestors in front of my father's hotel, fresh from the city, wearing a Norfolk jacket. As I stepped from the depot hack there was a sudden freeze and walking through the Arctic Circle one die-hard muttered: "A stench on the landscape!"

* * *

This same knotty old Yankee was in his garden one morning when the town's religious zealot, passing on horseback, called: "Brother, have you made your peace with God?" He didn't hear and inquired: "What say?" The question was repeated and, resting on his hoe, he drawled: "We ain't come to no open break yit!"

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Sez you: "Does it pay to be big-hearted?"

"Does it pay to consider the other fellow's side of the question when things are in a jam?"

Sez I: "Yes. I think it does."

Sez you: "But if he won't think of your side of the question, what then?"

Sez I: "That's exasperating—but I still think it pays to be big-hearted."

Sez you: "But suppose you know he's being unfair?"

Sez I: "That's his bad luck."

Sez you: "But maybe he won't stop with just being unfair. Maybe he'll misrepresent you—say you're big-hearted because you're in the wrong and are, secretly, trying to buy him off. What then? Have you ever had anything like that happen to you?"

Sez I: "Yes. I have, many times. Most times, in fact. Rarely have I ever tried being big-hearted without getting it in the neck, pronto and plenty!"

Sez you: "And yet you still insist that big-heartedness pays?"

Sez I: "Yes, I still insist."

Sez you: "Then you're cuckoo!"

Sez I: "No, I'm not. I'm smart. And if you'll listen a moment, you'll see I'm smart. But let's get things clear first.

"I don't, for a second, believe that big-heartedness 'pays' in the same sense you mean.

"I don't believe it will make me popular; win friends for me. To the contrary, by being big-hearted I've lost far more friends than I've ever gained. My most bitter enemies are those whom I've tried hardest to help; and those who didn't actually hate me for it, despised me—said I was a fool.

"Nor has being big-hearted made life easier for me. Instead, it has made life much harder. I've wasted money; missed out on a lot of fun, and been 'put on the spot' many and many a time.

"Yet, I still maintain, it pays to be big-hearted!

"For this is the way I look at it. Life's a queer mess, and I've never been very successful in handling it. I'm not very shrewd. I'm not beautiful, nor 'the life of the party,' nor very young any more.

"And, to make things worse, I've done some mighty mean things and pulled some awful boners. I've lied. I've hurt and failed people I loved. And I've been downright lazy and cussed.

"Not a very pretty record? You bet it isn't! Yet that's how my record stands after 50 years of the gorgeous opportunity of life. I certainly feel low when I think about it. I certainly would have liked to make good in a big way. It would have been grand to have been a genius. I would even have liked to have been a saint, though, I must admit, most saints give me the jitters. But still — it would have been nice to look back on life and think of the swell things I'd done.

"But I can't. It's too late now. It's a cinch they'll have to plant me minus medals. But there's just one thing I can do that will make me feel they didn't waste all the dog biscuits—

"I CAN BE BIG-HEARTED.

"Not that I often am. Usually I'm as ornery as they come; but once in a blue moon I do manage to act civilized. And then, for a few minutes, I remember what a flop and a meanie I am myself—and forgive the other fellow accordingly.

"Goofy? Maybe. We all have our queer streaks. Some people like white rats. Others eat snails. My idea of a swell time is playing that I'm bigger than I am, and if it wastes my money—why, that's my bad luck.

"But, whatever you may think about it, I think it pays to be big-hearted. I may lose friends by it—and get a general reputation for being a nut. But—

"IT'S THE ONE THING I CAN DO THAT RATES."

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

Wotan Instead of Moses

And an Air Fighter for a Saint.

THIS IS WOTAN, SCHEDULED TO REPLACE MOSES IN GERMANY'S LUTHERAN CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Interesting ingenuity is displayed by Mr. Hitler and his assistants in reorganizing business, patriotism, law, religion and other things in Germany.

Mr. Hitler, ruling the Lutheran Church in Germany, would establish as one of its firm tenets the statement that if Christ should return to earth, He would lead Mr. Hitler's Nazis against Communists and all Karl Marx theories.

That has made the Russians so indignant that they have canceled important orders given to Germany and transferred them to France, including one order for 18,000 tons of fine steel.

In addition, may it please you, the Old Testament is no longer to be taught in Sunday schools "because it is written by Jews." Question—by whom does Mr. Hitler suppose that the NEW TESTAMENT, not yet discarded, was written? Does he think it was written by Frenchmen or Germans, or by Martin Luther, perhaps?

In place of the Old Testament, Sunday school children are to read about German mythology and old Wotan, head of that mythology, to take the place of Moses.

VON RICHTHOFEN SUGGESTED AS A NEW SAINT

Some heroic German figures in the big war are to be mad saints. For instance, Baron von Richthofen, whose picture i published here, one of the ablest and bravest of Germany' air fighters, would become a saint.

That might be accepted, for other famous fighters hav been honored in that way.

The Wotan suggestion is a little difficult to understand. You know about him chiefly from Wagner's operas. He was a fine old gentleman rather badly henpecked, as was Jupiter, the head of the ancient classical mythology.

These Nazi proceedings are enlightening, showing what sort of intellect has temporarily got control of the German nation.

The Wotan regulations seem more like the fantastic imaginings of some child than the product of a serious German mind.

London Punch presents Hitler dressed up as a clown, with many patches, a big Swastika emblem on his chest, hurling rocks through the windows of Jewish shop keepers, presumably because their ancestors wrote the Old Testament. They also, by the way, created the Christian religion which the Swastika gentlemen profess, even though they may not practice it.

ISN'T IT SO?

In politics they bury the hatchet and dig up an ax.

The only product that never seems to exceed the demand is nerve.

To save time is important; what you do with it is still more important.

It is easy to break yourself of a good habit, but a bad habit is so affectionate that you haven't the heart to give it up.

Bachelor girls are spinsters who refuse to admit it.

Any hunter who is mistaken for a squirrel deserves an apology.

It takes a murder or some sort of crime to reveal how the "other half" is living.

The trouble with following the straight and narrow path is that there are too many broad and inviting detours.
